The Draft. It would now seem that there is no imeans of escaping the draft in Allegheny county. Of some twenty five hundred men enrolled here by innumerable recruit ig officers, something less than one thousand endiese have been mustered in hy thousand soldiers have been mustered in by the officer here. The rest, raised in small 1,268 barrels: shipped 1,953. Received squads, have been disbanded, owing to want of concert among recruiting officers.
whose ambition was disappointed. These,
with the companies raised under the nine months' call, sum up about 2,500, not half of our quota. Recraiting for the old regiments will go on for a week, but we do not think it possible that 3,500 men can be in-duced to enlist, not with standing the liberal duced to enlist, notwithstanding the inversal bounty offered, in that short time, as the efforts made by detailed recruiting officers caunot be as successful as those of parties interested in getting up companies to seinterested up companies to seint interested in getting up companies to se-cure commissions, who will put forth every exertion. In view, therefore, of the draft. now apparently inevitable, we advise all to choice works of fiction. It is a book of much merit, and though a love story, is full of interest, from the truth of its characters and the probability of its incidents. It certainly sustains the reputation of the lady author as a good novelist. The book is for sale by Henry Miner, Lyon's building, Fifth street, and the reading of it would be thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Marrying for Money. Another new novel for the many lovers of action is presented by Messrs. T. B. Peterson & Bros., Philadelphia, printed from the advance proof sheets by the last "Marrying for Money," and is by Mrs.

It is alleged that several recruiting officers who did not succeed in filling up their companies, and failed to make arrangements for consolidation which would give them the positions they desired, thereupon tore up their enlistment rolls and let their men, already sworn in, go, to do as they chose. Capt. Ludington, the mustering officer here, is procuring a list of the names of these parties and is determined that every one shall be prosecuted without delay. Every man is now needed and such conduct should, if possible, be severely punished. Major W. H. Thus it will be seen that the number from Allegheny county, officers and men include t, is 1,036, less than one half of the number which it was estimated had been recruited. The opinion is based on the number of bodies discovered along the number of bodies discovered along the roads and trails. It is believed all the missionaries were killed. The civilized Indians exceed their savage brethren in atrocities. Mr. Trenier, an interpreter, who has spent most of his life among the Indians, volunteered to go alone, trusting Indians, volunteered to go alone, trusting that his knowledge of the Indians and a disguise would enable him to escape de tection. He dressed and painted in sav age style. He arrived at the Upper Agency last night. He found the place literally the habitation of death. He visited all the houses and saw the former occupants lying dead—some on the door steps, some inside, and others scattered in R. Brown and recognized every one of the family, 18 in all, murdered; he visited Beaver creek; found fifty families killed; went to every house, and recognized the bodies, nearly all being former inhabitants

Among the recognized at the Agency were N. Givens and family; Mr. Gaibraith and children; Dr. Wakefield and family; John and Edward Mayner, and two missionaries, Rev. Dr. Williamson and Rev. Mr Riggs.
Ex-Governor Sibley is now marching to the relief of Fort Ridgley. He reports scouting bands united in carrying out a concerted and desperate scheme, and says he will only be too happy to find powerful upper bands of Yanktons and other Indians not united with them. Mr. Trenier, the disguised interpreter, writes to Gov. the disguised interpreter, writes to Gov. the disguised interpreter, writes to Gov. Ramsny from Henderson on the 21st. He says he left Fort Ridgely in alarm. There were then two thousand Indians around Fort Ridgley, and the wooden buildings were burning. He thinks other tribes are joining the Sioux, as they present a formidable array.

A reliable letter, dated Glençoe, 21st, says: The injury done by the stampede of he settlers is immense. Another scene of woe can hardly be found in the South as in McLeod, Meeker, and the Northern part of Sibley and other counties. In St. Paul and the adjoining county all the available horses are being gathered up, and all sorts of weapons will be used by willing hands for the immediate and any willing hands for the immediate and any solutions. willing hands for the immediate and summary punishment of these audacious and rascally Indians.
