DAILY POST.

Matt. Ward

Old Town is situated on the Mississippi, no strategic importance. Cypress swamps, low lands and alligators are the only objects of interest to relieve the ennui of inactivity. A few miles back from the river who deliberately shot Butler, the school teacher, at Louisville a few years ago, for the doubtful crime of whipping Mr. Ward's younger brother. He is a cadaverous looking gentleman, and his appearance indicates that once he has mixed with genteel and good society; that he does now, to any extent, is seriously doubted by all those who knew him; he areity comes within our lines, and outside of which the opportunities are very limited in this vicinity. He is reported by his acquaintances to have furnished transportation and negroes to the rebel army, and and the protracted drought of the summer tation and negroes to the rebel army, and otherwise aided the rebellion by manufacturing articles of clothing for the use of the army, and is heart and soul with them—his physical condition only preventing him from being in the army at the present time. It is generally known that he has a written protection from the Major General

Exclisi papers continue to be filled with accounts of the great distress in the nanufacturing districts. Thousands of persons are on the verge of starvation, and although every effort is being made by the charitable to relieve their wants, the distress continues to increase to an alarming extent. How the suffering population of so many town will be able to subsist during the coming winter is a question which is seriously alarming the British public.

Destitution in New Orleans. A letter from New Orleans, dated Sept. ist, says that nearly eight thousand families are fed by the relief committee, and that the number is daily increasing. The writer says also that there is a live Union sentiment in the city, and that it is growing daily. He deprecates any change in the administration of the government in that city. General Butler's policy is working too well to be disturbed.—Com.

See how they Come. A month or so ago Gov. Sprague, o Rhode Island, issued his flaming call for a colored regiment of volunteers. The twenty-five miles below Helena, and is of New York Evening Post announces that thirty-five recruits have been enrolled! Why don't the hundreds and thousands of negroes who, we are told, are spoiling for a fight, flock to Rhode Island and erlist under the banner of the Governor. No othlives the somewhat notable Matt. Ward, who deliberately shot Butler, the school teacher, at Louisville a few years ago, for triotism and shoulder the musket.
