FRIDAY MORNING, SEPT. 26.

General Hooker.

We are gratified at being able to state, says the National Intelligencer, as every man in the country will be able to learn, that the painful wound which prostrated the brave Gen. Hooker, in the battle of Sharpsburg, has proved so much less serious than was at first apprehended that he was able to be moved to the Frederick cars, and arrived in Washington on Sunday evening last.

HON. EDWARD STANLEY, Military Governor of North Carolina, says the New York Express, is in this city, from West Point, en route to Washington, where, it is said, he intends to have some better understanding with the President, preliminary to his resumption of the government of North Carolina. Mr. Stanley gave up great emolument and the most brilliant prospects in California, to serve his former friends and neighbors in North Carolina, and he is not disposed, we hear, to resume office unless he can really serve the country as a whole, and his old State as a part of that whole.

Emigration to Hayti.

James Redpath, the general agent of the Haytien government under the emigration movement from the United States to that island, has resigned his position, and the government of Hayti has ordered the suspension of the Pine and Palm newspaper, the semi official organ of the authorities of Hayti, established in this city to organize and carry forward that project. The cause of resignation was a difference of opinion in regard to the plan to be pursued.—Boston Traveler.

Newspapers Suppressed in Italy.

The radical revolutionary journals in Italy are in a very bad way under the new system of rules of Victor Emmanuel. The Unita Italiana, the Mazzinian organ of Milan, has announced that henceforth it will cease to appear. The Diritto, of Turin, and the Popolo d Italia, of Naples, have been seized by order of the government—the one for a revolutionary article, the other for publishing the protest of the Emancipation Society of Genoa, now suppressed.
