THEY CONTAIN

NO ALCOHOL OR BAD WHISKY!

They will cure the above diseases in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred.

Induced by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable) hosts of ignorant quacks and unscrupulous adventurers, have opened upon suffering humanity the flood gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs, and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles, and big-bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters; which, instead of curing only aggravates diseases, and leaves the disappointed sufferers in despair.

YOU WANT SOMETHING to STRENGTHEN YOU!

YOU WANT A GOOD APPETITE!

DO YOU WANT TO BUILD UP YOUR CONSTITUTION!

DO YOU WANT TO FEEL WELL!

DO YOU WANT TO GET RID OF NER VOUS NESS!

DO WANT ENQY!

Do you want to sleep well?

Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If so use

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

From J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects; I yet know of no sufficient reason why a man may not testify to the benefit he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

J. NEWTON BROWN.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1861.

From the Rev. Joseph H. Kennard, Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church.

DR. JACKSON—DEAR SIR:—I have been frequently requested to connect my name with commendations of different kinds of medicine, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have, in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart from my usual course, to express my full conviction that for general debility of the system, and especially Liver Complaint it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail, but usually I doubt not it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes. Yours very respectfully,

J. H. KENNARD.

Eighth below Coats street, Phila., Dec. 24th.

From the Wife of ALDERMAN WUNDER, Germantown.

GERMANTOWN, June 1, 1861.

DR. C. M. JACKSON—Sir—It gave me pleasure, two years ago, to give you a certificate, testifying that the German Bitters had done for me. I am now perfectly cured of all those diseases your medicine professes to cure, viz: Dyspepsia, Chronic and Nervous debility, disease of the Kidneys, &c. The powerful influence it exerts upon Nervous prostration is surprising. I have been consulted frequently in reference to your Bitters, and without hesitation, have recommended it for the above complaints, and in every instance it has effectually cured. Your medicine has a great reputation in Germantown, and is sold in every Drug Store, and in most of the Grocery stores here. If any one should question what I say, let them come to Germantown, and I will prove to their satisfaction; that the Bitters have cured in this vicinity more than twenty cases of the above diseases.

Respectfully, HANNAH WUNDER,

Main street, above Rittenhouse, Germantown, Penn'a.

JUST THE THING FOR THE SOLDIERS.

Will build up the constitution, and give health and strength to an overtasked and diseased saith.

THE TESTIMONY FROM THE ARMY

PHILADELPHIA, August 13, 1862.

DR. C. M. JACKSON—Dear Sir: While in Virginia, owing to the change of water, I was taken with a severe diarrhœa, which seemed incurable, and which greatly weakened me. When we reached Martinsburg, I feared I should have to come home; but noticing some of your Bitters in the store Mr. H. H. Price, in that town, I purchased a supply, and on taking it was speedily restored to health. The diarrhœa was quickly checked, and I experienced no return of it. A number of my comrades, who suffered in the same manner and from the same cause, with whom I shared the Bitters, join me in this certificate. I expect to return to the seat of war with the Legion, and shall certainly take a supply of the Bitters in my Knapsack. I would not be without it for its weight in gold, particularly on going into a mestone region.

Yours, truly, A. E. ALTMUS,

Company H, Scott Legion.

TO THE PUBLIC.

ESPECIALLY the ignorant and falsely Modest of all denominations, treat secret and delicate disorders, self-abuse and diseases of the situations common and incident to youths of both sexes, and adults, single or married. Because Dr. BRANDRETH publishes the fact of his doing so, the ignorant and falsely modest are dreadfully shocked, and think it a great sin very immoral and for contamination and corruption among their wives, promising sons and daughters. Their family physician should be cautious to keep them in ignorance that they do the same as Dr. BRANDRETH, (except publishing) lest a lucrative practice might be lost to them among stupid, falsely modest and presumptuous families, born and raised in ignorance, springing up as mushrooms and who compare society, intelligence, sense, &c., to Solomon. It is to publicity, however, that numerous parents and guardians are thankful that their sons, daughters and wards, previously feeble sickly and of delicate condition and appearance have been restored to health and vigor by DR. BRANDRETH'S PILLS, besides many before and after marriage through him have been saved much suffering, anxiety, mortification, &c. Spermatorrhœa or nocturnal emmissions, are completely cured in a very short space of time by his new remedies which are peculiarly his own. They are compounds from the Vegetable Kingdom, having seen the fallacy of the Mercurial treatment, he has abandoned it and substituted the veritable Female diseases are treated with marked success—having had over forty years (40) experience in their treatment in hospitals of both the Old World and in the United States leads him to say—to all with a fair trial, health and happiness will again bloom upon the now—pallid cheek. Full particulars can be had of my treatment by procuring a copy of the Medical Adviser, which is given gratis to all that apply. TO HORSE OWNERS.—DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT FOR HORSES is unrivalled by any, in all cases of Lameness, arising from Sprains, Bruises or Wrenching, its effect is, magical and certain. Harness or Saddle Galls, Scratches, Mange, &c., it will also speedily cure Spavin and Ringbone may easily be prevented and cured in their incipient stages, but confirmed cases are beyond the possibility of a RADICAL CURE. No case of the kind, however, is so desperate or hopeless but it may be alleviated by this Liniment, and its faithful application will always remove the Lameness, and enable the horse to travel with comparative ease.

Every horse owner should have this remedy at hand, for its timely use at the first appearance of Lameness will effectually prevent those formidable diseases mentioned, to which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worthless.

DAILY POST.

The Oyster Trade---A Scientific Treatise on the Oyster.

We shall leave it for savans to determine whether or not the race of American oysters is becoming extinct. It is certain that in some portions of our country, where they are comparatively strangers, large collections of shells have been discovered—thus indicating that at some former period they must have been quite abundant in those localities. The State of Maine appears to have been particularly favored with these relics of a by-gone race. On the Damariscotta River, (some fifteen or twenty miles from the ocean,) there are deposits of oyster shells extending for half a mile along its banks. Besides this, little islands or beds have been formed in the channel of the river.—They appear to extend to a depth of fifty feet or more, and in the lapse of years have become, to a great extent, pulverised. As in the case of coral reefs, which they resemble in the distance, their formation is due to gradual accretions. Their presence is an evidence that this class of bivalves must have constituted an important article of food with our fore-fathers.

WHERE OYSTERS COME FROM.

Historically, oysters are old "settlers"—little more definite can be said of them on this point, except to affirm positively that they are of most diluvial origin Though tolerably abundant in New York and vicinity, they are most prolific on Virginia's sacred coast, and, in fact, obtainable in all the Southern States. In the New England States, except in Rhode Island and Connecticut, they are justly regarded as a rarity, and command corresponding high prices. In Maryland they are quite plenteous, and the oyster and fishing trade of Chesapeake is of considerable importance, furnishing employment to thousands of men.

DIFFERENT SPECIES OF OYSTERS.

For amply sufficient reasons we shall not here bore the reader with a scientific dissertion on this topic, or with a scientific distinction where the public's palate can perceive no difference. Enough to know that gourmand's recognize but two grand varieties of neplus ultra shell fish, viz: the salt and fresh. The most celebrated of the fresh oyster that comes to this market is the Cove, which, whether fried, roasted, or stewed, is esteemed a rare luxury. The salt oyster, though a much larger species, is only fit to be eaten from the shell, and in this condition derives all of its palatability from the briny, pearly liqueur in which it is floating. The salt oyster may be preserved for a greater length of time than any other variety—a decided advantage, to be best appreciated in connection with the subject of transportation.

OYSTER PLANTATIONS.

Most of the oysters now sold in Philadelphia and New York were brought from the South last fall, or spring, ere the present troubles between the two nations had assumed any decided proportions, calculated to obstruct the ordinary channels of trade. They were planted in various waters of New York, by private enterprise altogether, and by constant "feeding" have yielded a rich return.

By re-transplanting they are supplied to the sea-port towns of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, &c., although in but limited quantities. As might be expected, they present a puny appearance never obtaining their full developement as in Southern climes.

Oysters are privileged to have idiot syncrasies. They are sober, sedentary, dreamy fellows. Wherever they are planted they remain permanently, listening with ecstatic thrills to the chant of the sea shells, and the roar of the breakers, until called from their beds of down by the rakes of the sordid planter. And yet, strange to say, they are unsympathizing with the children of men. How many a horrid night-mare, how many an indigestive travail, how many an aching heartburn, has come of their degustation?"

But, sedentary as they are in the main, (no pun intended,) and warranted to remain "until called for," in shallow water, their local habitation is not so much a matter of absolutism. Here an envious wave often sees them shining below among the sand and pebbles, and rudely brushes them away, with a coarse and brutal laugh.

Oyster plantations, (or 'beds' as they are commonly called) are quite numerous in Georgia and indeed throughout all the Southern States. As the oysters grow they adhere to each other in clusters, and resemble large pieces of honeycomb. As they mature, they become separated, and at last begin the world on their own separate responsibilities.

THE DREDGING.

The raising of oysters in beds is a comparatively slow, tedious, and not always remunerative enterprise. The greater portion of those brought to the market are therefore obtained by 'dredging' or raking—the former being the more common method. It consists in raking the oysters into a huge net, whence they are raised to the deck of the vessel. The oystermen's harvest has just commenced, and the crop is now being gathered in, along all the coasts and inlets where the bivalves most do congregate

OYSTER PIRATES.

Near Amboy, (N. Y.) the water is so shallow that you can stoop down and pick up the plants. In several of the States where the planting system is vague, stringent laws have been passed to prevent the destruction of the beds by sacreligious and lawless depredators, whose respect for the right of property is about on a par with their respect for the proprieties of the English language.

But Maryland's way of dealing with these oyster pirates was so summary and comprehensive that its salutary effects are now observable in the diminution of the crime. Formerly piratical crafts would be frequently captured while cruising in the Chesapeake, and taken at Annapolis. The vessels in such cases would be held as prizes until the damage committed had been fully identified, and the crew in any event, would have the glorious privilege of a trial by a jury of their peers. Oyster piracy is a rare offence now a-days. It is somewhat surprising that, as a relic of past barbarism, it has never been even so much as ventilated in a modern novel! "Roderick, The Oyster Pirate," would make a striking and selling title for a ten cent romance!

THE TRADE PAST AND PRESENT.

Before the gigantic strides of internal improvement—before the land was covered with a net-work of railroads, and before our vast facilities for inland navagation had begun to reach their full developement—(be not surprised at the abrupt and ridiculous conclusion of this sentence)—the people of the interior scarcely knew what an oyster was! As a humorous writer puts it: "The diminutive, sickly article, put up in mid-winter, taken to the country, and baled out by the venders by the pint or quart, was a caricature upon the race. A peddler poking a long wire through a keg of water, and occasionally fishing up an oyster as large as a penny, which was no uncommon sight."

"SHELLS OF OYSTERS."

After the oysters are eaten, their remnants still have value in the eyes of practical men—in the eyes of lime-kiln men, for example. We believe that all the lime made in this city is the residue obtained from the calcination of these shells. On the coast of the Chesapeake they sometime drift to a height of fifteen or twenty feet. They are at once gathered up, as coming under a general law of salvage, and carried to kilns in the immediate vicinity. The subsequent operation of their conversion into lime, is altogether a matter of chemistry. Ergo, it cannot be strictly said to come within the province of a reporter's pen, and we shall therefore drop the subject.

California and Oregon.

THE REBELS PROPOSE NEUTRALITY TO CALIFORNIA AND OREGON ON CERTAIN CONDITIONS.

In the Rebel House of Representatives the 2d instant,

Mr. Foote introduced a set of resolutions, which were, on his motion, ordered to be printed and refered to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, the title of which were as follows:

"Joint resolutions recognizing the practical neutrality of the States of California and Oregon, and of the territories of Washington and Nevada, suggesting the advantages which would result to the people thereof upon an immediate assertion on their part of their independence of the United States; and proposing upon their so doing, the formation of a league, offensive and defensive, between said States and territories and the Confederate States of America."
