GENERAL ORDER:

GENERAL ORDER:

THE UNDERSIGNED HAS BEEN assigned to the command and to the duty of organizing the drafted men from the counties of Pennsylvania whose quotas rendezvous at the Camp near this city.
The organization of the drafts will be by Companies and Regiments conforming to the maximum organizations prescribed by the War Department, General Order, Ne, 125, of September 6th, 1862—Volunteers from the drafted men for the old regiments will be exampt for the period of the draft, and for the new organizations for the period of three years or during the war. Recruits who wish to join any particular regiment or company in the field will indicate their prefere ce to the recruiting officer at Camp Howe. See War Department General Order No. 83, of July 25th, 1852.
Substitutes that are presented before the organization of a regiment is complete will be examined, and if excepted, mustered into the service. The Commissioners in the several counties in this district are requested to send to the render yous, Camp Howe, with as little delay as possible the men required to complete the quotas of their respective counties. It is important for the interest of the service and for the interests and comfert of the men that the organization will be at Camp pleted and the troops prepared for the field at the earliest possible moment.

The office for the transaction of business connected with the organization will be at Camp Howe, and at the Girard House, in this city. Communications may be addressed to the commandant at the Camp, or to Capt, G. Chapin, Assistant Adjutant General at the office in the city when they will receive instructions to return to their respective commands.

REBEL SCHOONER CAPTURED LATE SOUTHERN NEWS. &c., &c., &c., WASHINGTON, November 11.-General Scott publishes a rejoinder to the recent etter of ex-President Buchanan's .-

He says he is sorry to perceive that the publication of his official report to Presinot enter into his purpose in drawing up the paper, but on reflection he supposes that under the circumstances offense was unavoidable. Let it be remembered, he emarks, that the new President nad the right to demand of me, the immediate right to demand of the time timediate commander of the army, how it happened that the incipient rebels had been allowed to seize several forts and from the bad conditions of others were likely to gain them also. Primarily the blame rested on me; hence to vindicate my sworn allegi ance to the Union and my professional conduct, the report was submitted to resident Lincoln at an early day in h administration and recently to the world First, to account for not having garrisoned sufficiently the Southern forts named against anticipated treason and rebellion. According to my recommendations, beginning October 29th, 1860, and repeated the next day and again more earnestly on December 13th, 15th, 25th and 30th, the ex-President says there were no available troops within reach. Gen. Scott proceeds to show that small garrisons would at first have sufficed for the twin forts Jackson works until Congress could have time to authorize a call for volunteers, a call which he President for such purpose might no
