From J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects; I yet know of no sufficient reason why a man may not testify to the benefit he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholio mixture, I am industed to my friend Robert; Shoemaket, I am industed to my friend Robert; Shoemaket, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper ests, and for encouragement to try them, when effering from great and long continued debility he useof three bottles of these Bitters, at the esginning of the present year, was followed my syident relief, and restoration to a degree of its months before, and had almost depaired of resinning. I therefore thank good and my friend for inceding me to the use of them.

Last Interviews.

The parting interviews of the Indians with their friends, on Wednesday, 24th inst, were very affecting, some of the prisoners being completely overcome, and compelled to abandon conversation.

Execution Deviction was dislocated whose body came down on the drop with a heavy thud, and a crash of the boards. There was no struggling by any of the Indians for the space of half a minute—the only movements were the natural vibrations occasioned by the fall. Execution Day.

On Friday, the correspondent was present at a prison interview between the condemned and Father Ravoux. He says:

"The whole number were sitting and lying about in pairs, and disposed as comfortably as their chained condition would nermit. There was very little conversafortably as their chained condition would permit. There was very little conversation kept up among them, though occasionally one would mutter a few words to another in unintelligible jargon. As a crowd they sat and lay there, smoking their pipes as unconcernedly as if they were engaged in council over some unimtheir pipes as unconcernedly as if they were engaged in council over some unimportant matter of tribal concern.
