Secretary Stanton also congratulated the General and the army.

Gen. Carter's heroic conduct in Tennessee is thus noticed by General Halleck To Major General Wright, Cincinnati. The daring operations and brilliant achievements of Gen. our army correspondence. CAMP NEAR WHITE OAK CHURCH, VA.,)

January 8, 1868. DEAR POST :- I don't know whether you think it strange or not that I have not written to you before this. When I left lier of the 139th, has just returned to day, home I determined that I would not fall after an absence of several weeks, caused nto the same error that many army correspondents have in writing for the public eader every rumor that reach their ears, whether it be true or not, and I know that he best method to keep my determination was by not writing at all-consequently my correspondence heretofore has been of an entirely private character. As the recent disaster forms a sad theme for discussion at home it may not be uninteresting to your readers to have an opinion from the army from an authority that it is as respectable at least as any "intelligent con-

In connection with this matter, is the dilitariness of the government in regularly paying the troops the pittance for which they are sacrificing their health, lives and all the comforts and endearments of home. Many of them have not been paid for six and eight months, although the faith of the government is pledged to make payments bi monthly. This has a very disheartening effect, upon the man, and it is painful to hear them say after the arrival of every mail: "My family is staxving!!" The government can certainly manufacture sufficient money to pay the troops, but it is not for me to determine the reason why it does not. There is no delay in paying the government officials in the civil service, and that it is different in the civil service, and that it is different in the military, service is submining shame; the military, service is a burning shame; the latter ought certainly to have the preference, for they are making sacrifices that the former can hever appreciate. Another great reason why the war is prolonged, is the fact that by far two many officers in the resultaneous for edge that the fact that by far two many officers in the resultaneous for edge that the fact that by far two many officers in the resultaneous for edge that the fact that by far two many officers in the resultaneous for edge that the fact that th the other way. I have already said that a volunteer has but little show out here. The Colonel of a Pennsylvania regiment was lately dismissed from the service for drunkenness, although his surgeon testified before the court martial that on the day complained of, he had administered to the Colonel a large dose of Opium. On the other hand, the "regs" may drink as much as they like and get drunk as often as they please, and the other day I heard of a couple of these Major Generals being beastly drunk at Aqua Creek landing. Important Operations in East Ten-

The Lynchbug Republican of Thursday states that a body of 5,000 Union cavalry composed of one Pennsylvania regimen and others unknown, have destroyed nine miles of the East Tennessee and Virginia taxed to its utmost capacity. It characterizes the Yankee raid of nearly one hun ired miles as one of unexpected daring and audacity.

Is there any Difference? The President orders the execution of savage warfare. This was right and his time. action will receive general applause. But stop! He immediately issues a proclamation calling upon three million of barbar-

Secretary Stanton also congratulates which they are sacrificing their health, vective a deputation from God Almishty.

"I prefer to stand in the position of "I prefer to stand in the position of our fathers, those champions of constitutional liberty who sacrificed property and life to secure it, rather than on the fitful, unregulated, unrestrained promptings of military power. I believe that the Union can only be restored—certainly sooner restored—by regarding the landmarks of the Constitution, by observing and preserving the rights of the States, and individuals, and by forebearing to violate either upon any pretense of "military" or other "necessity." Let all be loyal men, and as one heart, rally around the paigns which resulted in disgrace to our arms. Had the President not ordered McDowell and his command not to join McClellan to add his command in the sequence of the regular army now serving as glorer and his men for the fall of the robel capital, and the effectual suppression of the rebellion.
