THE NEW RADICAL PROGRAMME. The reader is doubtless aware that the New York Tribune is the great nations organ of the radicals throughout the Union; at the present time it is particularly the exponent of the extreme opinions of its party. It speaks the sentiment the control of the Administration, and so owerful is its influence that when its ditor takes an extra pinch of radical spuff, even the President himself is com-belled to sneeze. We saw that in his nompt reply to Greeley's impudent and glee at the prospect. resumptious address to him in the name f twenty millions of people. The proprietor of the Tribune spent nearly all of adical caucusses and organizing a for idable movement for the removal of Mr. Seward from the cabinet. He has gone ome to New York, and in his paper of Phyroday there appears a leading article, inder the caption of "Our Notions of the War." which is evidently the announce at of the programme fixed upon by the radical cancus at Washington.

The Tribune's article commences by declaring that the rebellion can be put down, if the proper means are effectively used against it. A reorganization of the Cabinet is the first step to be taken; the next is the dismissal from the service of early officer who is not thoroughly in favor of the emancipation proclamation; then the first step to be taken; the carry officer who is not thoroughly in favor of the emancipation proclamation; then the purchase of Purdon's Digest and Zeigler's Manual.

We have but one objection to this new programme; we are willing to see the cather changed, such men as Greeley himself and Wendell Phillips taking the places of Seward and Stanton; we are willing to see officers of their own "earnest way" of thinking taking the places of those in the service; but, in order to make the thing complete we do not see why the same Committee on the Conduct of the war. lected for the rank and file. It is proven long ago that Mr. Lincoln with his dsihonest honesty, with his imbe-cile smartness, with his decisive want of determination, with his decisive want of determination, with his obstinate weakness, it responsible for all sins committed, all the blood shed, all the wasted money. He has unnecessarily, publicly, and in black and white, assumed the rascalities of Cameron, the follies of Halleck, and McClellan's treason. Why, then, should we not turn to him in the name of thousands of unfortunate parents and relatives, who have lost, through him, sons and who have lost, through him, sons and brothers; in the name of the despairing brothers; in the name of the despairing wives; whose husbands he has taken; in the name of the deserted, suffering children, whose supporters he has killed; in the name of that once happy nation, which he brought to to the brink of ruin, and which his faults, is now being hurried to inevitable ruin; in the name of liberty, which sees its last refuge defiled, disgraced and destroyed, because Lincoln has neiand destroyed, because Lincoln has nei ther the ability to protict it, nor the hon esty to give the helm of the helplessly drifting ship of State into such hands as alone could save it from miserable destruc

CAMERON'S OPERA

To the Editors of the Patriot and Unio As many rumors are afloat in regard to certain transactions which took place between General Cameron and myself on several occasions previous to the late election of United States Senator, I think it my duty to make a plain, unvarnished statement of the facts, so that there may be hereafter no misunderstanding or mis representation. Believing that there would be attempts to bribe members i order to defeat the election of a Democrat I conceived the project of putting myself in the way of the operators and trying how far they were disposed to go in the matter Once conceived, I determined to act upo it, and communicated my intention several friends: The first opportunit I embraced and here is the result:

I had been to Philadelphia, and on my return, perhaps a week or more before the election, I met Mr. Wm. Brobst, of Lewisburg, with whom I was acquainted, as the Pennsylvania House, in Harrisburg, for the first time this winter, and notice some unusual nervousness on his part and from his conduct was soon led to suspect that his business at Harrisburg was not of a very public character. In the afternoon he came to me and asked to see me privately, and we proceeded at once to my room, where he very soon commenced disparaging the several prominent Demo cratic candidates for United States Senator, and concluded by expressing his decided preference for Gen. Simon Camer on. This, of course, left me no room to doubt the object of his visit to the State him whether that was the object of his visit. 'He said it was. In reply to my question, whether General Cameron authorize him to come to me in this way, he said he was authorized by Cameron to see and enter into the preliminary arrange ments to secure a vote for Cameror then asked him in what manner they ex nected to secure the election of Cameron He answered, "by getting three Demo crats to absent themselves on the day of the election." I then asked him whatthey would pay. He said he was authorized by Cameron to offer $5,000. I told him the figures were too low, and desired him to tell me who the other members were. This him I could not make the engagement but would do so in one hour, and if I could get clear of another engagement I had made, I would go with him. In the the House of Representatives, my colleague, to whom I related the foregoing facts. I then saw Brobst again and told him I would go. He told me he would have a carriage ready in front of Herr's. Hotel at 7 o'clock; that he was authorized by Cameron to get a carriage at any time. When the time arrived Dr. Earley and myself walked to Herr's and saw the carsome excuse to Brobst and told him it prudent at this stage of proceedings not to riage and Brobst there. I then made would be best not to go. (I deemed it he (Brobst) called and said Cameron wanted to see me at the State Capital Bank. I called, and was ushered into a back room of the bank, and found Cameron there alone. He addressed me as juestion, and that it would depend very nuch on circumstances." He then said, suppose the circumstances are all right!" asked him how he meant "all right." He answered, "the financial considerathe nation, and the patience of the people, the scorner they reach the end of their absurdations the better it will be for us all.

But it strikes us that, if these crazed testimony taken by the committee.

The evidence against General Stone is of a circumstantial character, going to show that he was very friendly towards the rebels. While testifying before the committee what I thought of $10,000, "right down, after the work was done." I then asked him whether he wanted a vote or an absent the wanted a vote," and that it abundle of notes, which he represented as being the amount of the final payment.

Senator, with the agreement that no other member should be bought, and that this should end the matter-provided Cameron would agree to the terms, and deposit the money in the hands of Patterson, to be paid to me immediately after the election was over, and that the two members (with whom Patterson said Cameron was also in treaty) who were in the cars on their way to Philadelphia should return on Saturday. We considered the fact that if they were sent off, the House would not go into an elecion and our agreement could not be conummated. This statement seemed to deermine his mind in favor of the arrange. ment. Patterson went immediately to Cameron, who was in the car, and returned in a few minutes, stating that, although Cameron regarded the price big, he would pay it in order to save further trouble. and would, therefore, not say anything to the members then on their way to Philadelphia, and that they might return, and thus prevent any disarrangement of the plan that might arise from their absence Saturday evening was then agreed upon as the time for the next interview.] stopped at Reading; so did Patterson, who eturned that same evening to Harrisburg. Cameron went to Philadelphia. I came up on Saturday evening, and found Cameron on the train as well as at least one of the men who went to Philadelphia the day before, and I think both. At the depot at Harrisburg I met Patterson, who said the interview would be at Don Cameron's. Accordingly Patterson and myself went direct to the house, and found the General there shead of us. He invited us up stairs, and. by a dismal light, we agreed upon the price, viz: Cameron assented to the bargain between Patterson and myself, by agreeing to pay $20.000-$5,000 of which was to be paid in hand—and would deposit it in Patterson's hands in my presence at some future interview, subject to my inspection. A little incident which occurred here it would be a pity to lose to to the world. After the bargain was con cluded Simon straightened up on his chair rubbing his legs with his hands saying: Well, this ends it. I will be Senator and you shall never regret it"-(addressing he refused to do at the time, but would try erful man in that Senate; the entire state himself to me)-"I will be the most powand get permission of his principal to do of affairs of this Government will be so. He then left, and returned in a short changed: nothing is more certain than

We met at 5 o'clock, in Patterson's room at Herr's, on Monday afternoon. Here Patterson told me that he had the $5,000 hand money locked up in the safe down stairs, but wanted me to see Simon again before paying it over to me. I insisted on the hand money. This I deemed necessary to keep up the delusion. We poot's Journal: a new book of poems from the pen of Bayard Taylor. Musting early the next morning.
