ARMING THE BLACKS.

To this complexion have we come, at least.

The wonderful rapidity with which the country has for nearly two years been rushing upon destruction, has prevented the people from noting the multitude of incidents occurring upon the way. There is a general feeling of despondency weighing heavily upon the public mind; the brightest and most comprehensive are gloomy and apprehensive, while those having the direction of our public affairs entrusted to them rush from one absurdity to another, with the velocity of a locomotive at its utmost speed.

When the Southern rebellion first reared its horrid visage, what was the feeling of the people? Apprehension? No. The earnest and manifest was never surpassed by any patriot in favor of any government. All patriotic spirits stood up in anxious expectation, and a swarm of bounding enthusiastic patriots rushed impetuously to the defense of their government. All partisan feeling was suddenly forgotten in an ardent desire to save our country from dissolution.

What has happened since that time? We have seen our government in the hands of a despotic ruler, and a man who has succeeded in diverting the war from its true purpose, and has succeeded in diverting the war from its true purpose, and has succeeded in diverting the war from its true purpose.

Having changed the issue of the war, it is now considered necessary to change the means required to pursue it. Every officer in the service, who chooses to differ from the policy of emancipation, is to be dismissed from the service. Already eighty have been discharged, and the system of weeding out is still in progress.

As the President has no power to dismiss a member of the military, he has found it necessary to resign his office. The President has no power to dismiss a member of the military, he has found it necessary to resign his office.

Here we have the emancipation, after two years of blood and death of negro brigades, as being necessary to put down the rebellion. Gen. Andrew and his coadjutors also promised "one hundred thousand volunteers" whenever emancipation was proclaimed the object of the war, now shrieks about "Washington asking permission to enlist a few Massachusetts American soldiers from Africa." To this complexion we have come at last.

General Burdette and McClellan. The New York Tribune, in an article on the financial condition of the country, remarks: "It is not a favorable commentary on the scheme of national finances now maturing in Congress that it has been steadily appreciated since this scheme was reported, and that it is on Saturday, for the first time, commended by a premium of ten percent in the market."

The Speaker of Congress. The Congress will have the selection of a Democratic Speaker. It is all important to have in the chair a gentleman of decided ability and stern integrity, besides firm, reliable and sound Democratic principles.

HON. P. C. SHANNON AND HIS MILITARY EXPLOITS. WILL HE RESIGN? Harrisburg, Jan. 27, 1863. There is some talk of raising a committee in the House of Representatives to investigate the military exploits of Mr. Shannon.

Official Order for the Recent Changes in the Army. "Following is the official order in regard to the recent changes in the Army of the Potomac:

Farwell Address of General Sherman. "The following is the farwell address of General Sherman upon leaving his Grand Division. When the General came out from his quarters to proceed to the railroad station, he found assembled a cavalcade of two hundred of the officers of the division, who escorted him to the cars."

Cardinal Mozet. The Paris correspondent of the North American writes, on the 17th inst., gives the following account of the obsequies of the Cardinal lately deceased.

The Oil Creek Railroad. The Oil Creek Railroad, on which ground was broken in May last, and over which cars passed in October, from Cory to Titusville, twenty-seven miles, is in progress of extension from Titusville down Oil Creek, to Oil City, a distance, we believe, of sixteen miles, beyond which point it is to be continued down the Allegheny river to Franklin.

The Financial Situation. The New York Tribune, in an article on the financial condition of the country, remarks: "It is not a favorable commentary on the scheme of national finances now maturing in Congress that it has been steadily appreciated since this scheme was reported, and that it is on Saturday, for the first time, commended by a premium of ten percent in the market."

Cotton Permits. Gen. Grant has issued an order announcing that $100 will be charged for each permit to purchase cotton at any military post within his department. The money thus collected is to be applied to the secret service of the Government.

THE BIRTH OF THE LILY. The hearts and birds of Paradise are down, with music and melody, to the air. The lily is the flower of purity and innocence. It is the flower of the East, and the flower of the West.
