WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH THE REFUSAL OF THE PENN SYLVANIA RESERVES TO PERFORM PICKET DUTY. We believe it is true that the Fifst Pennsylvania Reserves when sent on picket daty on Friday last, refused to do so on the ground that they have been in the service since May or June, 1861; that they learn that the adjourned joint Convention have participated in the most hard fought of both Houses, at Harrisburg, held yes battles in Virginis; that they are so reduced in numbers that no one regiment will number 250 men, and that their request to go home and recruit has been disregarded, while the Second New Hamp shire volunteers; have been allowed to go to shire volunteers. home. Because of this partiality, the ed and James P. Barr for the latter office. officers and men of our Reserves refused The session occupied two hours. to do the duty referred to.

This refusal of the Pennsylvania Reserves, is meeting with very pointed condemnation in certain quarters; but before that gallant band of veterans, who have sustained the gallantry of Pennsylvania upon up many fields of carnage and of death; is condemned, they are entitled to an impartial hearing. When citizens become soldiers they do not cease to be men; the prowess and endurance of the Pennsylvania Reserves, in nearly every engagement in Eastern Virginia, and especially being the estimate placed upon those gal foreign nations seemed to concur in the lant fellows, an estimate which they were conscious of, we should like to know why they were humiliated by the powers that painfully impressed me in a distant land; be by refusing to them a privilege grant.

I was not indifferent to the subsequent change in our domestic affairs. This fact painfully impressed me in a distant land; and when I wrote to you that the rigors of the climate had seriously affected the health of my family, and that I would be to my family, and that I would be to compelled to return, I was also actuated, by a strong desire once more to mingle ons organs were notified that it was a down.

Even this desperate expedient may turn against those who started it, for it is roundly assisted that the rank and file of the New Hampshire regiment, will not permit their officers to control their political mit their officers to control their political people; and thousands give credence to convictions. The attempts to do so, how ever, is out another evidence of the de- tion would prove to their own mines to h

I am connuent that, moving in my humble sphere as a private citizen, I can do something at least to dispel these prejudices, and by appealing to the friends who have honored and sustained me through a not uneventful life, I can be of more service to the good cause and to the Government, than by living in a foreign land a not indifferent but still an idle spectotor of the exciting scene at my own home.
