Since the gold and silver coins disappeared, our mint has been work ed constantly, turning out millions of cents, which have been facely residents. which have been freely paid out at par to all comers. So abundant did they at length become, that when the new postal currency got about the cents overflowed everywhere and were considered a nuisance. To understand what has beome of them peruse the following extract rounthe New York Post:

ents is the work of a small class of conemptible speculators, who, too poor to perate in gold, like their more preten-ious brethren, console themselves by operate in gold, like their more pretentious brethren, console themselves by hoarding up nickel cents. Two instances of recent occurrences prove this.

"Aftew days ago, a house in Jersey City was entered by the police in search of some suspicious character. The occupant lived in very humble style. In the garret the policemen found two large, mysterious sacks hidden in a corner, and on opening the policemen found two large, mysterious sackst-hidden in a corner, and on opening them, discovered their contents to be nickely cents, closely packed away, the owner undoubtedly awaiting a further rise.

with them except to use them in making change. Pure, unadulterated speculation alone is therefore at the bottom of this.— The men who are engaged in it are seeking to make money out of the miseries of the people. At present the laws cannot reach them, and as Congress has adjourned without taking any action on the sub-ject, we must look to our State Legisla cures. A heavy tax should be laid on all engaged in this speculation; no person should be allowed to buy up cents at a premium without taking out a license from premium without taking out a license from the State Treasurer, costing a good round sum, and a penalty for a breach of the law should be sure and prompt. We urge this carnestly upon the members of our State Legislature now in session at Harrisburg, and hope that they will not adjourn without taking some action to protect the community against these penny speculators.

Mr. Chase's friend, the collector, was in New York; he knew that he was receiving about $30,000 a year for his services, and he ought to have known that if the collector had any time, not required by virtue of his office, the government was entitled to it without further compansation. Yet he employs the collector, and makes a contract, so the contractor says, whereby he actually received, in commissions for selling cotton, $6,792 at a significant months. a few days since by the Secretary to the Senate in answer to a resolution of that body. See the long worded, mock philanthrophy of the collector when he talk-The Scarcity of Cents.

The Philadelphia North American, speaking of the scarcity of cents says:

"For some time past the cent coins have disappeared from circulation, and left behind such a void that people are put to the greatest possible inconvenience in making change. Did not the Secretary know that the arduous duties of the collector had rendered his mind very weak? Why impose the laboa of taking nearly $7,000 more from the Treasury on a man already overburdened? It was cruel, indeed it was, Mr. Chase must have known that the collector was very obnoxious to most of the merchants of New York, and may believe he is entirely incompetent for the duties necessary by virtue of his office,—8

New York Cattle Market. Tribune's Beport .- Bull's Head.

Tribume's Report.—Buil's Head.

Mon art March 9.—We have a somewhat remarkable state of things at the opening of the Beof-Cattle, market in Forty fourth street this morning. The weather is bright, and clear, and do so warm that the little snow that fell since Saturday is all adont. Yet the estitle trains' are all reported blockeded with snow. At any rate we had no stock in from Albany till nearly noon, At the opening there was not over 1,500 on sale. There came in on Saturday by the New Jorsey Control and Eric, and one by the Hudson on Sunday.

There had been no more, expected the market would have opened lively; but as a large supply was likely to arrive extany moment the market would have opened lively; but as a large supply was likely to arrive extany moment the market would have opened lively; but as a large supply was likely to arrive extany moment the market opened dull hat about the same rates as last intended slow, many of the buyers preferring to wait in the stock strived that was expected to night. We notice that some of the brokers are call anxious to sell out to-day, and buyers offer more freely than last week. Others hold their stock as still as though it was certain that the whole was in, and that with such n'short supply they could easily get an advance. We shall see to morrow when there will doubtless be more cattle than to-day. Messes.
