THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC The commendable patience of the radipress with the inactivity of "fighting Hooker," is one of the most extraorharv circumstances of the times. In ead of complaining because of the delay h taking Richmond some of these radi cal journals find all sorts of excuse for it. They inform us that the General is busily gaged in organizing his aplendid army, hich is now in admirable condition, and ager to advance; and that when they do, will be to triumphant and overwhelming ctory. For burselves, we think that en. Hooker is the best judge of the time mate an advance or a retreat: we erefore, are content to leave the matter utirely to him; but the remarkable pa ence of the Abolitionists with his prostination is the more wonderful when e reflect how impetuous they were, a full ear ago, for an immediate advance upon e rebel capital. Our information from private and reliabie sources is equirmatory of the annonneement made in the Republican some days since that the rebels are in force in the Shenandoah Valley. We stated that the enemy were menacing Wincheater, upon reliable military authority. We are now satisfied that the rebels have a stry large infantry, artillery and cavalry force between New Market and Staunton. From private information obtained from within the enemy's lines, we are satisfied also that Lee, through the command or some one of his subordinates, is contem.

MR EDITOR.—The Republicans and Abolitionists have resolved to scare up a new name for the party already embedded in aliases, in order to maintain a sort of organization. It is evident they see the impossibility of retaining power in the atfairs of this government, unless additional means are resorted to. To this end politionists are now at work in earnest.
