Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects; I yet know of no sufficient reason why a man may not testify to the benefit he bolieves himself to have received from any simple preparation in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indelted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, I am indelted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper ests, and for encouragement to try them, when differing from great and long continued debility. he use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the seginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not left for ix months before, and had almost depaired of re-abing. I therefore thank God and my friend for lirecting mis to the use of them.

JACKSON-DRAE S.R:—I have been frequently requestly requestly requested to connect my name with company and the practice as out of my appropriate phere, I have in all cases declined; but with a slear proof in various instances, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters. I depart from my usual course, to express my full conviction that for seneral debility of the system, and especially Liver Compliaintit is a safe and valuable preparation.

The some cases it may fail, but usually I doubt not will be viry beneficial to those who suffer from hashove chauses. Yours very respectfully.

At the first appearance of daylight, we all ascended to the roof of the house, to get a more perfect view of the extent of the damage that had been done. The shocks were still reciblly recalled the horrors we had seen on that occasion. requent, our rest when the belief that the worst was over. Our host brought us some food and wine, and had gone down to get some cigars for himself and James, when a prolonged, dull roar told us that another shock was approaching. All at once the vibratory motion changed for one of up-the told ourselves descending to the earth with a rapidity which took my breath away, and I became for the first time insensible.

When I recovered my senses, my first thought was of my husband. I opened my eyes and found him still alive, and, as it turned out, with limbs unbroken, though greatly braised. He was feeling my pulse, and looking anxiously at my face for signs of recovery, and his joy, when I opened asked him in a faint voice if they were all safe; he only pointed to what appeared a heap of torn clothing, and I comprehended that they—who had, a few minutes before, been standing on the terrace—had been precipitated into the street below and kill-

When I attempted to move, I suffered intense pain in my right leg, which was so helpless that I felt it must be broken. My husband examined it, and found that it was fractured a, little below the knee. and that any further walking on my part was quite out of the question. He went away a minute or two, and came back with some strips of linen and pieces of rafters which he smoothed and and the with rafters, which he smoothed and cut with his knife into splints, and set the bone as circumstances would admit of. After he had done this, he searched for and found some food which poor Torollas had brought up, and made me swallow a few mouthfuls; but I wanted water most, and this he was unable to get without going some distance, wherefore I preferred to suffer thirst rather than let him go out of sight. Daylight made no difference in the severity of the shocks, but shortly at the severity of the shocks, but shortly at the severity of the shocks, but shortly at ter surrise they became less frequent, and about noon seemed to have ceased altogether, and people began to appear again in the street. My husband appealed to several who passed to assist him in removing me to a place of shelter, but they all refused, or pretended not to bear him. refused, or pretended not to hear him probably they had lost relatives the previous night, and were too anxious to di we should take refuge with Torollas for a time, seeing that the house had withstood the recent shocks, and not thinking we should have any others more violent.

We rose, holding each other tightly, and making our way to the door as direct as the should have any others more violent.

We rose, holding each other tightly, and making our way to the door as direct as the state of the pain it gave me to move, and we were obliged, though with great reluctance, to consent to a separation while he went to Batalha, the horse dealer, to get a mule to carry me, a vehicle of any kind being useless in such encumbered streets. Madema Torollas was most life in her attention to me, even at such a moment, and her daughters were willing assistants. They brought water to wash our wounded feet; but my husband would not allow the bandages to be removed, for fear of causing infiammation of the wounds, by exposing them to the air in such a hot climate, especially as we might, within a minute, have to run out of the house. We were glad enough, however, to avail ourselves of their offered kindness in the matter of clothing, and when these arrangements were completed, we went to the window, of their offered kindness in the matter of clothing, and when these arrangements were completed, we went to the window, and looked ont.

The sight was grand and horrible.
