All Quiet at Charleston

IRON CLAD FLEET LEFT CHARLESTON

Charleston to be Taken

THE FIGHT ON THE NAUSEMOND

Late News from Halifax

FOURTH MONDAY, APR. 18.—A dispatch from General Porter to Major General Dix, just received states that Gen. Foster has been relieved.

A river steamer, with a regiment, and supplies of provisions and ammunition, succeeded in running the batteries on Tar River, and reached the wharf at Washington on the 14th.

The enemy is still investing Suffolk. Nothing of importance transpired there today.

The Richmond Sentinel has the following:

CHARLESTON, Sunday April 13.—The entire iron-clad fleet departed at 3:40 and 4 o'clock for the South.

The impression prevails here, however, that they will not renew the attack.

The Richmond papers of the 10th contain the following:

The enemy occupies Cape Fear and the surrounding islands in considerable force, and are being protected by gunboats. Their transports leave for the coast.

Two gunboats and three transports were wrecked in the Cumberland river by Gen. Wood's command.

New York, April 17.—The Washington correspondent of the Commercial is not pleased with the continuation of the siege.

The diplomat's letter to the same paper says: The siege has been carried on without success.

The steamer Plantagenet, which was wrecked on the 5th and Port Au Prince on the 12th, is now in the harbor of Jamaica.

There is much comment in Washington on the fact of Gen. Hunter's remaining in the field as the speculator for the reconnoissance.

The steamer Plantagenet, which was wrecked on the 5th and Port Au Prince on the 12th, is now in the harbor of Jamaica.

There is much comment in Washington on the fact of Gen. Hunter's remaining in the field as the speculator for the reconnoissance.

THE REBELS IN VIRGINIA

A correspondent at Washington writes as follows:

"My intelligence from Gen. Lee's army on the Rappahannock, and from Richmond, is of the most reliable nature, and enables me to contradict, in the most positive manner, the absurd stories of contemplated evacuation of Richmond, and of the retreat of the Confederate army from the line of the Rappahannock.

On the contrary, Gen. Lee is confident of being able to hold that line against Hooker, and he retires Southward only in order to draw Hooker into the swamps and morasses of the Maury and Pamunkey.

As regards Richmond, the Confederate government regard it as impracticable, and they have recently abandoned its defenses. Two new forts are now being erected on the James River, below Fort Darling, both at the head of the stream. The army that besieges Richmond will have a hard road to travel.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says that among the refugees who applied to come into the lines near "Union Mills," within a day or two, was the wife of Jackson, the murderer of Ellsworth. She says she is determined to come to us for charity to sustain life. Where is the princely subscription made for her after the assassination of Ellsworth?

Outrages on Christians

Letters from Turkey state that two Christians had been assassinated at Damascus, that a panic prevailed in the city, and that many Christians were quitting it. A Christian village near Latakia had been pillaged, and the Druzes of Hamran are said to have attacked the regular Turkish troops.

Capt. Bowditch

This officer, who was accidentally killed on the railroad, near Buffalo, Va., a few days ago, was a resident of Burlington, Vermont. He was a member of the Massachusetts Society, and held several important positions, both under the State and National Government, and under Mr. Buchanan.

Cure for Rheumatism

Bathe the parts affected with hot water, and an English paper, in which potatoes, with their skins on, have been boiled, as water can be borne, just before going to bed. By the next morning the pain will be much relieved, if not removed. One application of this simple remedy has cured the most obstinate rheumatic pains.

Gen. Banks Fortifying

General Banks is reported to be fortifying in anticipation of an approach by the rebels.
