Army of the Potomac Now on the Move.

FRENCH IN POSSESSION OF PUEBLA.

The New York Tribune announces that the army of the Potomac is in motion. General Hooker, after the last seriou delay caused by the storm made all haste to get ready ones more, and his arrangements were completed last week.

&c., &c.,

On Monday morning at daylight the movement began. . The Seventh and Eleventh corps and the Cavalry corps taking the lead. How far the grand movement has progressed we can only infer from the time which has elapsed, but if no unexpected obstruction has interfered the crossing ought by this time to be far advanced. The New York Herald contains the following from Headquarters Army of the Potomac, dated April 23, 1863:

The expedition to the northern neck returned last night. The force was composed of the Oneida New York cavalry, Capt. Mann, and a detachment of the lat Pennsylvania cavalry arrived in King George Court House on Saturday night, posed of the Oneida New York cavalry, Pennsylvania cavalry arrived in King George Court House on Saturday night, where a halt was made for a few hours. The expedition captured a number of prisoners, and some important letters were found in the houses of secessionists. The command returned again, although narrowly escaping being captured. The rebels had burned a bridge over the Mattox creek, and if our men had been detained a few moments later, they would have been almost completely cut off.

Indianapolis, April 29.—Dr. Dorsey, a resident of Indianapolis, but formerly of with treasonable correspondence with the rebels, and sent to Louisville to be tried by Court Martial.

New York, April 29.—Forther advices from Port Boyat contain a report that the rebels, and sent to Louisville to be tried by Charleston will be again attacked on the 3d of May, when the spring tides will recur. All the Monitors except Weehawkes Lad left Port Royal. The health of the troops was suffering somewhat from the warmth of the weather.

Pennsylvania cavalry arrived in King Goernace of Conumption, and when there discussed in the subject to the relation. The walmoff committee the most prompt attention. When there is my predisposition to consumption, the disease in one we another of its forms, will often be developed by a "ind cold" or cataerth, the symptoms of which cannot be mistaken. When a person takes cold easily, the symach or liver is generally diseased. In this state of things the feeble condition of the system cannot resis, the changes of weather and other external causes oddsease, and as every expourse brings on a cataerth, with its commen symptoms—a bad cough, bearseness chillis, slight pains in the breast, to These sigus should not be neglected, and it is highly important that we sufferer should know what to do. When one cold a taken "on another," as the phrase goes, the brondlai tabes of the lungs becomes more or less diseased. A few lottles of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup and Seawed, Tonic and abox of Mandrake Pills would make a picture; but, instead of resurting to these safe and exactions remedies patients often consuit a "regular physicia" whose regularity consists in prescribing camel, orium, &c., on allo consists. Thus, for a cure of a cough or cold, morphia, black drop, paregoric, and still more objectionable articles are often taken, he compliances with the doctor's safive. These medicines may mitigate the cough for a time, but the disease in the lungs soce on until the unmistable symptom. OUGHS AND COLDS.

cannat be to highly recommended, as from its alteraity effects, it produces healthy secretions, and, in conjunction with the "Beawest Tonio," which restores tone to the stomach and enables it to properly digest the food, and the "Handrake Pills" to bring about a healthy action of the liver, a cure is certain.
The directions which accompany the Syrup explain when and how to take the Seawest Tonic and Mandrake Pills. III. PULMONIC CONSUMPTION

This is the most dangerous form of consumption. The causes which produce it are very numerous—such as hereditary disposition, a particular formation of the body, certain diseases, as catarrhism disposition, measles, liver-complaint, disposity, des particular employments, grief or disappointment—and, in short, any cause which disturbs the healthful operations of nature and produces the diministicn of the viral tone which always precedes an attack of this disease.
