DAILY POST. Funeral Procession in honor of the Late Gen. Jackson. From the Richmond Disputch, May 13. The funeral procession which yesterday took place in token of regard for the lanented Jackson, afforded the best evidence of the high estimation in which the deceased was held by the country which is now called to mourn over his death. On Monday night the remains of the amented chieftain were embalmed, and about eleven o'clock yesterday, in pursuance of public announcement, were taken from the mansion of the Governor, through several of the main thoroughfares of the city, to the Capitol, where they were laid in state, and were viewed for the last time by his many friends and admirers. Long before the appointed hour for the procession to move, a dense crowd had congregated on the square to pay the last sad tribute of respect to one whom all

PITTSBURGH PRODUCE MARKET OFFICE OF THE DAILY POST. } Wednesday, May 20th, 1863. Remarks—The weather continues pleasan and as agreeable as any person can desire. Business throughout the city has been dull, the sale ness throughout the city has been duit, the sales of the leading articles being limited. The news from the Army of the South continues favorable. We hope soon to announce the opening of the great Missishppi, which will do more to en-the great alisasappi, which will do more to en-liven trade than mything else that could hap-pen. On the wharf we notice a fair amount of activity between the arriving and departing camers. Grain-The market continues very steamers. Grain—The market continues very dull and is likely to remain so as long as dealers persist in asking higher rates than the article can be purchased for and brought here. We will take for instance the article of Rye, which is he d firmly at 15cc 11 in our market: of course there is nothing doing, and why? Simply because it can be bought elsewhere and delivered in Pittsburgh free of all expenses for We or less. There is the secret of our market being so dull. We is the secret of our market being so dull, We were made acquainted with two instances that we may as well state: Two merchants, who we will call A and B, deal largely in Kye, purchasing annually many thousand bushels. A short time ince A wanted 10,000 bushels and B 15,000. Every effort was made to purchase here at 90@95c, but holders would not sell under $1. Of course they had to look e'sewhere. A sent to Ohio and found had to look e'sewhere. A sent to Ohio and found no difficulty in purchasing all he wanted at figures, sufficiently low to land the grain in Pittsburgh at S9@90e per bush; this includes all expenses. Of course the merolant made a good thing of it and will continue to do so. B sent to Illinois and purchased 15,000 bush at figures that will fully justify him in cetting his future supplies for that our that our proposed that our proposed the supplies for the supplies that will fully justify him in cetting his future supplies for the supplies that will be supplied to the supplies for the supplies fo
