

The Union as it was: The Constitution as it is.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 15. There is no law there is no freedom.

REBEL RAIDS INTO PENNSYLVANIA.

The War Department last week was communicative; unusually so; it sent us the following intelligence that it might expect, within a short time, a rebel raid into our Commonwealth, numbering some fifteen thousand desperadoes, hungry and infuriated cavalry. The War Department simply announced this, and after dividing the State into two military departments, it gracefully assumed its usual torpor.

While our Administration is thus comparatively indifferent in relation to Pennsylvania, it is constantly being keenly sensitive in relation to itself. The entire cabinet are watchful and energetic in their efforts on behalf of themselves. This is all right enough; but in the name of all that is wonderful does it require all the army of the east to prevent Lee's capturing Washington city? A Washington correspondent writes that this ridiculous and humiliating "to observe the extensive and formidable preparations that have been going on in this city, and in Alexandria and Georgetown as well, for four weeks past, to resist a Confederate attack on the capital. To judge from the extent of these preparations, and the haste with which they were made, one would suppose that Gen. Lee's whole army was marching on the capital.

And the National Intelligencer, also alluding to "the same vast preparations, remarked: "It would, of course, be quite impudent to state what the authorities are accomplishing by way of preparation for the anticipated raid of Lee's army. It is not necessary to do any harm. The readiness of cavalry invasions of this kind is so common that it is not worth an invasion of the very best and bravest of us. There are some who are in a measure of the Maryland and Pennsylvania troops, while others believe that they will only advance toward Alexandria, and that the advance, if possible, in the night time, will make a dash on Georgetown or Washington."

Gen. Hooker's reconnaissance early last week discovered that Lee's forces number about fifty thousand, stretching from Culpeper to Fredericksburg—sufficient force to make an invasion. Our forces are, at the lowest figure, ninety thousand under Hooker, and eighty thousand under Dix and Heintzelman, making an army one hundred and seventy thousand experienced veterans. Instead of the Administration fearing the fall of our capital or the invasion of Pennsylvania, it should place this overwhelming force at the disposal of a commander who would not only prevent rebel invasion, but who would start the enemy back to their entrenchments at Richmond. But this is not to be expected, until some overwhelming disaster overtakes us. All our fearful and lamentable incompetency and teaming inability have no terrors for our Abolition radicals, who, fully two years ago, would not wait a moment for shouting to us to Richmond. On the contrary, these blinded fanatics seem delighted with "the situation;" they have got their proclamations and their "fighting generals," and the longer the war lasts the greater will be the damage inflicted upon slavery. For these reasons Wendell Phillips desires it to last twenty years at least.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED AT THE BEAVER COUNTY CONVENTION.

Resolved, That the Constitution as it came from the hands of its framers and was adopted by the people, is the bond, the only bond of the Union of these States; that our Government may our very national safety, and our very national existence, depends on a strict and faithful adherence to its provisions, and that it is as in peace it is sacredly obligatory on all.

Resolved, That law is the bulwark of liberty, the abrogation of law is the death of liberty, the Constitution guarantees the freedom of speech and of the press and the right of the people to assemble, to petition the government for the redress of grievances. An infringement of the right is a blow at the Constitution, an abrogation of these rights is an overthrow of the Constitution. He who seeks to abridge or destroy these rights is a traitor to law and to liberty. The Democracy of Beaver County will forever demand and insist upon these rights. They will obey the laws themselves and insist upon a like obedience by all men. They will seek redress for grievances through the forms of law and the tribunals of justice. They will demand and insist upon the trial by jury of men in the military or naval service who are charged with crime, and will demand and insist upon the right to speak and print their opinions of those men in power, and will demand and insist upon the right of the civil tribunals upon men and newspapers charged with the expression of their opinions and also incendiary sentiments.

Resolved, That the military power is and must remain subordinate to the civil power. Military, like civil functionaries, derive all power from the law. So far as they are under the law, they must be obeyed. When they exceed their authority and their orders and their decrees are entirely void.

Resolved, That the Democratic masses of the North are devoted, with their lives and fortunes, to the glorious Union of the States under the Constitution made by our fathers; they will sacrifice life and fortune and all but liberty to preserve that Union; they will cordially sustain the authority in all honest and lawful efforts to preserve that Union; they will not sacrifice their liberties though life and fortune be at stake; they will not consent that their liberties be maintained, so long as they can be maintained, but they will have them at every hazard by some means.

Resolved, That we protest against the illegal and arbitrary arrest and imprisonment of citizens of States where rebellion or invasion does not exist, as subversive of the fundamental principles of American Liberty; as tending to inaugurate anarchy and disorder; as inaugurating a reign of terror and despotism forbidden by the very charter by which government here exists; as a public declaration of the part of the federal authorities that the Constitution has ceased to bind them; and as leading necessarily to the disturbance of our peace and to probable collision, between us and our country, our institutions, ourselves and our posterity.

The following are the concluding resolutions of the Democratic Convention of Ohio, which were omitted in Saturday's Post: And we furthermore denounce said arrests, trials and banishment, as a direct insult offered to the sovereignty of the people of Ohio, by whose organic law it is declared, that no person shall be transported out of the State for any offense committed within the same."

Resolved, That we welcome home the surviving members of the two companies of nine months' volunteers recently returned to our ranks from the field of strife, and sympathize with the friends of those who have fallen in defence of the flag of our country.

Resolved, That we respectfully but most earnestly call upon the President of the United States to restore to the office of Governor of Ohio to the office of Governor of Ohio the Democratic party, and that the Democratic party was fully competent to decide whether it was a fit man for that nomination; and that the attempt to deprive them of that right by his arrest and banishment was an unmerited imputation upon their intelligence and loyalty, as well as a violation of the Constitution.
