DO YOU WANT TO BE

Relieved from all those horrible feelings, when you go to sleep nearly

Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If you do, use

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whisky or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created, and fed up, and the result is a) the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt. Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters, and mix with Three Glasses of good Brandy or Whisky, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true tonic any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION SOLDIERS,

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published weekly in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of the kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers hundreds of lives might be saved, that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life, to use his own slang usage "has been saved by the Bitters:"

PHILADELPHIA, August 23d, 1862.

Messrs. Jones & Evans.—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Chapman's celebrated battery, under the immediate command of Capt. R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure and fatigue upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflamation of the lungs, and was for seventy two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House and sent to this city on board the steamer "State of Maine," from which I landed on the 29th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as any one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swa low anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; and, accordingly the physicians who had been working at it fully, though unsuccessfully, to reclaim me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of 6th below Arch Street, advised me as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained 10 pounds, and feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months; for, gentleman I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly, yours, ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to health.

DAILY POST.

George W. Woodward—"Constitutional Union and Liberty According to American Law.

[From the Eastern Argus, of Monday 21st.]

The convention which nominated the Hon. George W. Woodward as the Democratic candidate for Governor will be remembered for years to come. His life, character, great abilities, statesmanship and public services are such as to command the respect of all parties. The qualities of his head are only equalled, not eclipsed, by those of his heart. Although a man of self-reliance and iron will (essential ingredients in the composition of aleading mind,) his pretentions never exceeded his real merits. He has never sought security from censure by prudent silence or time serving neutrality. We have placed his name at the head of our paper, together with a sentiment uttered by him in a speech delivered on the 13th of December, 1860, in Independence Square, Philadelphia, when our political troubles were about to begin. Although a Judge of the Supreme Court, he went before the people to plead for the preservation of a Union which had been consecrated by the blood of heroes and the wisdom of sages. Had men of his principles been in office, or his advice been taken, we would not now be surrounded by our present very unfortunate, difficulties.

George W. Woodward is about 54 years of age, and is a native Wayne, one of the old Keystone counties. His parents, though highly respectable, had not the means of giving him anything more than a good education. When he became of age and was about to be admitted to the bar, he removed to Luzerne county. Being honest and industrious, sagacious and patient, he soon rose to eminence at a bar where such men as Garrick Mallery, Judge Conyngham, and the lawyers of that stamp resided. He soon acquired an extensive practice in the counties of Luzerne, Wayne, Pike and Susquehanna.

In 1844 Governor Porter appointed him to the Common Pleas bench, in the district composed of the counties of Huntingdon, Centre, Clearfield, and one or two others.

In 1846 the friends of the then patriotic Governor Shunk nominated him as the Democratic candidate for State Senator, to supply the place made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Buchanan, who had just been appointed Secretary of State by President Polk; but his election was defeated by Gen. Cameron seducing four or five pretended Democrats, who united with the body of the opposition and elected Cameron.

In 1846 President James K. Polk nominated him a Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States, to fill the place made vacant by the death of Judge Baldwin; but Cameron, being in the Senate, procured his rejection, in opposition to the votes of the great body of the Democrats in that body.

In 1852 Gov. Bigler appointed him to the Supreme bench of Pennsylvania, to fill a vacancy made by the death of Judge Coulter; and in the same or the next year he was nominated and elected by the Democratic party of the State to the same place so that he has about four years to serve, and in December next would have been the Chief Justice of this State.

When first called upon and urged to accept a nomination for Governor, he declined, on the ground that he preferred to be Chief Justice of the State for four years, which was in the line of his profession; but after much solicitation he consented, for the reason that in the present abnormal condition of public affairs the people had a right to demand the services of any person they thought could best serve them. His nomination was the result, and his election is certain, by at least from 20,000 to 50,000 majority.

The nomination of a man like Woodward seems like going back to the purer days of the Republic, and furnishes a well-grounded hope that public Constitution liberty and private rights may yet be preserved in this country.

This country and Government have three enemies—buncome, one idealism and corruption. They have nearly, if not quite, disrupted the Federal Government, and the last named, if not arrested, will yet destroy the State Governments, for no free government can stand corruption. We all know the progress it has made during the last few years. If not arrested now, it never can be, for it will become the rule instead of the exception. The fearlessness of Judge Woodward in the discharge of duty eminently qualifies him to arrest this great evil. No person would think of approaching a man of his noble appearance, dignified bearing and positive character, with an unclean proposition.—He is too honest, too pure, too purchased, too firm to be bullied, and too watchful to be surprised. With him at the head of the Government at Harrisburg, the lobby gang there will be broken up and cleaned out.

The peculiar manner of his nomination will enable him to act independently and for the public good. He has not had a large number of partisans about him for a number of years, urging and working for his nomination, to whom he would feel under personal obligations. Such a large number of men cannot all have offices, and three-fourths go away feeling the sting of ingratitude, and forthwith begin to pull down an Administration without regard to its merits; and one man acting from feelings of revenge is more effective than a dozen acting from motives of gratitude.

It may be said that we will lose his services upon the Supreme Bench. That is so, but he can appoint his own successor, and we will have him in a much more important and responsible position, where he may yet be called upon to save the civil liberties and property of the people of this great State. Thank God, the machinery of Government, (the primary object of which is to give protection to persons and property,) is perfect within the States. We have in Pennsylvania a Legislature, a Governor, a Judiciary and a Militia system, with a population of near three millions. Our State borders on the Northern lakes, upon the Western waters, navigable to the Gulf, and has access to the ocean by the Delaware through the port of Philadelphia; and we have a monopoly of the iron and coal trade, which will enable us to command trade upon proper terms with all our sister States, provided we have statesmen like Judge Woodward at the head of affairs, who will administer the Government, not upon the abstract dogmas of fanaticism, nor yet upon little offices, but upon great, wise and beneficent principles.

It may be said that he ought to resign and "stump the State." We do not think so. We have always thought that it lessened the dignity of the office and self-respect of the candidate, because it looks like personally soliciting votes. No one will doubt Judge Woodward's ability to do it. It is not necessary, because he has an established reputation for ability, sound principles and statesmanship, and is personally known to more people in this State than any other man in it. People look to the press for correct information respecting men and measures. As a general thing partisans alone attend political meetings, and but few can hear the speaker. And but few men have physical ability to speak in the open air in every part of this great State, and if the candidate does hold out, and is elected, his health and strength would be so much impaired as to prevent him from entering upon a calm and vigorous discharge of the duties of the office. The stern logic of events will bring all Democrats to the polls this fall much better than the logic of stump speakers, however perfect. There is a large class of quiet, conservative business men, who do not always vote on the same side, who seldom attend political meetings, who will turn out this fall and vote for Woodward. They have had enough of Abolition rule, and so has everybody. We venture to predict that by the first of October the election of Judge Woodward will be agreed to by pretty much all conservative and correct thinking men of all parties. The fanatics, contractors, and office holders will alone hold out against him.

A Singular Spectacle in Battle.

At the battle of Stone River, while the men were lying behind a crest waiting, a brace of frantic wild turkeys, so paralyzed with fright that they were incapable of flying, ran between the lines and endeavored to hide among the men. But the frenzy among the turkeys was not so touching as the exquisite fright of the birds and rabbits. When the rear of the battle-line through which the terrified flocks of little birds fluttered and circled above the field in a state of utter bewilderment, and scores of rabbits fled for protection to our men lying down in line on the left, nestling under their coats and creeping under their legs, in a state of utter distraction. They hopped over the field like toads, and as perfectly tamed by fright as household pets. Many officers witnessed it, remarking it as one of the most curious spectacles ever seen upon a battle-field.

The Vallandigham Committee in Washington.

The Washington correspondent of the Tribune writes:

The President vouchsafed nearly a half hour's interview to the committee from the Vallandigham Convention of Ohio, to-day. Congressman Pendleton, and the other members of the committee, expressed their views seriatim at what they deem the injudicious and unconstitutionally of the proceedings in the case of Vallandigham—views which they declared to be shared by men of all parties in Ohio. The President said nothing more than courtesy required in response, but readily adopted a suggestion that the committee should present their cases in writing, together with a copy of the resolutions of the convention, which they had neglected to bring with them.

A. T. Stewart's Income Tax.

[Correspondence of the Boston Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 13.

Of all the impositions they ever suffered, our rich men are beginning to find the one known as the income tax the most "intolerable and not to be endured." It is quite a question which horn of the dilemma they most dislike; the figuring up of last year's profits, the paying of the tax thereupon, or the possible publicity of the amount upon which the "horrid" three per cent. is assessed. While the people of moderate means have little trouble to tell how much they have left after paying rent and deducting the blessed six hundred, rich folks have hard work to get at the receipts of 1862 with the critical correctness suggested by the affidavit at the bottom of the Assessors blank. As an instance of this blissful ignorance, I may cite the case of A. T. Stewart, who is said to be entirely in the dark as to the amount upon which his income tax should be based, that he has credit for telling the Assessor his troubles, and adding that "he couldn't tell whether his income for 1862 was more or less than two millions but he was willing to pay the tax on that amount, as being in his opinion nearly enough correct for all practical purposes. So saying he handed over his check for the neat little sum of sixty thousand dollars! There is little room to doubt whether any other individual in the country will go into the income-tax business this year with such a looseness as the New York Merchant Prince.

Prospect of the Crops.

As a general thing the agricultural prospects of the country are good. The N. Y. Tribune says:

At the West the prospect of grain crops is mixed. In some parts of Michigan the prospect of everything is spoken of in glowing terms, while in others it is quite the reverse. It is the same in Ohio, though the tone of late is more cheerful, copious rains having fallen upon the parched earth. In Missouri the prospect never was more favorable. Some parts of Illinois has suffered severely by drouth to the permanent injury of spring wheat, which is the staple crop. Of the West generally, we think we may say the prospects are exceedingly favorable.

In St. Louis new wheat has already made its appearance in market, showing a very prime, fine berry. In Southern Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, the harvest is at hand, and the matter of a full crop well assured. It is nearly so in States further North.

The prospect of price is favorable also, for the last reports from England do not look as well for English farmers as they do for American.

OIL MARKETS.

From the Oil City Register.

As to the duration of the present or an increased price we will state that, in our opinion, it will depend entirely upon the results of the developments now in progress. Some two or three hundred wells are now being bored. By the middle of August most of the parties now mining will know their fate, and can then make a calculation as to the probable amount there will be thrown upon the market. Parties frequently ask us if we can see any good reason for the present high prices—of course we can—the best kind of reasons. We know that it requires more cash capital to handle oil than most any other product and that dealers could not afford to pay the prices that have ruled this season unless they were making some money by the operation.

CRESSON SPRINGS.

THIS DELIGHTFUL SUMMER RESort, immediately on the line of the Central Pa. R. R., and on the highest peak of the Alleghany Mountains, 2,300 feet above the level of the sea, will be open for the reception of visitors on the 10th of June, 1863, and will be kept open until the first of October.

The water and air at this point possess superior attributes. The analyses made in the laboratory of Professors Booth, Clemson and Camac, of Philadelphia, show the existence of valuable mineral elements, the waters of some of the springs being of the true chalybeate class, and others containing rarin or aperient salts. Pure mountain water abounds: and the guests will also be supplied with mineral waters from other springs, such as blue Lick, Bedford and Saratoga Waters.

Ample facilities for bathing have been provided, new plunge and douch baths of Hot and Cold Baths can at all times be obtained.

The grounds walks, &c., have been highly improved, and are of a varied and picturesque character.

There is at Cresson Springs, a Telegraph Office and two daily mails from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and intermediate points.

Tickets can be obtained at the office of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The Philosophic Burner.

HAYDEN'S NEW DOUBLE-ACTING Philosophic Burner for Carbon Oil, is now ready. It possesses many advantages over the Common Burners.

1. It makes a large or mall light with perfect combustion.
2. It will burn any quantity of oil with safety.
3. It can be used with a long or short chimney.
4. It can be used as a taper night-lamp.
5. It can always be made to burn economically.
6. It is more easily wicked than any other burner.
7. It can be trimmed and lighted without removing the shade.
8. It throws all the white light above the cone.
9. The chimney can be removed, or inserted without touching the glass.

These burners are the common No. 2 size, and can be put on any lamp now in use. Every person using Carbon Oil should have a Philosophic Burner. Price 25 cents; per dozen $2. Sold at No. 82 FOURTH street, Pittsburgh.
