WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 8

Democratic Nominations

FOR GOVERNOR, GEORGE W. WOODWARD. FOR SUPREME JUDGE, WALTER H. LOWRIE.

THE FALL OF VICKSBURG

Last evening we received from Cairo, from our friend Pollard, the following brief dispatch, corroborating the glorious announcement of the fall of Vicksburg:

Cairo, Ill., July 7th, 1863. JAMES P. BASS, Editor Post:—Vicksburg surrendered July 4th at ten o'clock, A. M.

OUR GREAT VICTORY

To the expeditionary movements of the gallant and modest Gen. Meade, are the people indebted for our late transcendent achievements at Gettysburg; to the Administration we feel indebted for his opportunities, but that is all the obligation we feel like acknowledging to them.

NEWS DIRECT FROM RICHMOND

Rebel Agents of Lee's Invasion. Confirmation of Dix's Movement in Richmond.

The Richmond Whig of July 1st exhibits our own invasion of Pennsylvania. The reasons set forth in the following passages:

General Lee has maneuvered Hooker's army out of Virginia and changed the scene of hostilities from our own soil to that of the enemy, or the equal ground of Maryland. This is a great disaster.

But, grand and overwhelming as our victory over Lee unquestionably is, it does not receive the hearty and unequalled praises of the radical press.

THE DRAFT. By an advertisement in yesterday's Dispatch, we learn that the Provost Marshal, we learn that the draft begins in this county for 2700 men to serve three years.

ADVICE TO LOYAL LEAGUERS

We direct the attention of the Loyal Leaguers of our neighborhood to the following order lately issued by the commanding officer of the Department of Ohio:

General Order No. 5, Against Secret Meetings. The peace of Indiana has lately been disturbed by the plotting and intrigues of secret societies.

Official: Rear A. H. Williams, Gen. and A. G. This is a capital rebuke to the noisy partisans of the Loyal Leagues of Pennsylvania.

Every succeeding account of the late fights at Gettysburg, shows our triumph to be more complete than could have been anticipated.

Pennsylvania Reserves

FRIDAY'S FIGHT

At six P. M. while the battle was at its height, the First and Fifth brigades of the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps, recently organized, were ordered to advance.

It was a good point of observation for an ally. To the hill, up the hill, and on top of the hill they pressed.

THE ENEMY WAS EVACUATING HIS POSITION

On a previous evening he had ordered a truce to be given and had exchanged prisoners. This had been denied him, as he had no course but to withdraw his shattered fragments.
