DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT. Died of croup. I saw last week a interesting child I saw last week! But now, alas! it is no more. Such was the conversation of two gentlemen riding down town in the cars. Dead of croup! how strange! when Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment is a certain cure, if taken in time. Now, Mothers, we appeal to you. It is not for the paltry gain and profit we make, but for the sake of your infant child that now lies playing at your feet. Croup is a dangerous disease; but as Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment is in time, and it is robbed of its terrors. Always keep it in the house; you may not want it to-night, or to-morrow, no telling when—but arm yourself with liniment you are prepared, let it come when it will. Price only 25 cents a bottle. Office 56 Cortlandt Street, New York. Sold by all Druggists. jul2-d&w1mo

Facts about Brandreth's Pills.

NEW CASTLE, Westchester Co., N. Y., Oct. 23, 1862.

Mr. G. TAS FOX BRELSON, Editor Star Sun:

Republican:

Dear Sir—I would state that I was induced to use BRANDRETH'S PILLS, through the recommendation of John R. Swift, of Croton, Westchester county, who was entirely restored to health by their use. He was sick for some two years, very dyspeptic and no help for him, but was not relieved. Finally, he took one Brandreth's Pill every day for a week, and a dose of six Pills every day for three days, and then took one Pill every day, with an occasional dose of six, one month he was able to go to work, and in three months he will gaining 40 pounds in weight.

Yours truly, EDWARD PURDY.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY, ss.:

Edward Purdy, being duly sworn, says that he resides in the town of New Castle, that some years ago he was very sick with a sore on his leg, which had been running for over five years; that he was almost distressed by pain in his chest and besides very costive and dyspeptic; that after trying various remedies and many physicians he commenced using Brandreth's Pills, six to eight times a week, and at the end of one month the sore on his leg healed, and at the end of two months he was entirely cured of dyspepsia, liver complaint and pain, and has remained well ever since.

EDWARD PURDY.

Sworn to before me, this 19th day of Oct. 1862.

DAILY POST.

Our Second Education.

The very extremity of the evils under which we now suffer is causing men every where to ponder the paths they have been treading, and day by day it grows only more and more clear that our only safety is to be found in returning to the traditions from which we have, as a nation, apostatized. We must return to the first principles of the Government—to a respect for law and order as the basis of respect for each other's rights and immunities. The law is the bond of peace as it is the bond of union, and we must be re-educated in the precepts of law and restored to acquiescence in its sanctions. So Ezra read from captivity, the "words of the law," which had fallen into forgetfulness among them while they dwelt in the strange land into which they had been led, only because of their unfaithfulness to the teachings of their own Divine Legislator.

We are to-day learners in a hard school but the whole nation will profit in the sequel by the lessons it is receiving in the fires of adversity, and as it becomes more and more imbued with that wisdom whose ways are of pleasantness and whose paths are paths of peace, it will more and more return to the spirit and temper of the fathers from whose example it has departed.

We have been reminded of this encouraging prospect—a bright outlook from the darkness that now envelopes the land—by the following reflections of Governor Seymour, of New York, as contained in a speech delivered by him on the 4th of July. He said:

"I am one of those who are full of hope for the future. Not that I underrate the dangers which threaten us; not that I do not deplore as much as any living man can the terrible ravages of this war. But why does war rage in our land? It was because the people of this generation have lost the virtues and patriotism and wisdom of their fathers. It was because we had become indifferent to those great truths which we have now laid before us, as if they were curiosities in legal literature, instead of being great truths that should be impressed upon the heart and mind of every American. I will tell you why I am full of hope that not only will our liberties be maintained, our nation restored and order once again prevail over this great land of ours. It is this: Examine yourselves, and I ask you how many men there are within the sound of my voice who knew twelve months ago what the Constitution of this country was. I do not say that you did not understand it intellectually; I do not mean to say that it was not impressed on your memory; I do not mean to say that it had not received your assent; but it was not until we were made to feel, as our fathers felt, the value of this Declaration they had put forth, that any of us could ever see the full value and significance of the Constitution of our country and the Declaration of Independence. We have accepted it as I said, mentally and intellectually, before; but why was it, when these familiar words sounded again in your ears on this occasion, as you have heard them often before on the anniversary of our country's liberty, that they stirred your very hearts within you and made your blood tingle in your veins?

"My friends, we have not now a mere intellectual knowledge of the Constitution—we do not give it as we did mental support. We have now upon that subject a vital, living piety that makes us better men and better patriots; and wherever you go all over this land you find that these sentiments now exist in the minds of more than a majority of the American people.

Do you wish for peace? Do you wish for victory? Do you wish for the restoration of our national privileges? Here lies the pathway, and let the American people once learn the full value of their liberties, as our fathers did, and the battle is fought and won. Without this, my friends, war can bring you no success—peace can give you no quiet until the American people are thus educated and elevated, and I believe they are rapidly becoming educated and elevated. But that takes place war or peace is immaterial. That is the great underlying cause of our division which have affected our land and shaken our institutions to their very centre. Remember this, that the great underlying cause of this war, I care not what particular application you may give to it, which your particular views may lead you to attribute it to, one special cause or another special cause, but there is one great underlying general cause, which must be removed before it can be restored, and that cause was indifference to our rights, indifference to our liberties, and want of proper intelligence with regard to our own country, and want of an elevated wisdom that could understand the duties of American citizenship. When you have gained this, peace will be restored; when you have gained this, all the world can see that we have gone back to the wisdom of our fathers, and that we are again sustaining institutions that invited the whole world to find shelter and protection—institutions that made us, but three short years ago, the most glorious nation on the face of the earth. Then, when we have again restored that virtue and that intelligence, our country will again be restored to its former greatness, and to its former glory. But, my friends, anything short of this will disappoint your hopes. No victory can restore greatness and glory and power to a people who are unworthy of liberty. No peace will bring back prosperity to a land which cannot understand the great principles upon which governments should be founded, and the great objects for which governments are instituted.

"Let us resolve, upon this sacred day, that we will hereafter stand by the Constitution of the country, the power of the Government, and the rights of the States, the privileges of the citizen, and the independence and the purity of the Judiciary. Whatever others may do, let us show ourselves obedient and respectful to the authorities acting within the limits of their constitutional jurisdictions, and at the same time show ourselves resolute in the maintenance of our own rights. Let us do our duty cheerfully, promptly, and faithfully. Let us demand our rights resolutely and firmly in all their fullness. He who fails to do his duty is untrue to his country. He who fails to demand his rights is false to the principles of liberty and of freedom."

Under Arrest.

The order issued some time since by Major-General Halleck forbidding officers of the army to remain in Washington without special leave, was put in vigorous force on Monday and resulted in the arrest of some dozen officers of distinction, including Generals Hooker and Naglee.

The Commander of the Union Army.

General Meade's military history has already been given to the world. His private and personal biography (which now belongs to the country that he has served so well) is briefly this:

He was born at Cadiz, the commercial metropolis of Spain, in 1816. His father, Leonard Worsam Meade, was then Consul of the United States and Navy Agent at that port, having been appointed to those offices under President Thomas Jefferson in 1800, and continued in them under Presidents Madison and Monroe.

Near the close of Monroe's administration he returned to the United States with his family. During the twenty years of his residence in Spain, Richard W. Meade became "the father of eight living children." Among those eight children was George Gordon Meade, now commanding the Army of the Potomac.

Consul Meade figured largely in the momentous events of the period of his residence in Spain. He maintained the confidence not only of successive administrations at home, but of all the various governments which, at fitful intervals, took possession of Madrid.

His services in aiding the re-establishment of the independence of Spain were acknowleged, not only by the King, the Regency, and the Cortes of the Kingdom, but by the Duke of Wellington, who, when known only by the title of Sir Arthur Wellesley, and afterwards Baron Wellington, was a personal friend and occasional visitor of Mr. Meade. The conqueror on the bloody battle field near Gettysburg has been often "borne in the arms and dandled on the knees" of the British hero of the peninsula campaigns and the subsequent victor at Waterloo.

Jeff. Davis on the Fall of Vicksburg.

The fall of Vicksburg must have the most serious consequences to the confederacy. Jeff. Davis himself being judge, its capture and the capture of Port Hudson will be a fatal blow to its prospects. In his speech to the Mississippi Legislature, made about nine months since, he said, with reference to holding the line of the river, that it was a "necessity not only "to the people on its banks, but to the "confederacy itself. Vicksburg and Port-"Hudson are points that must be defended, and efforts must be strained for the "purpose. The Confederacy must stand "or fall by the defense of the river."

General Scott held this view before the war had fairly opened, and his scheme was to confine the fighting to the river, which could be pierced from Cairo to New Orleans, as he supposed, in about eight great battles. If Davis really believes what he said to the Mississippians, he is bound to take immediate measures to bring about an honorable peace. It is monstrous to continue such a hopeless war.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

MONDAY July 13th, 1863.

The demand for oil was only moderate. Buyers seem cautious, the market being poorly supplied with Crude. From Oil City we have received no dispatches since the 8th and consequently are in the dark as to how matters are progressing there. The receipts continue light, which tends to strengthen the hands of holders. We look for light receipts as long as the Allegheny remains low, dealers being unwilling to pay the rates of freight demanded by the railroads.

The imports were quite small, viz: 1,087 bbls Crude.

The exports West only amounted to 170 bbls. No shipments East.

Lubricating—Sales 200 bbls at $7 50, which appears to be the ruling figure.

Crude—There is but little doing, as buyers and sellers cannot agree. Some dealers have withdrawn their stocks. We note sales of 110 bbls and 100 do at tank at 18c, packages returned; 450 bbls do, 18@18½c.

Refined dull; we quote nominally at 40@42c, free, 50@52c.

Benzole ranges from 21@23c for deodorized.

PITTSBURGH PRODUCE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY POST,
Monday, July 13th, 1863.

Remarks—Business for some time past has been remarkably dull. Matters, however, are beginning to brighten up. Although we have no very large sales to report yet, there is a good deal doing in small lots to meet the wants of the local trade. The river being low prevents receipts coming in through that channel. A few feet of water would be of immense benefit to us at this time.

Flour—The market continues dull with more sellers than buyers. Our dealers have a fair supply on hand. The sales were confined to lots to meet the wants of the local trade. Both East and West breadstuffs rule low and in favor of purchasers. The receipts for some time were limited, but sufficient for all ordinary purposes.

Grain—We have to notice a dull market. In fact it seems to be neglected and left out in the cold. The stock of the various kinds on hand is quite light, but sufficient for all present purposes.

Groceries—The market continues firm with a fair demand at former prices. Our dealers have an ample supply to meet all demands that may be made.

Bacon—Ohe demand has fallen off. Prices, especially for the lawer qualities, rule fully ¼ per cent lower. The supply on hand is moderately large.

Salt—Prices have advanced under an increasing demand. There is a good supply on hand just now.

Cheese—The market for some days past has been firm with a good business in new lots.

Fish firm with a slight advance from previous rates. There is a good stock on hand.

Flour—The market continues dull, the sales being few and far between. Beyond the local trade there was no demand. We never witnessed less disposition to operate. A few hundred barrels changed hands at the following rates, all from store. Extra $5 00; Extra Family, $6 25@6 50; very choice Family, $6 75@7. There was no superfine offering.

Buckwheat dull with small sales at 14@16c.

Hay in steady request, with sales at from $18 @24, new sells lower.

Shooting—Prices have materially advanced. We omit quotations.

Salt—Sales 140 bbls $2 10.

Fish—Market firm. Holders ask a slight advance; sales No. 1 Mackerel at $14; No. 2 $11; No. 3 large, $8 50@9; Baltimore Herring, $7 25.

Bacon—Sales 10,000 lbs Plain Hams, 8¼@ 8½c; 5¾@5½c shoulders.

Groceries in good demand, with a fair business doing. Among the sales we note the following:

Sugar—Sales 20 hhds Cuba 11¾ 10 hhds New Orleans 12½c; 20 bbls crushed 15½c, 25 do Coffee A, 13¾@14c; 25 do B, 14¾@14½c.

Molasses—Sales 20 bbls new crop, Orleans, 60c; sales of 25 do at 55c.

Coffee—Sales 50 sacks prime Rio at 33@33½c

Cincinnati Tobacco Market.

Sales of leaf tobacco at Bodmann's Warehouse were 7 hhds and 33 boxes as follows: 7 hhds Virginia—1 at $ 2 50, 1 at $17, 1 at $16, at $15 25, 1 at $10, 1 at $9 25, 1 at $20 25. 13 boxes Ohio at $7 and $18. 20 boxes Ohio seed leaf wrappers and fillers, ranging from $18@18 75. Receipts light.

Philadelphia Hide Market.

The Shoe and Leather Reporter for the 9th of July says:

The hide market has been inactive. The decline in gold has reduced the price of dry hides, while very few tanners have been willing to purchase at any figure. In green salted stock there has been no material change: the receipts from tanners' hands have been light and the sales from first hands to tanners have been made at former quotations.

The Philosophic Burner.

HAYDEN'S NEW DOUBLE ACTING Philosophic Burner for Carbon Oil is now ready. It possesses many advantages over the Common Burners.

1. It makes a large or small light with perfect combustion.
2. It will burn any quantity of oil with safety.
3. It can be used with a long or short chimney.
4. It can be used as a taper night-lamp.
5. It is more easily wicked than any other burner.
6. It can be trimmed and lighted without removing the cone.
7. It throws all the white light above the cone.
8. The chimney can be removed or inserted without touching the glass.

These burners are the common No. 1 size, and can be put on any lamp now in use. Every Philosophic Burner Carbon Oil should have a Philosophic Burner. Price 38 cents per dozen 62. Sold at No. 82 FOURTH street, Pittsburgh.
