DAILY POST. HOW MASSACHUSETTS WORKS IT Gov. Andrew promised that if the Pres dent would issue a proclamation of emancipation, New England would swarm with volunteers for the war. The desired doonment was issued, but no swarms arrived trom Massachusetts. On the contrary, the Springfield Republican, an Abelition paper, remarks as follows:

It would seem as though we were a very sickly and degenerated race, judging from the long lists of exempts. It is plain the Government will not get many men from this draft, and if the whole of the original quota called for is obtained, not only will another draft have to be made, which will exhaust all the first class, but the second class will be largely drawn upon also But it is more likely the Government will get what men it can from this draft, and obtain whatever more may be needed by volunteering and the payment of large bounties. The fact that New Jersey bar had permission to raise her men by volunteering would seem to point to such a conolusion.
