The Lawrence Massacre—Another Account of the Awful Tragedy.

LEAVENWORTH, August 24. The Conservative publishes the following account of the Lawrence massacre, from one of its editors, just returned from the ruins.

"We arrived in Lawrence at seven o'clock. Flying rumors had painted a terrible picture, but the reality exceeded the reports.

"We found Massachusetts street one of the most ghastly scenes I have ever witnessed. The street was a mass of smoking ruins, and the air was filled with the smell of charred wood and iron.

"Six or eight hundred, who came upon this side of the river, and who fired across every rebel who appeared upon the bank, deterred the rebels from destroying the houses near the ferry, and from cutting down the flag pole.

"Their every act during their stay in the city was characterized by the most cowardly and barbarous. They entered the town on the gallop, firing into every house, and when the occupants appeared at the door they were shot down like dogs.
