Having had a man employed for the last six years compounding the above excellent remedies for my own practice, and having used them with uncommon success in all that time, I feel it a duty to set them before the public, as my experience leads me to think they are as near specifics as any remedies well can be for the following diseases, namely: Scrofula, Coitre, Syphilis, and all diseases that arise from an impure state of the blood. It is sometimes interesting to note how closely even contemporary history repeats itself. The Washington Chronicle says: "The friends of Curtin and the Union who have left this city and vicinity, during the past week or two, for the purpose of voting the Union ticket, number over nine thousand, exclusive of soldiers."

And an exchange mentions that-"The Prussian Government has demanded that all public functionaries should actively support its candidates in the com-ing elections."

In a vast continent of Kepublics, with the Anglo-Saxon race upon the North; and mongrel, haif Latin and half Indian races to the South, it is of mutual advantage to Mexico and Brazil that the two Imperial dynastics should be in such intimate alliance with each other. The Federal Government may not be hostile to the new Mexican Empire; the Confederates may recognize it from motives of self interest; the South American Republics may have no more the will than they have the power to thwart a development of the French Emperor's policy; yet a dynastic alliance between the two Imperial houses is one of the most permanent leagues which each can have for its support by the other; and it is one to which the fortunes of the attention of the future of any one of the great reigning dynasties of Europe, even for a single generation shead of us.

Thirteen years ago the Bouroon family, were, to all appearance, firmly seated on three European thrones. Now they are banished from two of them, with no sont of probability of their ever returning to either. Some thirty years ago, what reigning house seemed more insignificant.

The ancient House of Savoy, after living for seven hundred years in hereditary insignificance has in the last four years acquired a dominion more populous, and not less powerful and important, than the kingdom of the Great Frederic. The Bonapartes have revived; and almost in their former splendor. These an other such striking dynastic changes our own generation has witnessed; and the promised extension of the dynasty of Rudolph of Hapsburg over two Imperial thrones in the. Western World presents a coincidence of fortune which should appease the shade of the Emperor Leopold I. for the transfer by Louis XIV. of the dominions of his kinsman, Charles II. of Spain, to Philip V. in the rear of the Spanish succession. To a great extent the elder branch of the Hapsburg are likely to regain the rule of the ladies which fell to their younger branch on the abdication of Charles V. What is hardly less remarkable than this extension of that Hapsburg dynasty is the character for moderation and practical statesmanship that marks the present generation of that Imperial house.
