His career on the bench has been so honorable and so satisfactory to the barthat the members of the profession voted that the members of the profession voted while it sympathized with all the finer for him, to a great extent, without distinctive lines of human testure. The memory for him, to a great extent, without distinction of party. "It is not much to the credit of our system of an elective judiciary," says the Philadelphia Age, "that one so worthy and so deserving as Judge Lowrie should lose his position at a time I lowrie should lose his position at a time of life when he is best fitted to grace it, and when a return to the active duties of his profession, if necessary, must be necessary. his profession, if necessary, must be necessarily very distasteful. The labors we impose upon our jadicial officers are of the most onerous character, and the compensation we give is pitiably inadequate, while the tenure of office is such that just as the services of a judge become of the most value, he is liable to be supplanted by another. Had it been left to those st competent to decide upon the relative fitness of the two candidates, there would have been no doubt as to Judge tanaments, and withan a t-action of Lowrie's re-election; and it should be a source of gratification to him to know that he will carry with him from the beach the esteem and regard of all who have ever appeared before him."

TROTTING MATCH AT COLLINS PARK.—On Tuesday next, November 3d, the great trotting match between "Shamrock" and "boft Soap" comes off at Collins Park. This match, it is admitted upon all hands, will be one of the most exci distanced in the last two contests, will, in the opinion of his back ers, do better under the management of Mr. contests, will, in the opinion of his backers, do better under the management of Mr. Beitler, who knows how to handle the ribbons, and bring out the enced of his horse. S. Keys enters "Soft Sorp," and we suppose he, too, will drive his own neg. There will doubtless be a very large attendance on this occasion, as the race is exciting much interest. The prize to be contested for is a premium of $400 - a and given by the rest of the sum, and worth striving after.
