

DAILY POST.

PITTSBURGH: SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1863. The Union is the Law.

Where there is no law there is no freedom.

THE PRESIDENT APPOINTING A MAJOR.

The Southern revolt against the Government is working strange innovations in every direction: even our politics are becoming revolutionized. The times are out of joint, so much so that the people appear indifferent as to their political position.

The latest development in this connection, is a recent visit of a committee of New Yorkers to Washington, to confer with the President in relation to their coming municipal election.

The President would allow Gen. John A. Dix to run for Mayor and retain, at the same time, his position in the army. The Herald's correspondent remarks upon this that the committee made their appearance at the White House, and were received by the President in the usual way.

From this it will be seen, that the Abolition politicians are not satisfied with the Administration having usurped the rights of the States: they are now willing to yield up even their municipal privileges. In Maryland bayonets were used to force an Abolition majority to Congress.

From the Richmond Examiner, Nov. 2. Yesterday the barkeepers in the city, generally, put up the price of plain whisky at one dollar and fifty cents per gallon.

From the Richmond Examiner, Nov. 2. The speculators are now masters of the situation regarding flour, a harvest of impossible to obtain. The flour should be made to come to terms, that is, to put their stores in the market.

From the Richmond Examiner, Nov. 2. The "Hent Mills," about eight miles from Newnan, in the county of Coweta, Ga., the finest in that section of country with a large amount of what is estimated at $25,000, were set on fire last week, and totally destroyed.

A Military Election Farce. From the Richmond Examiner, Nov. 2. We have repeatedly alluded to the farce of having elections held in our military camps, where the soldiers are coerced by their officers either to vote as they indicate, or to stay from the polls altogether.

THE ROUTE TO RICHMOND. When the War Department and General Halleck ordered the withdrawal of the Army of the Potomac from Harrison's Landing, General McClellan protested against the measure as the highest degree of unwise, contending that no advance could be made by any other route, and that the defence of Washington consisted in a rapid and heavy blow upon Richmond.

A Married Man Robbed with a Young Lady—He Robs His Employer. From the Louisville Democrat, Nov. 11. We were Saturday put in possession of the following facts, which are entirely reliable: A man by the name of Isham Horn, who has for some time been employed by a firm of Messrs. Hanes & Millard, in a military and naval collecting business in Snodgrass, Missouri, and who was intrusted with the money of the firm, was a short time since with a young and beautiful lady of that place, taking seven thousand dollars of his employers' money with him.

There is a firm in Elgin, Illinois, known as Gray & Lunt. Half their letters come to them directed to Lay & Grunt.

THE BOMBARDMENT OF FORT SUMNER.

The bombardment of Fort Sumner, in the Missouri river, was a most successful one, and was attended with unusual vigor, but never did so great a noise and so little attention. Perhaps it was never made with so little purpose. What the enemy expect to gain by this limitless expenditure of fixed ammunition cannot easily be imagined, unless it is the justification of a stupor, and the means of broken brick and stone. If they could strike every fragment, one by one into the water, until they had captured the fort, they would be satisfied.

Whisky Tip. From the Richmond Examiner, Nov. 2. Yesterday the barkeepers in the city, generally, put up the price of plain whisky at one dollar and fifty cents per gallon.

Escape of Mrs. Robinson, the Rebel Spy. Some time since a female named Robinson was arrested in Tennessee on charge of being a rebel spy. She was taken by a military court martial, found guilty of the charge preferred, and sentenced to imprisonment for a term of one year.

A Heroine. Among the conventional soldiers who came from Louisiana last evening, was a middle-aged woman named Mrs. Francis. She had served twenty-two months in the army as a private soldier, and was now being discharged.
