THANKSGIVING.

This day being set apart by the Presi dent of the United States and the Governor of the State as a day of thanksgiving, and our assistants like ourselves being desirous of observing it in a proper manner, we will be obliged to forego the publication of the Post to moriow. While returning thanks for our, comparatively, happy condition, let us not forget the thousands made desolate by our country's civil strife, and fervently pray that before another year rolls round, we may again be a united and happy people.

THE FUTURE OF SLAVERY.

Independent of the moral of the existence of slavery, it would have been a blessing to our people had the institution never existed among us; and it will be a day of thanksgiving and rejoicing when we hear of its final extinction in the United States. We are not prompted to these reflections, because of the borrible pictures painted of the enormities of slavery, by the fren zied imaginations of Abolitionists; bad as which distinguishes an antocratic and ab slavery unquestionably is-in its mildest form-its worst phases have never reached the depths of degradation and guilt at tributed to them by our Northern fanatical declaimers. Were the entire slave population of the South fitted for emancipation, we should be glad to see them all tranquillity can long be maintained by the arbitrary and high-handed exercise of corpus is population of the South fitted for emancispeedily die out and be forgotten. Our remove a question of agitation and con- on, have a terrible significance; and a tention, which will never be allowed to rest, so long as there is a slave within our ous it is to trifle with the inalienable right.

The great mass of the people North and even in old monarchies, boary with the South have no interest in this eternal frosts of centuries, and where ages of ac slavery question, at all. Those of the quiescence in the "divine right" of king to rule has cowed the native spirit, and trodden out the manhood of the prescriptions who make the restriction. those who make the most out of it, in dol- tive subject, how much more prolife my lars and cents. Those in the North who it be in this respect in an infant Republic are most clamorous against it, are persons ditions and historic annals are all arrays who care nothing for the slave, their sym pathies for his condition extending no er, and where freedom is worshipped as further than how it will effect his party. the common birth right of every curzed.

One set—the slave owners—desire to they will, to discover that the Federal they will, to discover that the Federal extend and perpetuate the system, Government is their natural enemy-that as a means of making money, while instead of keeping within its legitimate our Northern agitator denounces it orbit, and attending to the duties prein order that he may ride into scribed by the Constitution, it constantly transgressess those bounds to harass and power and consequence. We do not oppress them, they will no longer look of course, in these remarks, mean that all upon it as worthy their esteem and sup those who declaim against slavery are port, but turn their eyes to their respebypocritical; we allude exclusively to tive State Governments, as the only refuge

As long as the Southern slavery propa-gandists, were supposed to be all power-ful in the counsels of the nation, we saw ful in the counsels of the nation, we saw States, it can have no existance. how subservient to them were many leading Northern Statesmen.
