ThomasiA Scott, from New Orleans on the Sth, has arrived The New Orleans Information has been received from head-quarters that the rebel works at Port Caquarters that the rebel works at Port Cavillo, Texas, have been captured by our forces. Not a man was lost on our side. Port Cavillo and the captured works are situated on the point of a peninsula which separates Mattagords Bay from the Gulf. The possession of this point closes the entrance to the Bay, and gives the Union army command of several important places. A short distance back from the bay is Victoria, and several other works, all of which are open to the occupation of our which are open to the occupation of our troops. A large quantity of cotton had accumulated at Victoria at the time of the capture of Brownsyille, and as there was no chance of the owners getting it out of the country and no means of requesting it. the country and no means of removing except by the slow process of ox teams,
