The Reply of Switzerland to the The following is a translation of the fficial text of the Swiss reply to the Emperor Napoleon.

BERNE, Nov. 23, 1863

Sire-We have received with lively inerest the letter in which your Majesty in-ities the Swiss Confederation, with the overeigns and governments of other States to a great international congress. Your Majesty calls attention condition of various countries, and points out the dangers to general peace visible upon nearly all sides. You propose to regulate the present and secure the future efore irresistable events hurry governments away in opposite directions.

The Swiss Confederation—to which naure as well as history and treaties has assigned a neutral position in the midst of Europe—knows how to appreciate all the benefits of peace. It understands the nestimable value of a free and reciprocal consecration of the rights and duties of

We can only, therefore, accept with eager ness the overture your Majesty has deign d to make. Existing treaties proclaim the inviola-polity, the neutrality and independence of our territory. The clauses referring thereto have not been affected, and the people—scrupulously observing their in-ternational obligations—have maintained
