DEMOCRATIC STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

The Democratic State Central Committee are requested to meet at the MERCHANTS HOTEL, in the city of Philadelphia, on WEDNESDAY, the 13th day of JANUARY NEXT at 10 o'clock p. m.

ITEMS.

The troubles in India are assuming alarming proportions. U. S. Senator BOWEN, of Virginia, died in Washington city lately of small-pox.

The great ship canal between the lakes and the Mississippi will be urged upon Congress.

A contemporary complains that $60,000, 000 annually are wasted in firing military salutes.

The inauguration of Governor CURTIS, of Pennsylvania, will take place on the 14th inst.

Gen. DAN'S headquarters are now at Matagorda. He commands all the forces in Texas.

No sweeping change is likely to be made in the tax bill by Congress.

Some articles the tax will be increased. There is as yet no certainty that General SCOTFIELD will be relieved from his command.

Gen. HERRON has been assigned to the command of the district embracing the frontier bordering on the Rio Grande.

The doctors are recommending whisky both as a cure and preventive of diphtheria. The remedy will be immensely popular.

A revolutionary manifesto had been placarded in the principal town of Hungary. KOECHER was at the head of the movement.

The first anniversary of President LINCOLN'S emancipation proclamation was celebrated in Boston by a salute of one hundred guns.

KING and HERRON have appeared before magistrates for breaking the peace, and are bound over to appear at the Quarter Sessions.

Gen. AVRELL is suffering severely from having his feet frozen during the late war. For two days he had to walk in sheepskin shoes.

The Richmond correspondent of the London Times admits the fact that the blockade of the South is now very perfect.

An expedition of three negro regiments, one white regiment and a battery of artillery, under Gen. ULLMAN, has gone to the mouth of Red River.

The London Times has intimated that the Archduke MAXIMILIAN will not accept the Mexican crown, and that NAPOLKON will have to cast about for some one else.

A writ of mandamus has been served on the Auditor of Indiana by the U. S. District Court to compel the payment of the interest on the confiscated Indiana State bonds.

Gen. ROSENBAUM has received no official notification of his appointment to the Missouri Department, and the probabilities are that he will not be assigned to that command.

NAPOLKON, in response to the address voted him by the French Senate, asserted that he was actuated solely by good and pacific motives in his proposition for a Congress.

A recent article in the Richmond Whig estimates the amount of cotton at present within the limits of the Confederacy at 8,000,000 bales, of which the rebel Government owns about 300,000 bales.

The Federal loss in the recent affair at Charleston, East Tennessee, was fourteen wounded and one missing. Five Confederate officers were captured and one hundred and twenty six men.

The experience of this war has established the fact that iron-clad vessels, while all powerful as compared with the old fashioned wooden gunboats, are unequal combatants in a contest with common jacks or sand bars.

The gunboat HURON recently captured the blockade running steamer Chatham, near the mouth of the Altamaha River, with a cargo of over 300 bales of cotton. The vessel is a fine steamer of 300 tons, estimated to be worth $100,000.

We don't wish to alarm people, but one of those everlasting searchers for spots on the sun has discovered the fact that luminosity is as thickly covered with spots as though it were marked with the small pox, sufficient to impair its business capacity for lighting and warming about one per cent.

A new church edifice, costing one hundred thousand dollars, has just been completed in San Francisco, for Rev. STARR KIRK. There is a debt of $6,000 on the building, and the pastor would not proceed in it till the debt was paid, which created a great sensation.

An accomplished English lady, in a recent contribution to FAZZER'S Magazine, says: "If any time I needed to find a gentleman who should aid me in my little difficulties of travel, or show me a kind word with that consideration of a woman which is the true tone of many courtesy, then I should desire to find a North American gentleman. They are simply the most kind and courteous of any people."

Secretary Cass strenuously insists on limiting the appropriation by Congress to the means of the Government, and in providing by taxation for every dollar appropriated beyond the amount, which can certainly be obtained by loans, and that without too largely increasing the public debt. He also assures the finance committee of Congress that an increase of expenditures by additions to salaries or other compensation can only result in disappointment, unless the means to meet the increase are provided by the same legislation which allows it.

RADICAL UNION LEAGUES.

The Radicals of Massachusetts, last summer inaugurated what they styled Radical Union Leagues, the object of which was and is the total eradication of slavery in the United States.

These societies are spreading, not only in Massachusetts and New England, but throughout the northern states. So formidable have they become as to boast their ability to carry the next Presidential election. The oath required to be taken by initiates into this select council is as follows:

"I, A. B., do solemnly swear, (or affirm,) in the presence of three witnesses, that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the United States since I support, protect, and defend the Constitution and Government of the United States, and that I will defend the same to the last drop of my blood, or to the last breath of my life."

It is not necessary to say that the oath is a very solemn one, and that it is not to be taken lightly. It is a pledge of the most sacred kind, and one which will be held sacred by every man who takes it.

The oath has been taken "with the clearest and purest hearts, and with the most solemn and devout feelings." It is a pledge of the most sacred kind, and one which will be held sacred by every man who takes it.

THE ROAD TO RICHMOND.

Seven months ago, when Gen. McClellan was ordered to leave Harrison's Landing and the Peninsula, he wrote the following letter to Gen. Halleck, every line of which has been re-read in these seventeen months with regard to showing the correctness of McClellan's declaration that the road to Richmond was by way of the Peninsula and the James river.

"I have been thinking of you very much lately, and of the great part you have taken in the late war. I have been thinking of you very much lately, and of the great part you have taken in the late war.

"I have been thinking of you very much lately, and of the great part you have taken in the late war. I have been thinking of you very much lately, and of the great part you have taken in the late war.

ADMINISTERING THE CONSTITUTION.

Mr. Madison said that the difference between Hamilton and Jefferson consisted in this—that the former sought to administer the Constitution into what he thought it ought to be, and the latter sought to administer it as it was.

Such an assumption was clearly not constitutional. Congress has as much authority as to pay the debt of Massachusetts as to pay the debt of Great Britain. The project was defeated in a small majority.

So high were the feelings on the subject that on its rejection business was suspended; Congress met and adjourned without doing anything, and the eastern members returned home in a state of indignation.

Hamilton, in despair, appealed to Jefferson. That great man, by his influence, procured the change of the vote from Virginia and saved the Union. The location of the seat of Government on the Potomac was used as the reason of the compromise.

This administration, from the President to the humblest official, from the Senator to the man in the street, has been a constant effort to administer the Constitution into what he thought it ought to be.
