H. R. PATSON, Gen. Passg. Agt. Jan. 25th 1864.

When will Allegheny County Awake to her Duties?

By a recent decision of the War Department a veteran who re-enters service for the war are to be credited with wages, bounties and township in which they re-enlist. Thousands of these who have been induced to re-enlist under the promise of receiving large extra bounties, raised by municipal action and individual subscriptions. We hear every day of these who have re-enlisted and have been induced to re-enlist under the promise of receiving large extra bounties, raised by municipal action and individual subscriptions.

Highway Robbery.

A bold highway robbery took place on Sunday morning about 4 o'clock in the neighborhood of Clinton Mill on the opposite side of the Monongahela river. It appears that as Mr. J. C. Bloomer was on his way home at the hour referred to he was overtaken by a man who walked with him a short distance when a stone was thrown by some one on the side of the road, and the stranger alleged had been driven like sheep to conscript barracks?

A Remarkable Exhibition Coming to Pittsburgh Next Week.

The Great Exhibition, known as the Miltonian Tabernacle, for which the past six months has been exhibited in the various cities of the East, will visit this city next week and show at Masonic Hall for a short time. This great work is getting up in London, England, at an expense of $60,000, and is a complete illustration of Paradise Lost, and Paradise Lost, and Paradise Lost, and Paradise Lost.

Hay Market.

The Chronicle of Saturday publishes an article complaining of the high price of hay, in which it reflects on the weaver (Mr. Boyd) for his "thoughtless answers" in giving the state the price of hay, which it thinks has a tendency to keep up the market. Mr. Boyd is not placed there to keep a record of the prices of hay, but to weigh it, and to report the price of hay, and to report the price of hay, and to report the price of hay.

An Interesting Question.

In the District Court, yesterday morning, Messrs. Judge Lowrie and J. H. Hopkins, esq., applied for a rule on Sheriff Stewart to require him to bring into court certain papers which were in possession of the late Sheriff Woods at the time of his death. Of the amount involved in these writs we are not informed, but that the case represented by Messrs. Lowrie and Hopkins the amount at stake is several thousand dollars. Application had been made for the return of the writs to Sheriff Woods, and the present application was made to compel Sheriff Stewart to bring them into court. Judge Williams granted the rule, requiring Sheriff Stewart to return the papers in the possession of Sheriff Woods at the time of his death into court on Saturday next, at ten o'clock.

We acknowledge the receipt of a very beautiful piece of music from Messrs. Wamelink & Barr, composed by our young townsman, Mr. Herman Th. Knabe, entitled "Thy Mother will rock thee to sleep"—answer to the popular song of "Thy Mother will rock thee to sleep." Mr. Knabe has composed and published a number of Musical Gems, and it will be often favor the Musical public with his acceptable contributions. Messrs. Wamelink & Barr, No. 28, Clair st., have the above and all the popular Songs and Music of the day for sale.

Returned.—A soldier named Jackson, an old Pittsburgher had his pocket picked at Tribble's Varieties on Friday night, and on Saturday advertised his loss, stating that the pick-pocket was welcome to all the money in the wallet (a small amount) but desired him to return his bag full of gold. On Monday he received the coveted amount. He says that if the light shined on him he would have been a few more greenbacks left.

New Law Firm.—The public are informed by a card in another column that Messrs. T. J. Keenan and J. D. Hancock have entered into co-partnership in the practice of the Law—office, 81 Diamond street. Hamburg Agricultural Exhibition.

Hon. Joseph A. Wright, who was sent to Hamburg as Commissioner and part of the United States to the late International Agricultural Exhibition, has made his official report to the President. From this report it appears that the American exhibition was eminently successful. Twenty five medals and diplomas were awarded to American contributors, among whom, as we noticed in a previous issue, were our enterprising fellow citizens, H. & S. Speer, for their celebrated plows. Commissioner Wright in his report to the President says:

We are proud to see our unparalleled success, and we may well say we are proud of the success of the Old World in the exhibition, in its adaptation to the wants of the people, in cheapness and utility in the great reaping machines of the day—threshers, mowers, reapers, grain-crushers, plows, &c. &c. Yet a few days witnessing the steam-plows and steam-machines in operation upon the national fair ground at Hamburg would induce you to say we were behind many of them in the application of steam to agriculture.

Whatever the wants of the present day may be, the time is not far distant when many portions of our country will require this wonderful element; if we shall fully develop the hidden resources of our rich but unproductive soil, so that it shall produce the necessities of the world, it will be a great benefit to our country. It is not our duty to neglect the present, but to provide for the future. It is not our duty to neglect the present, but to provide for the future. It is not our duty to neglect the present, but to provide for the future.
