

PITTSBURGH, TUESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 2, 1864. ANOTHER ERA OF GOOD FEELING.

When the Southern rebellion first alarmed the country from its propriety, by daring to fire upon Fort Sumter, we all remember with what unanimity our citizens responded to the call for volunteers to put down the treason.

Among those who labored most industriously to prove that the Democratic party of Pennsylvania was a disloyal organization, in sympathy with Jeff Davis, was ex-Governor JOHNSON, of our county.

With other admirers of the Governor's, we rejoice to see that the bitterness exhibited by him during the late campaign, has entirely consumed itself, and that a sweet and liberal feeling is taking its place.

It is these days of fierce fanaticism, extravagance and folly, it is refreshing to meet with such sound and sensible suggestions as are contained in the late circular of the Comptroller of the currency.

From New Orleans.—The steamer Empire City brings New Orleans news to the 18th instant. The New Orleans Times says: "At its meeting on Friday night the Free State General Committee memorialized Gen. Banks, praying him to so far elect for a State convention, as well as for State officers, on the 23d proximo."

of it being doubled, is evidence of unparalleled prosperity. The Pittsburgh Commercial goes even further than this, and is so engaged as to suggest the suggestion as to call upon the government for his removal, because of his being in sympathy with "Southern" interests.

The mistake made by McClellan in this circular is, that he said nothing about Abolitionism; a little spice of that would have rendered it acceptable, as it is, but the utterance of a "disloyal man." To what inconceivable extremes do these fanatics allow themselves to be carried, by their one idea? Their lunacy is extreme and intense, having no method in it whatever, while in the simplest proposition—that madness not rendered palpable by abolition—sees more devils than vast hell can hold.

PAID THE INTEREST. Yesterday, February 1st, the State Treasurer, Hon. W. V. M'GRATH, paid the semi-annual interest on our State debt, amounting to about One Million Six Hundred Thousand Dollars, under the act of 1840, providing for the payment in gold or its equivalent.

AFFECTION OF THE ARMY FOR McCLELLAN. An officer of the regular army, just returned from the Army of the Potomac, has given some interesting particulars of Major General McClellan's conduct, which rendered it more dangerous. This, of course, had its effect, for the ex-Governor has campaigned sufficiently to know what he best calculated to impress his hearers.

It is not charged that Mr. VAN DEUSEN approves of Bishop HOPKINS' pamphlet, but he does not deny that he ever said previously to the signing of the Protest—no one charges him with exercising politics privately—no one alleges that he voted against either CURTIS or LEXINGTON, or that he ever voted at all—his entire protest, prolix and all, expressed by solemn resolve their "entire confidence" in his loyalty to the Government of the United States.

POLITICS AND RELIGION. St. Peter's Church. To the Editor of the Post-Pittsburgh: It is a communication written for this paper some two months ago, in regard to the unhappy interference in the recent State election, by Bishop POTTER and certain of his clergymen, I used these words:

And now, Bishop POTTER, having "won the war" of his "indignant reproaches" in a moment of weakness and feeble passion, must reap the reward of his unjust duty, the whitening of his hands and disavowal among the people committed to his charge.

The pamphlet signed by four of the vestry of St. Peter's Church, and which the Rector says they have no alternative but to publish, constitutes the first and chapter recording the truth of this prediction, and I proceed to notice it with any feeling but gratification.

The pamphlet states that about "two weeks before our last State election," "Bishop POTTER drew up a document protesting against Bishop HOPKINS' Bible view of slavery," which was "sent to all the Clergymen in the Diocese, accompanied by a request to all who should receive it, to sign and return it 'immediately.'"
