Dr. Geo. H. Krysla.—I became afficted with Piles about twenty years ago, and every year hey were growing worse, so as to trouble me very much, so much so at times as to unit me for work. Sometimes! was so bad that I could not do anything on account of them. I used to buy am take whatever I could hear of or read of in cityulars and pamphlets that fell in my way, but I could not get cured, sometimes they would not get cured, sometimes they would not get well. Over a year ago! got an advertlasement of your Linday? Blood Searcher, made by yourself—when you sold it to Search. I show a some mediate but it would not do, I could not get well. One stanza of this valorous bard's "Hymn" will suffice as a specimen:
"Slay thou our foes or turn them to derision, Then in the bloodered Valley of Decision Make the land green with peace, as in a vision." (!)

We would suggest to Friend Tilton (of course he is a Quaker pro tein.) an additional verse, to be inscribed to those of his fellow conscripts of whom the Government "asked life," and who hadn't three hundred dollars to give in lieu thereof:

Fight you poor devils! slay the traitors who which at once attracted public strengton, which at once attracted public strengton,

Fight you poor devils! slay the traitors who hemp shun,
While I, in the soft-cushioned Seat of Exemption, Peacefully shout for the nigger's redemption."

The reflection on the Massachusetts troops contained in the line which we italicise is not the only noticeable thing in the ditty of the "Dog."

Economic of the massachusetts that the existence of rich logis of argential and as winter, with its early shows, came on in that latitude in November existor.

General Fremont. Writes to Major General Schenck, chairman of the House Military Committee, that he requested to be relieved from the army of Virginia because he "regarded the order which reduced him to serve under Gen. Pope as an unweited insuit;" that lines then he has been awaiting orders, that he was once promised a command but "A prophet's soul in fire came down
To live in the voice of Old John Brown;
The eye of God looked down and saw
A just tife lostby an unjust law."

The blasphemous freedom with which the Abolitionists use the sacred names of God, Lord and Christ is not the least remarkable thing in their literature.
