Important Order.

Major General Brooks yesterday received by telegraph the following highly important order. Although it was generally believed here that such a course would be adopted by those in authority at Washington, this is the first official order received, and sets the matter at rest. But to the order, which speaks for itself:

WASHINGTON, March 3, 1864.

To Major General W. T. H. Brooks, commanding Department of the Monongahela.

Credits will be given for all recruits raised up to the day of draft.

(Signed) JAMES B. FRY,
Provost Marshal General.

The Draft.—In the event that Provost Marshal General Fry does not make any new decision, there would seem to be no doubt that the draft will take place on the 10th, in those districts behind in their quotas on the 1st inst. Orders from the Provost Marshal General to this effect have been issued, with the clause, however, that where volunteers may enlist before the 10th the various boards of enrollment are authorized to allow the districts in which they may enroll themselves due credit. This gives those wards behind in their quotas another chance to "get out of the draft," and if they are wise they will make the most of it. In some of the districts but few additional men are required, but in others it is different, and no effort having made to obtain volunteers, the conscription will be at once sweeping and severe. Yet with the proper exertions it seems to us every district in the county may escape the draft.

The Birmingham Homicide.—The investigation of the cause which led to the death of Frederick Zimmerman in Birmingham, a report of which appeared in our paper, was brought to a close yesterday. Coroner McClung did all in his power to discover the parties engaged in the homicide, but without avail. It was shown that the man had been waylaid and brutally beaten by three persons, but no evidence could be discovered as to who the assailants were, and so far their identity is as much of a mystery as that of the parties who perpetrated the recent Rattigan murder in this city, about which so many speculations were rife at the time. The jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death from blows inflicted on his head at the hands of some person or persons, to them unknown.

The 28th Regiment.—As we stated yesterday, the main body of the 28th Regiment left on Thursday for the Army of the Cumberland. We learn since that Co. H. Captain G. B. U. Martin, started to-day to rejoin the regiment. Co. H. was raised in this city, and is the only Pittsburgh company in the Regiment. The boys after enjoying their thirty days furlough, during which they were greatly improved in health, are eager to get away to the front that they may once more engage the enemy and earn fresh laurels in the coming conflict. We may add that Capt. Martins company was one of the first, if not the very first, in the Army of the Cumberland to re-enlist as veterans for the war.

Labor on Fortifications.—A Washington dispatch states that Hon. J. K. Morehead got through the House, which is understood to apply particularly to Pittsburgh, a resolution instructing the Committee on Claims to inquire into the expediency of reporting a bill to provide for the payment of labor performed and materials used in the construction of forts, fortifications, rifle-pits and other defences constructed by the direction of the War Department, and under the superintendence of the engineers and other officers of said department; also for the payment of damages to property and crops in consequence.

Destructive Fire.—We learn that a very destructive fire occurred yesterday by which ten thousand barrels of oil, in tanks, were destroyed, at the Maple Shade Oil Well, on Oil Creek. The oil had been purchased by some New York dealers in the tanks, and they were making arrangements for its removal when the fire occurred. The loss which is a heavy one, will, therefore, fall entirely upon the parties who had purchased the oil, and the proprietor of the well will only sustain the loss of the tanks.

Yankee Hill's Opera Troupe.—This company continues to draw crowded houses at Masonic Hall. To-morrow afternoon there will be a grand matinee for the benefit of ladies and children. See advertisement.

The Chili Catastrophe.

When the first news of the Chili catastrophe reached this country, we expressed a doubt as to the exactness of some of the details of the account, which represented the clergy as inhuman monsters. Now, we are able to lay before our readers proof positive of the falsehood of the accusations against the priests of Santiago. The Monde, a well informed paper of Paris, makes the following statements:

"We find in a journal printed in Santiago on the 16th December, that there were in the church of La Compania, when the fire began, but two Priests and four Minor Clerics. One of the Priests, who has lost two of his sisters in the fire, was dragged from the curch by some laymen, who took him fainting into a neighboring house; the other did not leave the church, and when he saw that he could not save any one, he stood at one of the doors to give them the last Absolution. OUT OF FOUR MINOR CLERICS, THREE PERISHED. The only objects saved from the sacristy, which was the last to be reached by the fire, were saved by a young man called Guevara, who did so of his own accord, without being requested by any one. THE DOOR OF THE SACRISTY WAS NOT CLOSED, and several persons saved themselves through it. As soon as the terrible news spread through the city, all the Priests went with the Archbishop to the church. If they did not go into the church, it was because it was impossible to do so; but they spent the whole night in attending on the persons who were only wounded, and comforting those who were in a state of distraction at the loss of their relations.

"As to the odious insinuations directed against the women of Santiago, we read the following letter in the same journal, from a mother, who protests, in the name of her country women, of the honor of her sex, of her country and religion:—'Are we, then, we Chilian women, prostitutes, who only go to church to seduce our priests instead of offering our prayers to God? Is it true that we take what is dearest to us, our own daughters, to devote them to infamy? Husbands, who do not doubt of the fidelity of those you have lost; fathers, who mourn for daughters whose virtue, no less than their beauty, was the joy of your hearts, join us in rebutting so foul a calumny; show to the base calumniators that a woman's honor is more precious than her life.'

"There are in Santiago so-called Liberals, Catholics become Free Masons, who wish to take advantage of this disaster to insult religion, and who now proclaim that the church now burned down should never be rebuilt; as if the only consolation now left to the survivors was not that of seeing the Holy Sacrifice offered on the very spot where their friends and relations perished. The writer of the letter quoted above says: 'We hope that some new Edras will raise up again these sad ruins, and enable us to pray in that church for our calumniators, for our dear sisters, who breathed their last while supplicating us not to forget them.'"

From this any one can see that in this appalling calamity the priests endeavored simply to do their duty, and exhibited neither fanaticism nor cruel indifference. It is true that every one appears to have been bewildered, and that proper energy might have saved some of the victims; but for this the clergy alone are not to blame; the men who escaped by a side door on their side of the church seemed to have been paralyzed by fear or bewilderment.—Pittsburgh Catholic.

Capt. John Cassels.

The following notice of this old Pittsburgher, copied from The New Regime, a paper just started at Norfolk, Va., will be read with pleasure by his numerous friends, as it gives the pleasing assurance that the Captain has lost none of those graceful proportions which used to be their especial admiration—somewhat clouded, however, with the sad reflection that his "build" was slightly apoplectic. The Captain is a brave and efficient officer, and we trust his "lease of life" may be a long one, and his waist never grow less:

"Capt. John Cassels, the Provost Marshal, in those incipient proportions which promise an American version of the great English Falstaff. Like all "fat men," he is good-natured and obliging. And for one so heavy, he is the most active being, perhaps, on the Point. There he goes up Baltimore Dock, with a handful of papers from headquarters and all quarters, and a head full of orders for his busy assistants, see him now squeezing his huge form through the narrow postern on his way to the Commanding General. His business is soon over with that busy functionary, and in a trice we will see him amongst we will find him in his office, surrounded by a mixed crowd, seeing mixed knowledge under difficulties, which are soon removed. His is a happy mind, methinks, which can forever beam so brightly."

Theatre—Neafie's Benefit.—This evening has been set apart for a benefit to the talented American tragedian, Mr Neafie, upon which occasion will be presented the popular play of the "Corsican Brothers," with "The Ghost." Mr Neafie has no superior in this piece, and as "The Ghost" will be introduced in the principal tableaux the inducements to witness it will be very strong. "Don Cæsar De Bazan" is the afterpiece. Mr Neafie is a fine actor, an agreeable gentleman, and deserves an overflowing audience to-night. Seats can be secured at the box office during the day.

Filled.—The borough of South Pittsburgh has more than filled its quota, having paid bounty to and received credit for some fifty-two volunteers. Although South Pittsburg was among the last to enter the field in filling the quota of the county, the district is among the first to furnish its complement of men. The citizens of the borough deserve credit for their liberality and the energy displayed in providing means and men to relieve their sub-district from the impending draft.

Lecture.—Bayard Taylor lectures here this evening on "Rnssia and the Russians." He is decidedly one of the most gifted and popular lecturers before the public, and we feel satisfied he will have a tremendous audience. The lecture will be entirely new to the people of Pittsburgh, and will abound with interesting information on the subject of which the lecturer proposes to treat. See notice in another column.

Broke Jail.—We learn that on Sunday night last Aaron Conner and Thos. E. Whitefield, confined in the Greensburg jail, succeeded in making their escape from that institution. Connor was sentenced for nine months for larceny, and had already served three months of his term. Whitefield was awaiting trial on a charge of arson. No traces of the fugitive have yet been discovered.

Killed in a Coal Mine.—George Beck, a miner engaged at the coal mines at Larimer's Station, was so severely injured on Wednesday morning of last week that he died on the Saturday evening following. He was digging coal at the time, when a large lot of "horse back" fell on him, crushing him in a horrible manner. He was a resident of Ligonier Valley, and leaves a young wife.

Time for Government Bounties Extended!—We learn that special dispatches were received in this city last evening stating that a bill had passed both Houses of Congress extending all the Government Bounties until the first day of April. This is as it should be, and will be good news to all those subdistricts behind with their quotas.

Counterfeits.—Well executed counterfeit $5 notes on the Southbridge Bank are in circulation.

$240 Local Bounty.—We call attention to a notice in another column offering $240 local bounty. Here is an opportunity for our young men who wish to join the army. The men volunteering can chose any regiment they may desire. Call, then, at No. 26 Fifth street, and secure the bounty.

Off for the Front.—Knap's Battery, now commanded by Capt. J. D. McGill, left yesterday for the Army of the Cumberland. The boys seemed anxious to get away, that they might win new laurels in the coming conflict. We shall ere long hear from them.

Spunky.—Senator Lowry, of Erie, says he will vote for Clymer for Speaker of the Senate, if Mr. Penny resigns for a re-election. If Lowry is in earnest Penny will not resign.

Falling Off.—According to the report of the Assessor of Water Rents, 151 new buildings were erected in 1863—10 less than in 1862.

Bounty Fund.—The total amount of money thus far collected in the Second ward, Allegheny, for bounty purposes is $15,039.50.

Good.—Sharpsburg has filled her quota under both calls, and has two or three over

Special to the Post.

HARRISBURG, March 3, 1864.—Democrats in the Senate still refuse to recognize organization and do not present petitions or bills, and refuse to act on committees. They maintain their original position that the Senate cannot be organized agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, until it has elected a Speaker. Four bills passed since St. Clair has taken his seat, being an average one each session, and they passed under the lash of the previous question. They are joint resolutions instructing Senators to vote for reconsiderind the vote on extending time for paying bounties. A joint resolution instructing Senators and Representatives in Congress to vote increase pay. Privates and non-commissioned officers act to appoint two additional Notaries in Philadelphia, and act to compel the Erie Canal Company to build and repair bridges.

It is thought Penney will resign to-morrow and immediately be elected. If not one or two bills a day will stretch the session to the middle of next summer.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—This afternoon's Star says: We have late and interesting information from the front to the effect that Gen. Kilpatrick with a force of picked cavalrymen has arrived at the White House, and formed a junction with a force sent up by Gen. Butler from the Peninsula. These statements are based upon the fact that two of Gen Kilpatrick's scouts have come back and made the above report. The report is believed in the army of the Potomac. Kilpatrick is thus within a few miles of Richmond, and as Gen. Butler is co-operating with him we may expect to hear of startling news from that quarter in a day or two, on his route to the White House. Gen. Kilpatrick having orders to avoid meeting any large force of the rebels.

After he had left the front another party of 800 picket men were sent out to communicate with him. They, however, met a rebel force, and as their orders were not to fight if a battle could be avoided, they moved towards the east and the commander not striking the direct road came upon a party of rebels near Fredericksburgh, captured them, burnt their camp, destroyed a quantity of valuable army stores and proceeded on their way to join Kilpatrick.

The Star says that last evening the steamer Harvest Moon, Acting Volunteer Lieut. J. D. Warren commanding, arrived at the Navy Yard from Charleston Bar, having left there on Saturday night last, and bringing up Admiral Dahlgren and staff of the South Atlantic squadron. When they left the bar everything was quiet with the exception of some excitement about torpedoes. None have, however, been seen since the Housatonic was blown up, but as a precautionary measure feudets are put out around the different vessels nightly. When the Harvest Moon arrived in the Potomac yesterday there was no pilot at hand, and Admiral Dahlgren volunteered for the duty and took his position in the pilot-house, bringing the ship safely up to the navy yard. Commander Rowan was left in command of the fleet.

HALIFAX, March 3.—Steamer Canada has arrived from Liverpool with dates to the 20th ult., and telegraphic dispatches to the 21st. The Australasian arrived out on the 19th. The rebel steamer Georgia has left Brest. There was a vague rumor that France intends soon to recognize the Southern Confederacy. The German forces have entered Jalland. The Paris Bourse was flat; rentes 66f 35c. The Arch Duke Maximillian will visit the Courts of Brussells, Paris and Windsor before leaving for Mexico. Consols closed on Saturday at 90¾. The fall in the funds was owing to the tone of Lord Palmerston's speech on Friday evening, and increasing fears of further complications arising out of the Danish war. The channel squadron in Tagus is ordered to return to England, and assemble in Portland Roads to await further orders.

A cabinet council was held at London on Saturday. It had been hastily summoned the previous night. The French policy appears to be settling in favor of Denmark, and some of the journals utter warnings to Prussia.

The Paris correspondent of the Times says that Napoleon will not fail any opportunity given him to march troops to the Rhine. Little credence is attached to the reported intention of France to recognize the Confederacy. All was quiet at Daffelu on the 19th. In consequence of a circuitous movement of the Germans, the Danes were compelled to evacuate Kalding. In Jalland a cavalry engagement subsequently took place without decisive results.

Twelve Austrian men-of-war are ordered to sea to protect the German merchantmen.

Lord Palmerston on Tuesday and Friday night spoke strongly as to the Austrian and Prussian invasion of Schleswig, and was loudly cheered. He declined saying what he would do if the Germans entered Jalland. M. Mecir, formerly British Consul at New Orleans, died recently in England.

The Germans were repulsed on the 18th, in a general attack on the whole line of the Danish position.

The Canada arrived with her machinery slightly disabled by an accident when two days from port. She has 46 passengers for Boston, at which port she will be due on Saturday. She spoke on the 20th the Australasian going into Liverpool. A Danish frigate in the English Channel had overhauled a large number of vessels.

CAIRO, March 3.—A rumor comes from Vicksburg, by the steamer Mississippi from New Orleans, of Sherman having returned to Meridian, and had gone in the direction and was within forty miles of Mobile. There is no dates given and report cannot be traced to a reliable source.

Adjutant General Thomas leaves here to-day for Memphis.

MEMPHIS, March 3.—The United States revenue cutter, Iniami, has been ordered to St. John's, N. B. to receive the pirates captured on the Chesapeake. they having been handed over to the Consul. She will also convey the Chesapeake to this port.

CAIRO, March 2.—By the arrival of the steamer Empress, we have New Orleans dates to the 23d. The total vote of the State, as far as received, is 9,263. Hahn's majority over Fellowes, 3,542; over Flanders, 3,525; over both, 1,737. The other candidates of the Free State ticket are elected by about the same majority.

The clerk of the steamer Pringle informs me that while that steamer was on a foraging expedition on Johnson's plantation, near Tecouah landing, five miles above Grand Lake, Mississippi, on the 14th inst., a band of sixty well mounted guerrillas, dressed in Federal uniforms, surprised a company of the first Mississippi infantry, colored, who were standing guard about a mile and a half from the main body of the foraging party, capturing and disarming them and before assastance could be rendered all were killed or mortally wounded, except two who feigned death—Lieut. Cox and Sergeant Spencer. They were ordered to strip them, and assert that some of the negroes were pinned to the ground with bayonets, others had their brains knocked out while others were shot through the head while on their knese begging for mercy.

The guerrillas escaped without loosing a man. After our dead were buried, the princely mansion, around which a guard was posted and no one allowed to enter previous to the sloughter of our troops, was fired and the building with its magnificent furniture consumed. Four thousaud bushels of corn were taken from a crib containing about fifteen thousand bushels; when the foraging party returned to Vicksburg.

Four hundred guerrillas, of which the murderers were part were reported by citizens to be encamped a short distance back in the country. The steamer Golden Eagle from Memphis for Cincinnati, passed with 569 bales of cotton. Memphis cotton market is active at 65 for good middling; 64 for strictly do; 62@63 for middling.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A large batch of very late and interesting rebel papers has reached the office of the Chronicle. The news is very important, and is in brief as follows: The Richmond papers announce with hardly concealed regret the appointment of General Braxton Bragg to the commander-in-chief of all the rebel armies, even over the head of the great General Lee himself. The Examiner, which for some time past has made the hero of Chickamauga a scapegoat for the military sins of Davis, assails Bragg with fresh bitterness. His appointment is exceedingly unpopular, and Davis himself shares equal odium.

The rebels boast a complete victory in Florida, but, notwithstanding, admit heavy losses of officers and men.

Longstreet's falling back appears to be a mystery to the rebels themselves. For prudential reasons, the Enquirer does not mention his probable whereabouts.

Great apprehensions are expressed for the safety of the army in Georgia, and for the situation in Alabama and Mississippi.

Capts. Sawyer and Flynn, lately selected to be martyrs to retaliation, are about to be surrendered to exchange.

Deserters from the rebel army are now inflicted with terrible punishments to save the military power of the Confederacy. They go through a fearful process of brandishing, which is described in the rebel papers, and many of them have been publicly hung in the smaller towns.

The Enquirer again warns the farmers that agricurtural products must be sold for still lower prices. The salaries of government employees have been raised one hundred per cent., to enable them to procure the necessaries of life. Great ado is made over the copperhead disaffection in the north. Every attack upon President Lincoln's administration is quoted with exaggerated comment. Senator Pomeroy's circular is prominently copied by the Richmond press, and endorsed with evident satisfaction.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—HOUSE—The House proceeded to the consideration of the adverse report heretofore made by the Committee of Ways and Means on the resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to sell the surplus gold.

Mr. Stevens said, whatever his objections might be to paper money, he felt it his duty to support the financial system of the government until the war is over. He protested against the predictions of National Bankruptcy, and argued that there was nothing to justify the difference of 33 per cent. between gold and paper.

Mr. Fenton replied to former remarks of Fernando Wood and Mr. Brooks, saying that the Secretary of the Treasury had managed our fiscal affairs with unrivaled ability and success.

Mr. Morrill moved that the House recede from its disagreement to the Senate amendments to the whisky bill.

Messrs. Kasson and Spaulding, the other two members of the Conference Committee, agreed in favor of insisting on the House disagreement to the Senate amendments. The House refused to recede, 61 against 71.

Mr. Stevens moved that the House adhere to its disagreement, and this was agreed to. Adjourned.

MEMPHIS, March 1.—A private letter from an officer at Vicksburg, dated 22d ult., says: We hear nothing of a definite character from Sherman, but no doubt he has taken posession of Selma, Ala. It is said that Sherman captured five gunboats at Selma. Washington's birth-day was celebrated in Vicksburg in a fine manner. All the troops were reviewed by Gen. McArthur." A rebel brigade was between Vicksburg and Jackson.

CAIRO, March 2.—The steamer Empress has New Orleans dates to the 24th. Hahn was elected by one hundred majority over both of his competitors. The Empress has a very large cargo of sugar and molasses for Cairo and other parts.

ST LOUIS, March 3.—Two radical German papers of this city, the Westliche Post and Neue Zeit, have hoisted the name of General Fremont as the People's Candidate for the Presidency. Gen. Steele has issued an address to the people of Arkansas, in which he says that every facility will be offered for the expression of their sentiments, uninfluenced by any considerations whatever aside from those which affect their interests and their property. The election in that State will be held on the 14th.

Pennsylvania Central Stock Market.

EAST LIBERTY, March 3, 1864.

The markets since our last report was well attended, the receipts being steadily increased. The new Cattle Yards are rapidly approaching completion, and when finished will excel nineteenths of the yards in the country, and equal those of any other. The location has been admirably selected with a view to convenience and general adaptation, and in their completion no expense will be spared. The new Hotel is in full blast, with a daily increase in its business. It is in charge of experienced and attentive managers, and we have yet to hear a word of complaint. In short, it is a grand success, a credit to the enterprise and liberality of those who have been instrumental in getting it up. The managers "know how to keep a hotel," and we feel confident that it will become one of the most popular resorts ever gotten up.

The following are the receipts:

For the week ending Feb. 27	312 cars
For the three days ending March 2d, viz:
Horses	17 cars	Cattle	62 cars
Sheep	17 "	Hogs	37 "

HOGS—The market did not seem so firm to us as the previous week, the high prices here putting cattle a damper on exportation. Below we give the sales that came:

SALES OF HOGS PER CWT.

J. Gilchrist & Co. sold 363 head at $8,40.

J. Gilchrist & Co. sold 876 head (small) at 7,00.
