

The Daily Post.

ITEMS. The Court of Inquiry in General Bull's case does not attach any blame to that officer.

General Grant has written a letter to his father, asserting that he will not accept a nomination for the Presidency.

The poor woman and children in suffering South-western Missouri chop wood at sixty cents per cord.

The Richmond Whig says that the mind of the Confederacy is made up of a small parcel is made up readily.

The administration tries many of its best officers on frivolous charges, and tries the patience of all the rest.

The New York Evening Post is out in favor of stringent laws to suppress the "backyard practice of smoking in the streets."

The statement that General Sickles has preferred charges against General Meade, before a committee on the conduct of the war, is pronounced erroneous.

General Hooker's seven-year battle horse is named Lookout, in taking the General across the Lookout Mountain, in the General's capture of Lookout Mountain.

The Transcript says in the Republican party acts "in a manner repugnant to common sense." It isn't a new characteristic.

Home Tooks, when asked by George III whether he played at cards, replied, "I cannot your Majesty, tell a king from a knave."

The New Jersey Legislature has passed resolutions instructing its Representatives in Congress to vote for League Island for a national penitentiary.

The Terra Haute (Ind.) Democrat learns that a female child, borne some ten days since near that city, has neither arms or legs, and that it is strong and healthy, and has every prospect of living.

The funeral of the late Rev. Thomas Starr King at San Francisco has taken place. It was marked by the most imposing demonstration on the part of the military, the Masonic society, the civil authorities and citizens.

Numbers of clerks are said to be unemployed in different departments. These unemployed clerks are under pay, and the American public are expected to contribute to the support of these clerks, in addition to providing for the enormous debt entailed on them by the necessities of the war.

Of about seven hundred passengers, who arrived at New York, from Liverpool, in the British steamship Pennsylvania, we learn that at least two hundred were expressly enlisted in the U. S. Army, being attracted by the large bounties.

The Albany Statesman, a Republican paper, says, "even if the Government were to be reeking with corruption, and what is still worse, paying hypocrites are preaching against praying theseascalars, let it not hurt the war. The joke is played out."

Lieut. Col. George Bowman, of the 102d Ohio, has been dismissed from service for using profane and insulting language in regard to an officer of a Tennessee colored regiment and speaking in a contemptuous manner of the colored troops in the service.

The Chicago Telegraph (German) expresses its decided preference for Gen. Fremont and Chief of the Army, as candidates for the Presidency, but it regrets that it cannot join them, as, in the movement, since the citizens of Illinois have not yet expressed their preference for an independent people's candidate.

Mr. Lincoln proposes to distribute all the advertising money of the different Departments, in the hope that he will be able to secure the leading Abolition organs as his mouth-piece. The Liberty will do him little good.

Gen. Grant has arrived in Washington and will immediately commence making important military changes. Among these, it is understood, he will call into his command the best of the old army who have not been very prominent in directing military operations, many of which have been invented by civilians, and with what results the country and the armies have bitterly known.

At Cincinnati, the other day, a (very) raw recruit, just enlisted, who carried an immense revolver, in a mixed crowd on Walnut street, talked very loudly as to his fighting qualities, and with his hands which he revolved, to give force to his meaning to his words. Suddenly his countenance changed, and he shouted "Who stole my revolver?" Some one appears, had dexterously cut the belt while he was talking, and carried off the revolver, which was "only one of a soldier," stole away very quietly.

The New York World remarks that the census imported from the Government six years ago, and since kept in the Tolson reservation on the plains, have increased from ten to thirty-seven. This is the only increase in population and taxation that has been reported under Government management. We hope the census will be organized something to boost of. It would not be surprising if it some day wake up to the fact that it has also an elephant on its hands.

Actively business in the Natchez cotton market has been doing for several days. The good old mart of Cotton Square is again looking natural as in former times, when we could look out from our windows and see the snow packets are now doing a fair business in the way of transportation, and at good prices. Truly, the war "drags its slow length along," trade revived along the Mississippi river, and the prospects seem to brighten for the future.—Natchez Courier.

The New York Sun says parties are now in that city from Washington, "nearly morning newspapers devoted to the decision of the establishment of a President. The lowest amount of capital proposed is two hundred thousand dollars, but more will be forthcoming if requisite." The new journal, will of radical interest and will be organized with an efficient corps of editors and reporters. It is calculated that it will start with a circulation of twenty thousand, and through the loyal and redoubtable wing of the Local Leagues."

The English papers announce that the Prince of Wales has sent to the laboratory of Harewood College, a copy of the photograph of the Sanitarian. Frankly, taken during the visit of his Royal Highness to the Sanitarian. In presenting this gift the Prince desires to add that he will always be glad of any opportunity which may enable him to express his however slight manner the lively sense of hospitality he received during his visit to the United States, and that, with these recollections, he cannot fail cordially to reciprocate to which nothing may occur to interrupt the friendship which country and the new.
