TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 15, 1864. Express Robber Convicted.—The trial of A. P. Murphy, of Uniontown, lately agent of the Adams Express Company at that place, took place last week before Judge Lindsay. As young Murphy had previously occupied a fine position in society there, and as the amount. alleged to have been taken by him was large-over $2,500-a great deal of interwas manifested, and there was a large attendance during the trial. The testi mouy was very full and conclusive against the accused, and the jury had no difficuldifference during the trial. Upon the North, when the engineer of the last rendition of the verdict, and the remarks train, with the grossest carelessness, ran court stated to him that it was evident from its lamps and stove. Four ladies Mr. Ashley. their names the sentence would be made as light as possible. He refused to do so, and was then sentenced to imprisonment to the Penitentiary for eighteen brave—wears the hars as worthily as Lands. months. No part of the money has been secured by the Company. As the immense business of the Company is transacted through agents, it is a matter of the highest moment to them, that such crimes should meet with sure that such crimes should meet with sure punishment, although in this case the Company would cladly have had young Murphy escape, if they could have discovered his accomplices, who beyond doubt used him as a tool.

Correspondence Wanted.-The Cincinn ati Enquirer is informed from a reliable authority that very many of the advertisements of "correspondence wanted," published by women in some of the prominent papers in Ohio, are answered by convicts in the Penitentiar, at Columbus. The convicts append in signatures, or state in the body of their letters, that they are in the employ of the government. A penitentiary convict is a very fitting person to hold correspondence with those women who so far forget the modesty and propriety of their sex as to advertise for a corres-

The Dake Habeas Corpus Case -Yesterday morning, in the Court of Common Pleas, Judge Sterrett was to have delivered his decision in the Dake habeas corpus case, but it having been intimated to the Court by counsel that arrangements were in progress for a sat-isfactory settlement of the points in dispute, his honor postponed his decision in the matter until Wednesday next. It is believed that by this time an amicable arrangement may be consummated and such disposition made for the Doctor's keeping as will satisfy all concerned. Disgraceful Row.-Wheeling was another of those disgraceful rows for which it has become notorious of late. A general free fight occurred on Monroe street, in which pistols and bowie knives were freely used. A young man named George Trisler received several buckshots and Patsy Banan was stabled with a knife. The Provost guard was again ordered out, but it appears the mob was too large for the feeble force to quell. Without firing a gun the guard left the crowd.
