Only two hundred and fifty have yet subscribed, leaving some one thousand men yettorespond. Important business will be transacted this evening, and every man over eighteen years of age ought to be there in his proper person or by proxy. The Fifth ward can raise her quota if she goes at it in carnest, and we trust that on this evening there will be such an outpouring of the people as will show that they are dreadfully in carnest, A draft is a serious matter, so is three hundred dollars, and so is fifty dollars, but not by any means so difficult to gather up as the larger amount. Then but not by any means so difficult to gather up as the larger amount. Then at seven and a half o'clock this evening let the presence of every man interested indicate where the Fifth will stand on the fatal day that a draft takes place in the grand old county of Allegheny.

The Coming Fair.—The Executive Committee are busily engaged in making arrangements for the forthcoming Sanitary Fair. The time for holding the Fair has not yet been definitely fixed nor has the location been decided on. This, we presume, will be announced some time this week. In the meantime the ladies have commenced moving in earnest in the good cause. A joint meetinu of the ladies of all the churches of East Liberty is to be held in the basement of the Methodist Episcopal Church on to-day at 2 o'clock for the purpose of organization. mercial, with proud satisfaction:

The charge that Gen. McClellan had a secret interview with Gen. Lee the night after the battle of Antietam. has proved to be a fiction of a disordered brain. The person who made the astounding statement is a M. Waldron, a Marylander, who is a schoolmaster by profession, and who has in years past been somewhat addicted to drink. He has been in the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms since Wednesday afternoon, but refuses to make under oath the statement he had furnished for publication. He has also other stories of a marvelous nature, one of which is that he was for some time employed night and day by Secretary Chase in adding the preis that he was for some time employed hight and day by Secretary Chase in aiding in the pre-paration of a new financial scheme, which has no foundation in fact.

This is terrific, and out of purpose of taking action relative to the all reason, more especially as everything approaching Sanitary Fair. All steamelse sells proportionately high. But people have themselves to blame for it. Just so long as they submit to such extortion, just so long will it be practiced upon them. When prices of marketing reach a point out of the reach of limited means, they ought to resist by not pur chasing, becaute it is not the inade quate supply, but sheer extortion that prices of all the necessaries of life in these glorious shoddy times.
