PITTSBURGH:

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 8, 1964. THE END OF THE REBELLION. From the breaking out of the Rebellion, until the present time, there has not been a week that the leading Abolitionists of the country have not presudden and glorious termination. Just now we are assured that Gen. Grant will make short work of it, and that the beginning of summer will see the Southern Confederacy melting away like breath see things in this light, but we can't. prehend that our troubles have not yet stated that he was in favor of miscegenation, of equality of color, black and years, gone through much that was bad,
