FREMONT AND THE GERMANS. By some means or other Gen. FRE. MONT has succeeded in planting himself, firmly, in the gushing affections of our wild pigeons flying northward." That German fellow-citizens. How this has must have been a dark day. happened is, just now, perplexing to the friends of the illustrious rail-splitter. man to attract Teutonic attention; he is on account of dogs. distant, sustere and pompous; like Cassrus, he is of a lean and hungry look, at Portland, Maine, one ship, four barks, five steamboats, one gunboat, and one the rotund German. Like a woman he parts his hair in the middle, just as he is separating the Abolition party; he drinks no "light wines," but is heavy on the vintage of fifty-seven. Music is his aversion; he has none of it in his soul, and he is possessed of a special and strange antipathy to German waltzes. But, notas his peculiar supporters the genial and convivial portion of the Abolitionized Germans of the country. All the revolutionary Teutons, who came to this country in forty-eight and nine, are so them charged with being common drunkattached to the pathfinder that they de- ards. clare themselves opposed to every one else, who has any pretension to become a presidential aspirant. At a German Radical meeting, held in Chicago a few days since, the large assemblage resolved in French a favor to the exclusion of allothers. The leading speaker present, Mr. Casrun Burz, in a speech full of bitterness denounced the present Administration as being corrupt and imbecile.

istration as being corrupt and imbecile. He said:

He said:

He did notthink that there was a single man present at the meeting who would stand up and say that ABRAHAM LINCOLN should be re-elected President of the United States. He had told the people of this country that the best policy for the country was no policy at all. [Laughter.] So far as he [Mr. BUTZ] was personally concerned, he did not want any such man for President of the United States. [Cheers.] He thought ABRAHAM LINCOLN was the weakest and worist man that ever filled the Presidential char. [Great cheering.] He has no merits that were worthy of emulation and had no more sense than a child. [Loud laughter and applause.] He considered him a perfect im beccie. [Renewed applause.]

At the Chicago Convention, which nominated Mr. Lincoln, this powerful organization-through CARL SHURZ-demanded a platform of its own making, if their votes were expected for the nominee of the party. They got their plattorm, and in return they elected Mr. Lincoln. At the present time the Abolitionists cannot afford to lose these German silies, and sil the latter need do, to enable them to nominate Fremont, is to stand where they are and refuse to supstand where they are and refuse to supstand.
