The several properties of the several properties of the several properties of the several properties of the several properties. The several properties of has been observed by many persons, viz.: the apid increase of prolanity and vulgarity on the cars. 'Ears polite have often been shocked by profanity in the cars running on different railroads. To so great an extent has this come, that ladies having respect for themselves have been compelled to change cars because of the shocking and lamentable want of common desency, as exhibited by some of the passengers. If a gentleman out of polite delerence to the feelings of ladies, should happen to even gently reprimand the uncouth and vulgar fellows, instead of having a desirable effect, it seems to make them worse. In such cases, the conductors should turn the self-condemned immoralists out of the cars. The boards of railroads have long since passed stringent resolutions to prevent smoking in the ladies car, and a special car is attached, for the amoker's benefit. The smoke of a cigar is not oftensive to people as a general thing, but the smoke of immorality suggestive of fire and brimstone, is entirely too stifling to everybody except the low, the vulgar and the vile; and it should not be permitted to impregnate the atmosphere of a public passenger car, or any other piace where promiseuous crowds of people are apt to collect. It is an inteleption a profile early in fact of that occurried

Beside the evil above spoken of, there is another, which lies at the root of much of the profamity so prevalent in cars. It is the earrying of spirituous liquors and the frequent indulgence in drink by many passengers. It is rare to travel but a few miles in a passenger car, now-adays, without seeing several persons taking a "strong pulp" at their pocket nisks, or, if the performance is not witnessed, there is an odor nervading the atmosphere which is unmistate. and seldom polite. Coarse language and pro-anity are a natural result in a majority of instances. From being a pleasure to travel it has now become a positive disconfort and annoyance. By way of addenda to the remarks proceding, we would suggest to railroad directors that the drinkers be allowed the privilege of the swearers' car and the carliself be attached to Ministers' Salaries .- The Christian Advo cale, in an article on this subject says: "Our congregations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny City are doing well in advancing the salaries of their pastors. The salaries of three years ago have been improved not less than fifty per cent. This is as it should be. We trust the example will influence others to equal advances. If there is any danger of suffering among our ministers from the very high prices, it is in the small and feeble fields of labor. We trust that even there the support of pastors will be equal to their wants and comforts. Stewards in circuits and stations can secure this by making sufficient appropriations, and then taking the efficient steps to secure the necessary funds." cate, in an article on this subject says: "Our

Disloyal Blockade Runner Arrested .-Captain C. Leon, a Government detective from Chicago, arrested in this city on Saturday chicago, arrested in this city on Saturday a dialoyal "blockade runnep" named Sigifried, for whom the authorities have been looking for several weeks. The accused is charged with dialoyaity and with smuggling goods beyond our lines into rebel territory. The authorities have been in pursuit of him for some time, but only succeeded in capturing him on Saturday, as stated above. His arrest is regarded of deep importance, and he will be taken to Washing-ton by the next train.

The Wheat Orop. -The Meadville Journal, in alluding to the wheat crop of Crawford county, says: All exposed fields are badly winterkilled. A number of these will be plowed up and sowed in other grain. Fields which are sheltered by woods or hills look well, and the late rains have brought them out finely, and in fields which are badly injured the continued wer spell revived the stalks which were only partially destroyed. Some think the crop will be one-half the usual amount, while others say we shall have three-fourths of a crop.

Iron Works Purchased.—The Newcastle Courant says: "The Cosalo works in this place were sold on Tuesday last to Messrs Dithridge & Co., of Pittsburgh. We understand the price paid was $30,000. The new firm is composed of enterprising men with the disposition to push the business. The works will be materially enlarged, and run steadily and up to their full capacity. This is a fine establishment, and will doubtless prove a profitable investment to the proprietors.
