Republican County Convention. The delegates to the Republican Co. Convention assembled at the Court House yesterday, and was called to order by A. M. Brown, esq., Chairman of the County Committee. Two temporary secretaries, Mr. Morgan and Mr. Gilfil-len, were appointed. Over one hundred delepates were in attendance, the most of them intelligent and respectable looking men, might be termed the seniors of Allegheny and might be termed the seniors of Allegheny county.

The Convention then proceeded to read over the oredentials of the different delegates. Considerable confusion reigned when a motion was made to substitute delegates for districts unrepresented. One delegate said the proceeding packing the Convention, from which we infered that under the perturbed surface there might be an under current running for Fremont. The substitution question, however, was carried. When the delegates had all been accredited and the substitutions all made, two motions were made at the same time, one for a permanent chairman and one that Thomas M. Howe, esq., be chairman. Both resolutions were carried. In order to bring order out of this confusion it was resolved that a committee of five be appointed on permanent organization, which was laid on the table.

Mr. Howe was then elected chairman a on permanent organization, which was laid on the table.

Mr. Howe was then elected chairman a second time, and addressed the meeting. He said he had no aspirations for political honors, and was sorry that a few delegates were opposed to him. He counseled harmony in the exposem, for which he was cheered.

A motion was then made to re-consider the whole question of supplying substitutes and thus checking the sentiments of the convention. This motion was lost. A little fight was next gotten up on the question of voting, some desiring the viva voce method and some prefering-the dedge method of marking. The dodge method carried two to one, which caused some delegates to feel indignant, but their feeling did them no good.

Sixteen persons were nominated for Representative delegates with the understending that states to feel indignant, but their feeling did them no good.

Sixteen persons were nominated for Representative delegates with the understending that any seven be elected, the two highest of whom should be the Spantorial delegates.

The meeting thus far has not been very harmonious.

Resolutions, savoring of "negro on the brain" were passed, and the whole calinet endorsed, except IIr. Blair, who it would appear has committed the sin unto death, by opposing the rascality of the government officials and acknowledging his adherence to Fremont.

The Convention adjourned after whistling away all fear of defeat at the next election.

After the adjournment two separate meetings were organized, one for the 22d and ene for the 22d and ene for the 22d and ene for the 23d Congressional District. Hon. Thomas Williams was recommended as a suitable eandidate for re-nomination in the, and Hon. J. K. Moorhead in the other district. After appointing referees and pledging them unconditionally for Juncoln, the venvention adjourned. What was remarkable in His convention, weld not notice one "American citizen of African descent" in the meeting.

should know that this is violating law, and that when one law is violated with impunity, another law will soon be violated, and another more grave will be committed. Every person who disregards law is a rebel against the authorities placed over him as much as that man is a rebel who raises his hand and his voice against the Constitution of the land, and while there may be different degrees of crime, still it is all crime. There may be the penitamt wrongdocr, for whom our sympathies should freely mow, but if no restraints are placed upon those who violate law, the penitent will soon become the impenitent offender. Parental restraint, especially, is a necessity, and the blending of strictness with kindness will never do any harm.

The public are heavily taxed for the purpose of protecting youth from temptation. Schools are established throughout the land for the purpose of exercising a salutary guardianship over youth, and many parents, appreciating the benefits of these institutions are careful to see that their boys attend; them it is here that the wholesome restraint, and handle, and obedience to law most thoroughly taught. Unfortunately, however, too many parent sail to see the advantages of protecting out in the poison of literary and salentific instruction, and having no taste themselves for such acquisitions, they do not insist that their children should attend them. They permit them to run in idleness upon the highways and drink in the poison of a street education, and as youth is naturally impetuous, and and such them to run in idleness upon the highways and drink in the poison of a street education, and any over a commendation. The first case before his Honor, in the poison of a street ducation, and cannot an entered the same streets. The proprietors of the Third National Bank are pitting up a respectable building they now occupy. There is also an ewe brick building they now decays the poising part the population of the their day on the sale and naturally impetuous, and another the building they now dea that their children should attend them. They permit them to run in idleness upon the high-ways and drink in the poison of a street education, and as youth is naturally impetuous, ardent and ambitious, some achievement will be accomplished if it should be only throwing stomas. It is thus that many a boy, endowed naturally with the elements of goodness and greatness, acquires habits of evil for want of something else to do. If boys are not sent regularly to school, they should have some daily employment at home—employment of alight nature, suitable to their physical powers of endurance, which of itself would school them in lessons of industry and keep them out of mischief.

with the rebels on Red River, resulting in such a victory to our Jorces as still further improved that of the 9th, and rendered the rebel successes gained on the 8th of no manner of advantage to them, was untrue. How such a circumstantial statement could have been written and telegraphed by mistake, passes our comprehension—unless the party responsible for the act had not only received a false impression but been made the victim of some one with a false uprose. The real facts of the case may now, from the latest accounts, be thus summed up. Gen. Hanke' forces left Nachitoches on the 6th inst; on the 7th his advance was skirmihing with the enemy; on the 8th a severe battle was fought at Sabine Oross-Roads between a small portion of Gen. Banke' army and the whole of the rebel army under Kirby Smith, resulting in a defeat and heavy loss to the Union forces. During the night of the 8th Gen. Banks 'ell back to Pleasant Hill, at which place he was again attacked on the 9th, and the remainder of his sarmy having come up, the attack of the rebels was repulsed; but General Banks the next morning resumed his retreat, and returned with his army to Natchitoches, and to Grand placer, on the Red River, and there, at the last advices, remained, being in communication with the facet of Admiral Porter. Gen. Banks, during the week following the 7th inst., advanced forty-three miles, fought two battles, lost about thirty-five hundred men, twenty guns, two of which were afterwards retaken, and three hundred wagons, and returned to the point whence he started.

ral Hall has assumed very ample proportions, and the adjacent structures are also fast giving visitors an inkling of the magnitude of the undertaking. In view of the ample preparations for a grand display, it should be considered a matter of State pride by every person of means in this end of the State, more especially, to add whatever attraction is possible to make the Fair a success. The worthiness of the object is well understood by all. The necessity of contributing for that object may, before the summer is past, be more than apparent. Let every person. ting for that object may, before the summer is past, be more than apparent. Let every person, therefore, without regard to its and buts, come at once to the earnestness of the work and make the Sanitary Fair of Western Pennsylvania such a success as will do honor to the hearts and heads of the citizens of the old Commonwealth. The Fair will open on the first of June next.

Inspection of Petroleum.—The following important bill introduced into the House by Mr. Glass on Friday, is now before the Senate. The first section provides that, The Governor of The first section provides that, The Governor of the Commonwealth be and he is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint an Othinspector, in and for the county or Allegheny. The said Inspector shall be commissioned to hold his office for and during the term of three years, and his successor every third, year thereafter and his duty shall be, from and after June first next; to inspect all petroleum, rock, earth, coal oils, and oils manufactured therefrom, which may be brought within the limits of Allegheny county; when notified by any person or persons owning or having manager any such oils, and desiring the same to be so inspected.

The Qword Contest. As we hinted yes-terday the Loyal League came to the rescue during the sealed ballot at the New York Saniduring the sealed ballot at the New York Sanitary Fair on Saturday and thus clearly and unmistakably exhibited their covert malignity to the great McClellan. It is some consolation to know, however, that thereby a few of the thousands of dollars, unfairly fliched by spurious congracts from the Government treasury, havegone to the worthy purpose of the Sanitary Commission. To show how the thing was worked we append the principal contributions, which were so bulky that they could scarcely be forced into the ballot-box. Here they are:

Wheelwright, for sundry persons. 8 1 000

Wheelwright, for sundry persons, $ 1,000.
Loyal men of Chicago, $25.
Loyal men of New England, 3,000.
Loyal men of New York, 100.
Loyal men of New York, 2,097.
Loyal men of New York, 1000. Loyal men of New York, 10.000.

Counting the votes only of contributors there is no reason to doubt that McClellan is far shead of Grant, as a majority of McClellan's votes were in small amounts. The masses of the people are thus for the hero of Antietam no matter where government sewing-women defrauding contractors deposit their ill-gotten greenbacks. The soldiers, too, with but rare exceptions, voted for little Mac, and the bulk of contributions from the army were likewise for him. contributions from the army were likewise for him.

For the present we will leave the subject by copying from the World an astonishing instance of the force of habit:

'One letter from the 'Loyal men of New York' stated that it contained $2,287 but on counting, the sum was found to be $2,007—$190 short. This had probably passed through the hands of some loyal leaguer and government ofticial, who, though earnerly desiring the success of Grant in the sword contest, had, from the force of habit, been unable to refrain from making this slight abstraction."

Oil and Lumber Business.—We learn om a gentleman just arrived from Franklin county, that a very large quantity of oil will be rought down, during the present high water, brought down, during the present high water, and within a week from this time. There are also great preparations made in the lumber business, for this market, as soon as the tributaries of the Allegheny are sufficiently swollen to enable traders to get their rafts out. The amount of oil and lumber brought down the Allegheny this spring together with what is ready to be brought down is said to exceed that of any former spring for many years back, and yet the price of lumber is high and oil a ready sale. and yet the price of lumber is high and will ready sale.
When this "cruel war" is over, there is no doubt but that the demand for oil and lumber, south of this place, will be exceedingly great for many years to come, that is, provided "the Union now and forever" is not dissolved and the southern trade supplied from some other market.

or lot of black and white oats from Stockholm, Sweden, weighing forty five pounds to the bush-Sweden, weighing forty five pounds to the bushel, which will be distributed among the farmers in quart packages, upon application to the Department. Our Minister at Japan, Mr. Pruyn, has forwarded a choice variety of grape vines and rare plants—a contribution from the Ty. coon. The exchange of plants and seeds with foreign countries has done much to develo, the resources of our soil and climate, and recent experiments reported to the Department have demonstrated the adaptability of the North to the production of many articles which it was here-tofore supposed sould only be cultivated in the South.

Stolen Goods.—A man named John McCullam was arrested, by Mayor Alexander's police, on Monday evening, charged with an assigned and hattery. While he was at the Mayor's office awaiting a hearing, officers Gabby and Wills went out to his residence, near the old weigh locks, in the Fourth ward, for the purpose of searching the premises. On arriving at the house, they found a large quantity of goods which have likely been stolen and secreted, consisting of dress goods, ensaineres, shawls, skirts, fancy collars. gaiters, knives, forks and forty business. The first case before his Honor, Judge M'Candless was the United States vs. Harriet M. Stewart and her securities, G. K. Barret and J. T. Owens, alleged defaulters, which was disposed of on Monday, by giving judgment for bond.

On Tuesday morning the case of United States vs. the same with Samuel Brady and J. T. Meves, was taken up and similarly disposed of. On Tuesday afternoon the United States vs. Lewis Aurin charged with perjury was taken up and likely occupied the remainder of the day.

Passed Through.-A negro regiment of soldiers paseed through this city yesteredy about Another Lie Natled.—The Gazette of yesterday morning says: It turns out unfortunately that the report of a third day's fighting with the rebels on Red River, resulting in such a victory to our forces as still further improved that of the oth. and rendered the rebel successes gained on the 8th of no manner of advantage to them, was untrue. How such a circumstantial statement could have been written and second.

A Man Killed .- A young man named Pc. ter Burgoon, employed at Torren's Station, on the Penna. Railroad, was killed yesterday morning about ten o'clock, by being crushed between two lumber cars. Dr. Murdock was called in Immediately, but could do nothing for the unfortunate sufferer. He expired in an hour and a half after receiving the injury. It is said that his mother is a widow and lives in Clarion County and that he has acquaintances in Johnstown, Cambria County.

but if the House did not adopt this principle, they would withdraw from taxation of millions and millions of the capital of the country. After further debate Mr. Holman's amendment was Mr. Frank (N. Y.) offered an amend-74 per centum, and over 25,000 dollars 10 per centum. In support of this amendment Mr. Frank said that the Committee on Ways and Means have themselves established the principle of graduated taxation in this bill which was in effect an argument in support of is proposition.

Mr. Stevens (Pa.) said this amend. ment would levy a tax as punishment on men because they were rich and he did not know but that there ought to be an indictment against every one who has an income over $10,000, and that the tax ought to be from 10 to 100 per centum. The rich man pays according to his riches but beyond this the tax was as a pun-ishment for a man's thrift. Mr. Stevens replied that the Committee put tax on all alike, all over $600, and make no distinction between one more than another. Mr. Stevens made an amendment to the tax salaries of members of Congress to ten per cen, which was voted down by a large majority. Blockade Runners Come to Grief.

Washington, April 26.—The Navy Department has received information of the capture of the schooner Three Brothers, by the United States steamer Nita. off the coast of Florida, and the sinking and entire loss of the blockade running schooner Wild Pigeon. It seems that she was discovered by the steamer Hendrick Hudson, who supposed her to be the Electric, a schooner, had boarded her that the steamer has the day remissionly but she will have the Electric, a schooner, had boarded her the day previously, but she still kept a watch on her, and as the Hudson neared her she saw she was a blockade runner. The Wild Pigeon suddenly luffed directly across the Hudson's bows, and, in spite of all that could be done, the Hudson struck her directly amid. the Hudson struck her directly amidship, staving her whole side in, and sinking her in three minutes.
