Female Labor. The effects of the present war has been to drain the whole country, both north and south, of the young and vigorous portion of society who were found in every department of labour

The loss of these men is severely felt in almost every branch of business. The entire army is composed of men from eighteen to forty-five al labor, and endure its fatigues. The places of hundreds of thousands of such men are

-just such men as are best calculated to perform manual labor, and endure its fatigues. The places of hundreds of thousands of such men are now vacant among us, with a very meager sup-ply of substitutes. The question them arises, how shall such vacancies be filled! The only solution of the difficulty is to call young ladies into the mahuid departments thus left vacant. There are a thousand kinds of light employment which can be performed by ladies as well as gentlemen, if they only have the required skill. In order to obtain this, they should serve ap-prenticeships, or take lessons of instruction in the different manual employments of our city. For many of these, the delicate fingers of a lady are much better adapted than the coarse rough muscles of the male sex. Why cannot a lady mend a watch, make a gold pen, or stick type as well as a gentlemant They can teach school, and a majority of the teachers of the State are of that sex, though twenty years ago it would have been thought incredible that a lady could govern and teach a school. When the Public School system was first established in this and adjoining States, a demand for teachers was created, which could not be supplied, and this demand introduced into the school-room the gentle, diffdent, but amiable chass of female teachers, and the experiment proved a grand success. The present war has created aimiar demands in every branch of buincess, and we cannot see any remedy for the diasdrantages and perplexities that the public builtiess men labor under, except that of inducing the ladies to attempt that which their sex has never before attempted, asmety, that of learning and prose-cuting light employments, at least until a gen-eration of young men have grown to take the places in civil life of those who have fallen in the fearhight, may the different mechanical depart-ments, of business. The objection may be rai-ed against this that such a policy will reduce the wages in the different spreated their services and rewarded them as their merits de-manded superiors of the other sex. Let ladies be em-ployed and paid for their labor, and soon such a tion will be wrought in society, as was dreamed of in our philosophy.

A Laudable Effort .-- A circular has been issued by a Committee in Lawrenceville, inquiring into the expediency of crecting a monument over the remains of the persons who lost their lives at the explosion of the combustible material in the Work-Shops of the Arsenal, on the

are being made by all classes of our citizens to make the Fair interesting and worthy of a visit from distant places. The spirt of rivairy is awakened and will not be subdued until every effort is exhausted to make this novel exhibi-tion creditable to the place. This rivalship is spreading until it is resolved into a pante, and all kinds of goods and wares are being songht for with a different start is truly laudable. The "Old Ourlosity Shop," advertised in our paper, will be one of the special novelties of the occasion. The very place where the first car-penter struck the first nail will, no doubt, be on exhibition. The Johnstown frog that was found embedded in the centre of a solid rock, may hon-or the fair with his august presence, and the rock on which the poor inebriate spit his for-funes, will be found in the vicinity of the build-ings.

times, will be found in the vicinity of the build-ings. Readers of the Post, who may possess any rei-ies of antiquity, such as would make the Fair interesting, should by all means forward them to the committee on the "Old Ouriosity Shop." The sword of Gen. Washington, or the per that was used in writing the Declaration of lude-pendence, or anything of that kind, would be gladly received. The reader can see by the ad-vertisement in another column, headed, "Old Ouriosity Shop," where to direct any articles that they may wish to donate or to loan. Arti-cles that are loaned will be taken care of and returned to the owner or owners in a safe con-dition. Let the entire community, then, res-pond to the call of the "Old Curiosity Shop."

United States District Court. TUESDAY, May 3d. -Before Judge McCand

TUESDAY, May 3d. —Before Judge McCand ieas. The grand jury was called this morning, when a quorum answered. Judge McCandless then delivered the usual charge, after which the jury retired to their room. There being no case ready for trial, the court adjourned until two o'clock. The grand jury came into court with a num-ber of bills, atmong which was an iprioranus in the case of Charles Weynel, charged with open-ing a letter in the Postoffice at Sheaver's Cross Roads, in Westmoreland county. Weynel was discharged by proclamation. That for a state and the court of James Snyder was taken up, a jury empan-nelled, four of five witnessee scannined and Sy-der found guilty as he stood indicted. He is a boy about sixteen years of age, was a mail carrier between Harmony. Butler county, and Harlinsburg, Lawrence county. He was charged with robbing the mail and taking out letters, one of which contained an hundred dol-jars. He is a friendless boy and will likely be sent to the House of Refuge. Court adjourned till to-morrow.

The Weather .-- The atmosphere keeps remarkably cold for the season of the year. Cornone to vacate Penney street in Rochesn planting time has come and yet there is now and then a blade of snow seen failing with the drizzing rain. The weather philosopher is puz-zied to know the cause. We have our opinion about it. The political atmosphere has some-thing to do with it. Every body is cool just now. The Baltimore Convention has not met, and the fire will not be properly it up till after the meeting of the Clerciand Convention. The Chicago meeting will not make much differ-ence, as MicClellan will be nominated at any rate. But we predict that the weather will frow warmer immediately after the nomina-tions are made and will continue to grow warmer er, until the various political questions are dis-oussed and the country canvasted for President. after which matters will grow cooler; till the November election, when everything will sub-side into the usual coolness. Mark our predi-tions planting time has come and yet there is now Garrick Oil Compnny.

Impressing Steamboats .-- From a gentlenan who arrived here yesterday from a trip. down the river, we learn that at Parkersburg down the river, we learn that at Parkersburg the Government officials were impressing steamers to transport troops up the Kanawha river. The Express had been giezed, and was being freighted with troops and stores. The Steamer Silver Spray, when passing the town was halied, but her officers refused to 1 ind. Several shots were fired across her bow but the boat continued on her way up. A cannon was loaded with heavy shot, and fired at her, badly damaging the Texas of the steamer. The boat was then run ashore, and was boarded by Government officers, who, upon examination of the boat, permitted her to leave, as it would have consumed too much time to have taken of her heavy eargo and prepare her for a trip up the Kanawha.
