PITTSBURGH:

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 7, 1864.

TREASON TO THE CONTINENT.

Under this caption the reader will find a remarkable article on our first page, for which we are indebted to the New York Spirit of the Times. It is an able and decant condemnation of the miserable and cowardly conduct of our Administration, regarding the French invasion of Mexico, and that country's subsequent prostration under the yoke of monarchy.

Up until a short time since the Spirit was the peculiar organ of the National Administration. Its boldness well qualified it for performances, from which the generality of public journals shrank; it was the pioneer in support of all the reckless and shameless schemes and infamies of the intriguers at Washington. From a fulsome flatterer of Gen. McCLELLAN, it became his malignant traducer. Slanders prepared in Washington appeared in the Spirit as editorials, and from it they were copied into the Abolition press throughout the country. In view then of the Spirit's late intimate connection with the Administration, the article to which we have referred is the more significant. It charges the Secretary of State with "treason to the continent," and the reader can see whether it sustains its allegation. Taking it altogether the article shows that even among Radicals, who are not in the employment of the Government, there is a deep feeling of hostility to the continuance of the present Administration beyond its present term.

The negligence of the Administration, if not its absolute complicity in allowing the French invasion of Mexico amounts to "treason to the continent," and will result in our Government—if the present dynasty is continued—recognising the throne of MAXIMILIAN. The conduct of the U. S. Senate, in hiding the resolution lately passed by the House, regarding Mexico, and that too at the instance of the Administration, shows what we are to expect from the diplomacy of Secretary SEWARD. A monarchy is a fixed fact in Mexico; then begins a series of intrigues between MAXIMILIAN and the Southern Confederacy. What the end will be Heaven only knows, as the party in power does not seem to care. Our Administration is so occupied with schemes for its own continuance, and for the subjugation of the Southern people and the elevation of their slaves to an equality with themselves, that they have no time to watch a foreign invasion, which may result, not only in the permanent disruption of our Union, but in the prostration of Republican institutions. Yet, the men who have permitted this French usurper to plant a substitute in our very door, who will act as a mere go between for NAPOLEON and JEFF. DAVIS, have the inconceivable audacity to ask a continuance at the head of our public affairs. But it is not possible that constant twaddle about negroes and slavery can so blind the American people as to induce them to endorse the present Administration.

CLOSING SCENES IN THE HOUSE.

The Pennsylvania House of Representatives met at a quarter past ten o'clock on Thursday. The intervening time till twelve, o'clock—the hour for final adjournment—was consumed principally in receiving messages from the Governor, discussing a resolution relative to the disposition of the land scrip by Surveyor General BARR, and by votes of thanks to the officers. The resolution about the land scrip instructed Mr. BARR to not sell for less than one dollar per acre, which was altered to eighty cents, and then the resolution was indefinitely postponed.

Mr. PERSHING offered a resolution tendering the thanks of the House to Mr. JOHNSON, the Speaker, which was unanimously adopted. Remarks highly eulogistic of the official and personal deportment of the Speaker were then made by Messrs. PERSHING, BROWN, BARGER, QUIGLEY, OLMSTEAD, MYERS, PATTON, SHARPE, JACKSON, HARRIS, LABAR and SMITH, (Philadelphia.)

Mr. SMITH, (of Chester,) on behalf of the officers of the House, then presented Speaker JOHNSON with a handsome gold headed cane, and thereupon delivered a highly complimentary and feeling address to the recipient of the gift.

Mr. BARGER, then, presented a resolution of thanks to the Chief Clerk, A. W. BENEDICT, esq., which was unanimously adopted, and, on behalf of the Democratic members, presented Mr. BENEDICT with a gold headed cane, accompanying the gift with a short but neat and eulogistic speech, creditable alike to the speaker's candor and the recipient's courtesy. Mr. BENEDICT replied in a befitting manner.

Following this Mr. SHARPE presented a Resolution tendering the thanks of the House to JOHN A. SMULL, esq., Assistant Clerk. It was adopted unanimously. Mr. BARGER, passing a neat eulogy upon Mr. SMULL, at the conclusion of which Mr. SHARPE, on behalf of the Democratic members, presented him a gold headed cane, and accompanied the donation with a short address characterized by eloquence and pathos of more than ordinary power and feeling. Mr. SMULL returned his thanks, when—

Mr. QUIGLEY tendered a resolution of thanks to JAMES C. BROWN, esq., First Assistant Clerk, which was adopted. Mr. QUIGLEY then proceeded to present to Mr. BROWN a gold headed cane, on behalf of the Democratic members of the House, accompanying the ceremony with good natured remarks, which were replied to by the recipient in an equally genial manner.

A vote of thanks was then passed awarding the meed of promptitude and efficiency to the transcribing clerks; at the conclusion of which Mr. JOHNSON, the Speaker delivered his concluding address. The hour of twelve having arrived the House stood adjourned till the 23d of August, next, at 12 o'clock, M.

PROGRESSING BACKWARD.

During the present month will occur the anniversary meetings of the Abolitionists. Among other objects announced is, that "complexional distinctions are unknown," not only in their convention but as a rule of society. A most persevering party is this, which, starting from an insignificant nucleus, has gone on increasing in size and breadth until, like a mighty and horrible avalanche, it threatens to overwhelm and destroy the entire structure of society. It has stamped its black impress upon Congress, and we are forced to behold the humiliating spectacle of the two greatest legislative bodies of the nation neglecting the important wants of the people to fritter away time on the equalization of negroes with whites. The engines of war must be stopped or turned upon the work of kidnapping slaves, and working plantations to demonstrate that the negro can support himself. The nation must stand still and admire while venerable members of the Senate and House legislate to allow negroes to ride in street cars, in the District of Columbia, along with white people. The people are expected to shout hosannas when their philanthropic representatives make laws allowing black voters the same rights as white ones in organizing new States for the Union. The army of white heroes is expected to be jubilant when the "grave and reverend seigneurs," legislate the same pay, the same rations, and the same treatment to black soldiers as is meted out to the white veterans of a hundred fights. And the whole nation is required to stand aghast with horror when the rebels bring home to the authors of negro soldiery and equality and miscegenation the natural results of their gross fanaticism, by butchering the semi-barbarous victims of their political machinations.

Alas, for a country ruled by madmen. Alas, for a land cursed by a power that turns the elements of its greatness to the purpose of its overthrow. Alas, too, for the poor negro; for when there is no sympathy for white men, how long will the regard now professed continue for the oppressed blacks?

Upon this subject the Journal of Commerce remarks:

> A very curious picture in the history of mankind, a nation convulsed by a war, men perishing by thousands on battle fields, all the horrors of war enacted daily, hourly, over a vast expanse of country, a host of gallant soldiers offering life and all for the Union and Constitution, and all the while a party, in effect the dominant party, certainly its leading and guiding spirits avowing their determination that this war shall never cease till white men consent to give political and social equality to black men! It is certainly one of the most remarkable pages in human history. All this fanaticism of Abolitionists is the madness of hatred not the sentimental folly of love. When a nation falls into the hands of such men its fate is under the most dangerous control.

AND HAS IT COME TO THIS?

A very extensive movement is now on foot among many of the ladies of the Northern States to unite the women of the country in a resolution to purchase no imported articles of apparel, where American can be substituted, during the continuance of the war. An address to this effect has been issued, signed by all the wives of the chief dignitaries of the nation and of Congress. It seems not to be the purpose to discourage the wearing of elegant attire, for it is asserted that there are manufactured in the Eastern States the most elegant delaines, challis, prints of the richest kinds, silks, bonnets, &c., equal to any imported from France. The intention is only to put an embargo on foreign imports, in imitation of the mothers of the Revolution. If the project is not another scheme of the New England sharpers to flourish on the misfortunes of the nation, we shall be forced to believe that false leaders have drawn the people deeper into disaster and bankruptcy than we confess to have heretofore suspected. But we cannot believe that it has come to homespun as yet, and, feeling inclined to look upon the affair as only another Yankee trick to enable our sharp neighbors in the Northeast to turn another "honest penny," we would venture to quote the following from the displayed heading of the World, announcing the address and proceedings of a meeting recently held in Washington: "No more foreign goods. Curious movement of American Women to Discourage Extravagance. Formation of a ladies' covenant. FLORA MCFLIMSEY to be put in Coventry. Hon. MRS. SHODDY in a new dress. No imported jewelry, diamonds, silks, opera cloaks, laces, or loves of bonnets. What is asked of the men. The ladies demand that they shall give up imported wines, liquors and cigars. Ladies to drink catnip tea and the men Jersey lightning. French hosts and Paris lap-dogs to be kicked out together," &c. At the meeting mentioned it was, on motion of Mrs. ANN S. STEVENS,

> "Resolved, That the badge of the National Covenant shall be a black bee, with wings enamelled, according to nature, worn with a tri-color ribbon, three in front of the left shoulder."

Of course the ladies will all now be desperately enamored of the black bee with enamelled wings.

The Coming Struggle.

The indications are that a terrible battle will be soon fought, within the limits of the old Dominion—perhaps beneath the frowning battlements of Richmond itself. God grant that victory may perch upon the banners of GRANT. May the legions of our gallant army bear down with a force irresistible by the hordes of secession, and may the discomfiture of those in rebellion be so signal that the shattered fragments of their armies may no longer combine against the Union and the Constitution. With a grand victory above, the Union arms, all will be well, and the beginning of the end will be near to view. Let us all stand with bated breath while the shock and din of arms comes up from the embattled hosts, and hope and pray for the triumph of truth and the right.

Reconstruction Bill.

The House passed the Reconstruction Bill of WINTER DAVIS, on Wednesday afternoon by thirteen majority. The alien enemy crotchet of THEODEUS STEVENS was attached to the bill but was voted down. Several amendments were added. Those who have held office merely ministerial or military, below the grade of colonel, are not debarred from voting. The delegates to the State Convention are to be elected by the loyal white male citizens, who are required to subscribe to the oath of allegiance; and until the United States shall have recognized a Republican form of State Government the provisional Governor, who is authorized to be appointed by the President, is to see that this act and the laws of the United States, and the laws of the State Government that was overthrown by the rebellion, are faithfully executed within the State, but no law or usage whereby any person who was heretofore held in involuntary servitude shall be recognized.

The following provisions are to be incorporated in the New State Constitutions:—

First—No person who has held or exercised any office, either civil or military, State or Confederate, except the office be merely municipal or military, below the grade of colonel under the usurping power, shall have the right to vote for or be a member of the Legislature or Govenor.

Second—Involuntary servitude is forever prohibited, and the freedom of all persons is guaranteed in the said State.

Third—No debt, State or Confederate, created by or under the sanction of the usurping power, shall be recognized or paid by the State.

The bill further provides that every person who shall hereafter hold or exercise any office, civil or military, in the rebel service, State or Confederate, except the office be merely municipal or military, below the grade of colonel, is declared not to be a citizen of the United States.

A National Debt.

To those Abolition patriots who regard a national debt as being a national blessing, we commend the following definition of it, from the Tin Trumpet.—"Mortgaging the property of our posterity, that we may the better destroy that of our contemporaries—discounting for the future, for the purpose of tormenting the present—exhausting the resources of many ages, that the pugnacity and weak ambition of our own may be rendered the more extensively mischievous."

Hints to the Treasury Department Investigating Committee.

The public mind is so far persuaded that the power and influence of the Treasury Department are used for the pecuniary profit of the personal friends and political adherents of the Secretary of the Treasury that nothing short of the testimony, under oath, of Mr. Chase himself will satisfy the public. The facts and circumstancial evidence widely know in our financial circles bear so strongly against the personal integrity of the Secretery that a due regard for his own honor and reputation will doubtless prompt that gentleman to place himself before the investigating committee as a voluntary witness, to disprove, if he is able, the alleged Treasury Department corruption, which affects vitally the national credit and the negotiation of our public securities.

In addition to procuring the testimony of Mr. Chase, the committee should investigate the books of all the loan agencies, in order to ascertain the precise dates on which they received their orders for the five-twenty bonds and the payments thereon, and precisely when these orders and the money were transmitted to the Treasury Department at Washington. It is alleged, and the public, we regret to say, believe, that the loan agents who negotiated the five-twenty bonds enjoyed for months, without interest, the use of from twenty to thirty millions of the people's money, and that they managed this vast sum for stockjobbing purposes, and in loans at usurious rates of interest.

In order to ascertain the truth or falsity of these statements, it is necessary to collate and compare the books of all the loan agencies with those of the Treasury Department at Washington, because the five-twenty bonds, by a curious management upon the part of Mr. Chase, were always behindhand in their delivery, although it is a notorious fact that the delay was an arrangement of the Treasury Department and not of the printers. An examination of the Treasury Department books alone will not elucidate the matter.

For example, the loan agents might receive orders and money for fifty million dollars of five-twenty bonds, and say that they sent orders and money to Washington for twenty million dollars; then the Treasury Department books would show that government was indebted to the loan agents for twenty million dollars of five-twenty bonds not yet delivered; whereas an examination of the loan agent's books would show a different balance of the account, and that the loan agents were indebted to the government thirty million dollars for money on account of orders kept back.

The committee should procure explicit answers to these questions:

1. Is Mr. Salmon P. Chase a partner to the firm of Jay Cooke & Co., or has he any interest, direct or indirect, in the profits of that firm; and if so, to what extent?

2. Is Mr. Chase in the habit of obtaining loans from Messrs. Jay Cooke & Co., and does that firm honor his drafts upon them with the understanding that these loans and drafts are never to be paid?

3. What were the arrangements between Mr. Chase and Mr. Jay Cooke respecting the eleven million dollars of five-twenty bonds, surplus subscriptions, for which a special act of Congress was engineered by Mr. Chase, and by which somebody cleared a premium of twelve per cent.; or about one million three hundred thousand dollars?

4. Did Mr. Chase receive any portion of this profit, or did any one receive it for him? Who received it?

5. What amount of government deposits has been kept daily in Jay Cooke's national bank at Washington?

6. What amount of stock does Mr. Chase hold in Jay Cooke's national bank, standing in the name of a friend of the secretary?

THE KANSAS Zeitung has hoisted the name of General Fremont for the next Presidency. The New Era says in reply to the Chicago Tribune: "If we Radicals did really desire the defeat of our armies, don't you see that the army, which is the chief strength of the Radical party, must desire its own defeat, and its own assassination a la Fort Pillow? The truth is, with Lincoln, we will never obtain an end to the war, and just for the very reason to stop those everlasting disasters, which result from his policy, we want to kick him out. Who then are the enemies of the country?"

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT.—The parties in St. Louis and Cincinnati who have been counterfeiting the Mustang Liniment under pretence of proprietorship have been thoroughly exposed by the Courts. Each stamp bears the fac-simile of my signature, and without which the article is a counterfeit, dangerous and worthless imitation. Examine every bottle. GREAT WALKING MATCH.

JAMES LAMBERT, OF BOSTON, IS matched for $500 to walk 100 hours without rest or sleep, on a plank 50 feet long, 3 feet wide and three feet from the floor. There has been two men appointed to watch the pedestrian day and night. He commences this arduous task on Tuesday evening, 10th inst., at 6 o'clock, and if he succeeds he will finish on Saturday evening, 14th inst., at 10 o'clock. Lambert is the only man that ever performed this feat fairly, and it will be remembered that he is the pedestrian who walked 100 miles in 100 consecutive hours at Boston in 1857. Affidavits to the truth of which, were published at the time in the N. Y. Clipper and other sporting papers. To come off at Johnny Loudon's, Sportsman's Hall, (late Johnny Mackey's) corner Third and Wood streets.

"Old Curiosity Shop."

THE AID AND CO-OPERATION OF the patriotic people of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, is hereby requested, in making the above department of the coming Pittsburgh Sanitary Fair equally a credit and a success. Numerous relics and trophies of the present war, of the Mexican war, war of 1812, Indian and Revolutionary war, curiosities connected with the early settlement of our region, or with events and men prominent in our history, curiosities of every description are stored away in private receptacles, and may if brought together, render this "OLD CURIOSITY SHOP" not the least of the attractions of the Fair. The committee, therefore ask that all who are willing to help along the good cause, would send in such articles of the above description as they may have, or can procure from others, or notify the committee where they can be found.
