PITTSBURGH: MONDAY MORNING, MAY 23, 1864.

THE GOVERNMENT AS A FARMER.

What can't our Government do? In addition to the great work of putting down the wicked rebellion and setting four millions of captives free by the subjugation of six millions, it manages to accomplish a vast amount of other work more or less important and gigantic. For instance, what a large amount of energy it takes to successfully carry on a bayonet election. And how much vigilance, determination and work it requires to treat and punish the FREMONT and Democratic copperheads who seem to have a disposition to insist on the one term principle with reference to the Presidential office. How herculean the labor, too, in the regenerative and reconstructive work of cutting off offices of old States to make new ones of, in order that the Baltimore Convention may not be deficient in so much of a truly loyal element as will secure the reappointment of the honest old Raisplitter. And yet, after all these labors, it finds time to set up a farm and cultivate a cabbage garden. As an evidence of this last mentioned good work, we venture to clip a few extracts from that very energetic ally—the New York Tribune:

"The Government farms on the South side of the Potomac, in connection with Freedman's Village, under the general direction of Colonel M. G. SHERMAN, embrace five separate connected Virginia farms (within seven miles of the river) at Arlington (city) (city), Lees Station, upon which Freedman's Village is situated; Camp Todd (late) Lieut. W. B. HERRICK's farm; Camp Rucker (Major) NEWTON's farm; Camp Meade (Major) NEWTON's farm; MEANS and Crook places, between Langley and Lewinsville, and Camp Collins (Sergeant) on place just above Fort Marcy. In all these farms there are about 1000 acres of land, including 100 acres of meadow. The farms are cultivated by freedmen. This year the crops are to be as follows: 200 acres winter wheat looking well and sowed in ground; 200 acres corn, 100 acres oats, 50 acres potatoes, 50 acres cabbage, 25 acres turnips, 25 acres buckwheat, 10 acres melons, 5 acres peaches, 5 acres strawberries of all kinds of garden vegetables for the use of the contrabands and for the Washington and Georgetown markets.

The number of able-bodied hands employed on the farms is about one hundred. The number of men, women and children on the farms, including Freedman's Village, is about two thousand. Able-bodied men are paid for working on the farms from eight to ten dollars per month, and are furnished with clothing, rations and quarters in pretty good—In fact it is but three dollars under the price paid to white men for leaving their families at home and laying down their limbs or dead bodies on the battle field. In addition to these comforts, care is taken to anticipate any real or supposed wants that may occur. Says the Tribune, again: "The contrabands, upon their arrival at camp are immediately put in their clean clothing, rations and the best quarters that can be assigned them."

How nice is all this! What a blessing if a one-hundredth part of our city poor could enjoy some of these worldly delights. But the journalist is not done yet—says: "The superintendent selects the most laboring of the young men and women, and details them to duty in the workshops, transferring able-bodied field hands to the hospitals, and the aged and infirm to the home provided for them."

And after all these essentials to this garden of Eden have been attended to, further matters of interest of a statistical and genealogical nature receive attention. For instance: "A book is kept in which the names of each contraband arriving and departing at the Camp is registered, with age, sex, condition of health and former place of residence, the condition of each person on arrival, and the places to which those who leave the village or farms intend to go, and the date of their departure; also, the disease, age, sex, of those who die."

All that is wanted, probably, to this is a short biographical sketch of each individual, done up in gold for the centric tables of New England. But the above is not all, as will be seen by the following paragraph: "The educational and religious interests of the village are under the supervision of the American Tract Society. All the children under 15 are required to attend school during the winter months. Besides the day school for children the Freedman's Village has a Normal school for the benefit of the laborers on the farms and in the mechanical shops. Boys over 15 and girls over 14 are not allowed to attend school unless they are required to attend in the laboring department. All the children under 14, and old enough to be benefited by school instructions, are required to attend."

What an attempt is this springing up upon the lands of the Goth and Vandal—otherwise rebels—wherein every want is supplied and every taste gratified—even to the preparation for entering upon the possession of an incorruptible crown. And, after all these joys, mercy presides in judgment and softens the buffeting hand of punishment—in case the elect should ever have a contraband thought or do an unlawful act. We read: "Punishment is of three grades. In slight offences it is simply a reproof from the officer in charge of the delinquent; in case of illness or disposition to shrink from labor, unnecessary idleness, or neglect of duty, the delinquent is placed in a separate enclosure, such as disobedience of orders, drunkenness, theft, etc., deprivation of privileges, imprisonment in guard-house, &c."

Before leaving this subject, we cannot help congratulating the Government upon its successful establishment as an independent planter,—the more so, because it has surmounted the difficult task of "jumping claims" and getting a clear title for them. Many more cabbage gardens and corn patches may come of this and many rills be necessary to fence them in. How fortunate, then, that we have at the head of affairs one who knows so well the process of splitting them. There is one thing that we think could be improved, and that is the establishment of a little more white labor upon these plantations, in order that the colored "children of the Government" may not be subjected to even the slight labor and exposure now required of them. With this exception the system seems admirable. How bad it will make the poor emaciated needle women of the eastern cities feel, and are dying by inches in consequence of the starvation prices paid for doing Government work. How bad it will make the poor soldier's widow and orphan children feel, too, who have been waiting more than a year for the stipend of pension due for the previous life-blood poured out upon the battle field that those plantations might be turned into a paradise for negroes. But this is nothing to the Government we know. Corporations have no souls, and, probably, Governments have no either. What's the difference anyhow, this world is only a short abiding place—no, pilgrims—wage—and, no doubt, the sooner the poor whites are pushed off the sphere the nearer shall appear the golden colonial millennium. Who knows?

MORRISON.—The New Nation, the prominent organ in New York, is the most bitter of the journals opposed to the Lincoln policy. It has a long list of "Opposition to the measures of the Administration, to the conduct of the war, its management of the national finances, its adoption of false theories of currency, its usurpation of powers not vested in the Executive, and its unconstitutional method of restoring the seceded States their status in the Union, so far from being opposition to the Government, and incompatible with the safety of the Union, it is, in fact, the duty of every citizen, and we cannot well understand that citizen's loyalty who will not, whatever risk he may incur, oppose them by every lawful means in his power. We owe more to the nation, the Government, and the Constitution, than to an Administration that manifestly fails in its duty to them."

SENATOR DOOLITTLE.—Republican—does not ignore State rights. He said in debate, lately, "I do not intend to my honorable friend from New Hampshire in my sincere respect as well as my deep and just conviction in the necessity of this Government, as well as the State Governments themselves, maintaining, preserving, and defending all the rights of the States, under the Constitution of the United States. I believe in State rights, sir, that they are expressly mentioned, reserved, protected, and defended in the Constitution itself, and as they are reserved by our Constitution, protected and defended, I believe in those rights, and as a citizen of the United States, and as a citizen of a State, I feel bound to respect and defend them." Many quoniam Democrats, who are feeding upon the ice husks have not forgotten their father's house.

LOYAL FREEMASONS.—A Nashville letter writer tells this story: "An Episcopal clergyman who was ejected from his pulpit for disloyalty, last week asked General Sherman to replace him in his parish, and his appeal was backed by an earnest request to the General from Bishop Smith of Kentucky, who has taken temporary supervision of the Church in the State. The Bishop who is a loyal man, had obtained a promise from every man in his office, and in the prayer for the President, and he thought he had better be allowed to go back to his pulpit. But the General called the clergyman into his office, and after caucusing him, and ascertaining that he was a rebel at heart, he positively refused to reverse the order of expulsion."

A FREE FIGHT.—The Journal of Commerce, in view of the rather free fight going on among the Republican journalists, Lincoln and anti-Lincoln, says: "It makes no sort of difference to us whether they hold their 'convention in June or September.' It is only of special record that we have arrived, by a natural process, at a point at which we can laugh at the ridiculous doctrine, that to support the Administration is to support the Government, the late 'loyal' supporters of the Administration are now laid at work plotting its overthrow. What Copperheads they would be if they were only honest!"

ATTEMPT OF THE REBEL PRISONERS TO ESCAPE.—On Saturday last several prisoners, numbering several thousand, who were under guard in a field about half a mile from Belle Plain station, made an attempt to get away by a break against the line of guards around a battery near by, which was quickly brought into service, and the rebels again quieted down, not relishing the idea of attempting to escape under an artillery fire. Four of the rebels were wounded with ball and one had a bayonet put through him by the guard for his temerity.—Wash. Star.

DEATH OF THE MONK DOCTRINE.—The Paris Monitor has the following from which it will be seen we have about the spunkiest Government now occupying land on this immense sphere: "The Government of the Emperor has received from the Government of the United States satisfactory explanations concerning the meaning and the bearing of the resolution taken by the House of Representatives at Washington on the subject of Mexican affairs. It is, moreover, known that the Senate has indicated its approval of the examination of this resolution, which, in any case, the Emperor has promised to support."

CLERICAL MILITARY RANK.—We read of so many Rev. Captains and Rev. Colonels among the ministry, that, to prevent confusion, and mistakes in courtesy, it would not be well to establish the grades. For instance a political circuit rider of average ability might bear the rank of a Rev. Colonel, and the regular soldier of fortune might be a Rev. General. It is a great thing, it smooths the rough places of life; makes the disposition as fresh and rosy as a maiden's kiss.

THE BOSSON CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION, in session in New Orleans, did not appear inclined, at latest dates, to adjourn in a hurry. They have, however, themselves adjourned from $10 to $20 per day, and evidently intend to make a good thing of it. The Washington Union speaks of the discovery of more improprieties in Washington, in connection with female employees of the Government—this time in the Patent Office.

DIED.—BIRNEN—On Saturday, 21st inst. Mr. Birnen, 22 Federal street, this day, 22d inst. at 6 o'clock a. m. The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend.

NINTH ARMY CORPS, SPOTTSYLVANIA, May 22—3 P. M.

While the severest portion of to-day's fighting has been borne by other corps, the Ninth has participated to no small extent in the operations of the day. It was ordered to march to the front at 10 o'clock, and in a day's march, when a night march was made of only one or two hours, it was gazed at once as a great battle, and now a day's engagement possesses little importance unless it entails a loss of as many thousands.

The severity, the hardships, the loss in fact the magnitude of the present campaign, may be comprehended to some degree by a consideration of the fact that an engagement of a few hours to-day, one of many, has been attended with a loss along the whole line of over one thousand men.

THE OPENING OF THE ATTACK.

While the rest of the army moved in force upon the enemy's lines, our corps, holding the right was to make a demonstration upon the enemy's left. This was done by a brigade of the Third division, with Porter's division of the Second, and the division of the First, in the center, and Wile's division in the rear, in continuity with the right of Warren's corps.

THREE CORPSES OF ATTACK.

Each division constituted by itself a column of attack, with the intention of assaulting the enemy's line at three different points. The first division, commanded by General Sherman, was to strike the enemy's line at three different points. The second division, commanded by General Burnside, was to strike the enemy's line at three different points. The third division, commanded by General Sigel, was to strike the enemy's line at three different points.

General Grant's plan, which was adopted yesterday, had strengthened his left during the night, and we found them, strongly posted this morning.

Several charges were made upon the rebels, and their lines of rifle pits taken and some prisoners. The Corcoran Legion, which joined us yesterday, was engaged in the capture of a rebel battery, and had his arm amputated.

Brigadier General Barlow, commanding the First division of the Second corps, is entitled to much credit for the extreme gallantry displayed under the fire of the enemy. Both the officers and men of his command are full in their praise of him as a brave and sagacious officer.

The charge upon the first line of rebel works was an exciting scene. With loud and defiant yells the dense mass of our men pushed forward towards the enemy's works, utterly regardless of the showers of deadly missiles halting into our midst, while the musketry of the rebels behind their embankments was almost as unbroken as the roll of a snare drum.

The most of the troops engaged conducted themselves with commendable bravery, a few, however, principally raw recruits, were determined to fall in the rear, and some had to be kept in the ranks by the fire closing at the point of the bayonet. I am glad to state, to the honor of the Second corps, that there were but few such.

Me. L. A. Hendrick's Dispatch. Hendrick's Fifth Army Corps, probably the best of the army, is now in the hands of the enemy. It is quiet to-night along the Ny. There has been no firing since my dispatch of one p. m., excepting an occasional interchange of shots between the pickets.

One killed and four wounded comprise the day's casualties in the Fifth corps. The loss in the Second division are quite heavy. The Second division of the corps, Gen. Gibbon commanding, made a charge on the enemy's line at daybreak, carrying the first line, and they still hold. In this charge the Irish Legion, just assigned to the corps, participated, and they acted with great coolness and gallantry, which is the more creditable as most of them are new men. Their advance was checked by the enemy's artillery, who poured a terrific volley of grape and canister into their ranks, and this stopped their progress.

WAR DEPARTMENT. WASHINGTON, May 20—6:30 P. M. Major General Dix: This afternoon we have despatches dated at half past eight this morning, from General Grant.

Under instructions from this Department to Colonel Schriver, commanding at Fredericksburg, and vicinity, nine persons are in custody who are suspected of having been engaged with Mayor Slaughter. The Mayor had made his escape before intelligence of the outrage reached Fredericksburg, and the sick and wounded who could not be transported overland will be brought here on water transport.

No reports have been received from General Butler today. Major General Hunter has been placed in command of the Department of West Virginia, including the Shenandoah valley.

At the latest dates Major General Canby was at Yorkburg. The Red river was reported to be blocked by the rebels, and the enemy at different points, but measures had been taken by him which were believed to be adequate for clearing the river of all such obstructions, and enable him to reach Alexandria, where he will take command of the army.
