OTICE TO ALL CONCERNED.

Among a certain class of self-important people there is a peculiar feeling of confernity people there is a peculiar feeling of confernity attached to fall physicians that advertise and treat the diseases named in this card, (Privace Diseases,) why this should be, they not no one case can tell. Are they not aware that all physicians treat diseases of every denomination, in hast solicit just the very diseases that are so obnoxious to these very refined parties. I suppose they would not let one of their family go to a party that has detected years for their benont, because he advertise of a fact, and their family physician says he is a small deprived the party of his lite. He comes at lect to the physician that advertises—how else at they to know! Are they not aware that Sir Assley Cooper, Sir Benjamin Brodie, Sir Charles Hall and M. Paul Ricord devoted years in the treatment of these diseases? These men are held up as shining lights in the medical world; I don't assert that all men are worthy that publish, stiff there are a great number of them that are. I have devoted myself to the study and treatment of Paivarz Diseases upwards of 40 years, and without egotism can say I have saved hundreds from years of misery and untimely death. My treatment is confined to the vegetable altogether, as I think it is the best and most certain. It is in my power to bring hundreds of certificates if thought it necessary to certify to my general success: but my long residence in this city is sufficient proof without adding more. MISS MAJOR PAULINE CUSHMAN. Thrilling Adventures of a Lady in the Secret Service.
[From the N. Y. World.]

Thrilling Adventures of a Lady in the Secret Service.

[Trom the N. Y. World.]

We have now among us one of those heroic women whose glorious courage and unflinghing personal sacrifices have given a tinge of the olden time romance to the sober annals of our terrible civil war. There arrived yesterday, at the Astor House, where she will remain for a few days, Miss Major Pauline Cushman, the gallant and true-hearted girl, with whose exploits the country North and South has been ringing for a year past. She has come among us on her way to the farther recesses of our cool and salubrious climate in pursuit of relaxation from her arduous duties, and a restoration of her health from the wounds and fatigues to which she has been subjected. A full narrative of all her hair breadth scapes and ventures perilous since she entered the secret service of the Union would furnish forth a bulky volume, surpassing by far in real interest the most ingenious and highly wrought fictions of the day. Of course, we can tarry for only a brief narration of a few of the more striking incidents of her career.

Her story since the war began, comclime, and soon became by her talents, forced to join, leaving his horses and as well as the graces of her person, excattle and work, and not even permit-INSURANCE AGENCY.

as well as the graces of her person, exceedingly popular. From Cleveland, at an early period of the war, she removed to Kentucky, and there her hismoved to kentucky and the her hismoved to kentucky and there her hismoved to kentucky and the her hismoved to kentucky and her hismoved to kentucky and her her hismoved to kentucky and her hismoved to kentucky an moved to Kentucky, and there her histonic success continued, and it was suggested to her by Colonel W. Truesdale, the chief of army police, to make a little execution to the headquarters of the Confederate General Bragg. This idea fully coinciding with her own innate love of wild and dashing adventure, phenix Ins. Co. of Brooklyn. given her a series of very minute, sol-emn and impressive instructions for her American Life Ins. Co. of Phila. guidance, she set forth as a refugee and victim of "Northern tyranny."

All good as well as evil fortune must one day take a turn, and at length, in the very plenitude of her renown, the fair and brave Pauline was taken in the dead of night by rebel scouts, while she was resting at the house of one Baum, a farmer residing near the Hardin turnpike road, which she had been exploring after the capture of Nashville by the Union forces her purpose being to acceptant forces, her purpose being to ascertain the position and strength of the enemy, after their retreat from the city.

The only profits from premiums which this company can divide by law, are from risks which have been determined.

Since their manners. soon as she should be released. Her interview with General Forrest was dramatic in a high degree. The General was no little pleased to see her in his camp and greeted her with un-feigned warmth. The General questioned her as to her plans for the future in the South, the position and resources of the Union army, &c., and all these inqui-ries she managed skillfully to meet with woman's ready wit. At length he sum-merily informed her that he should hand her over to his Provost Marshal General, Colonel McKinstry—"a humane and just man"—who would investigate the serious charges against her and according to the truth decide.

After a little more bandying of words on both sides, Pauline, still maintaining her Confederate loyalty, she was despatched to General Bragg's headquarters, at Shelbyville, where she had a long and interesting interview with that officer. Shortly after that interview, Miss Pauline was taken expectation; iii. Miss Pauline was taken exceedingly ill, and having been found guilty and condemned, was saved from death by this circumstances alone. It was only after three months' captivity that one fine norning, while she still lay upon her sick bed, the joyous sound of the Union bugles as the rebels fled and the Federals under Generals Gordon, Granger, Mitchell, and General Garfield in recognition of her long and most invaluable services and her sufferings in two severe wounds received from the enemies of the Union while she was on duty, that General Garfield conferred upon her the rank and for the lines of Stangewas on duty, that General Garfield conferred upon her the rank and Kidnapping Negroes in Maryland. One of the most disgraceful scenes was enacted in our county on Friday last that has ever fallen to our lot to record, and which should make the authors of it blush to their dying day. The Government steamer Balloon, with a squad of negro soldiers, under the command of two white officers, left Cambridge on Thursday morning for Taylor's Island, in the lower part of this county. Upon arriving there, the officounty.
