The Coming Horse Fair.—Wednesday next the most attractive horse exhibition ever seen here will commence at Oakland Park and continue open for two weeks. The exhibition is intended for the benefit of the Sanitary and Subsistence Committees, and promises to bring together the fines tollection of horses ever collected on any similar occasion in Western Pennsylvania. Members' tickets for the season or Fair can be had at Johnston's drug store, conner of Fourth and Smithfield streets, or Super's, corner of St. Clair and Penn streets, where circulars with a full, programme of the exhibition may also be procured on application.

Sanitary Fair.—Our readers should not fail to attend the exhibition given for the above object—at Masonic Hall on Friday by the Philomatheau Society of the Western University It promises to be very interesting and the worthy object should receive a crowded house.
