PITTSBURGH:

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 12, 1984. HONEST OLD ABE. Mr. HENRY J. RAYMOND, the gentleman who drew up the Baltimore platform, spends about one-half of his time in Washington, and is a special pet of Secretary SEWARD. His paper, the New York Times, is the metropolitan organ of the! Administration; and its editor may with propriety be denominated one of the President's dogs. His late achievements entitle him to rank along. side of Forney. Notwithstanding the intimate relations existing between RAY. MOND and the President, the latter was brazen enough to intimate in his speech accepting the nomination, that he had not seen the Baltimore platform. This is certainly one of the nakedest bits of duplicity that "honest ABE" has yet able to approve of at least one of its planks. He remarked:

planks. The prinarked:

13th will say now, however, I approve the declaration in favor of so amending the constitution as to prohibit slavery throughout the nation. When the people in revoit, with a hundred days of explicit notice that they could within those days resume their allegiance without the overthrow of their institutions, and that they could not resume it afterwards, elected to stand out; such amendments to the constitutions and the standard and the s to stand out; such amendments to the constitu-tion as is now proposed became a fitting and necessary conclusion to the final success of the Union tatise. Such alone can meet and cover-all davile.

What was the use in the Baltimore convention introducing this resolution into their platform? It is now about two years since his august and imperial majesty issued his edict abolishing slavery forever in the United States. Yet, in the face of this, the Baltimore convocation, at the instance of the President, passed this useless resolution. It was surely a work of supererogation. Slavery is already, dead, according to the highest Abolition authority, and where is the use in further troubling ourselves about it?

But, perhaps the bulls against the comet have "only scotched the snake not killedit.". If so Abolition platforms will not insure its final depletion. Although resolutions and flerce declamation have been the Abolitionists' chief weapons against the rebels and the strongest evidence of "loyalty" to the Government. they ought, by this time, to despair of such being competent to crush the rebellion. Abolition speeches and vaporings, could they kill, would, ere this, have made the South a wilderness. Caius Marius' desolation, in contemplating the ruins than some future explorer among the ruins of Richmond would be had the cures and resolutions of Abolitionism proved effective. Some broken-hearted mourner over the desolation of the South, could then with propriety soliloquize over the fate of Richmond even as Marius did over the ruins of Carthage. "Here" saidhe "once flourished an opulent city: "this was the seat of a mighty empire." But curses will not kill; neither will bulls against the comet abolish slavery. "The Baltimore platform and the President's response in favor of a constitu-tional amendment, if passed to-morrow, would neither crush the rebellion nor put an end to slavery. Not is this the dent's response in favor of a constituintention of the declaration in favor of spch amendment. Continued agita it was called to his notice." This was just and honorable, and I merely refer tilities and the existence of the party in power is its sole intention. If left to ployee' as a rebuke to insolence, and as investigate coolly the conduct of the Administration, the people would unques made. A CONTRIBUTOR TO THE FAIR. tionably turn it out of power at the approaching election. Fearing this, the slavery question is to be kept in agit:tion in order to divert their attention, and enable, through fanaticism, our present rulers to retain power. But are the minds of the people so frenzied as to be continually duped by such naked and flimsy pretexts? Will they not rather arise and hurl from power a profligate party, which openly insults the common understanding of the people by the passage of a platform intended but to deceive them?. What can be more shamelessly impudent and transparent than the deception of the declaration in opposition to the French Monarchy in Mexico, by a party which seeks to retain in power the very men who invited it? Lincoln and Seward are solely responsible for this French invasion, and the Baltimore Convention, while denouncing the act, supports those who who should have prevented it.

party was strikingly exhibited in the late Baltimore Convention. White claiming for the race for which they profess so much sympathy political and social equality, they refuse to admit its representatives as delegates to the Conepresentatives as delegates to the Conent'on. If, as Secretary CHASE (who nay be fairly taken as an exponent of the principles of the shoddy wing of the Abolition party) says, these "free Amer-'cans of African descent" are to be entrusted with ballots—as they have been with bullets-they are certainly entitled to a fair representation in Republican conventions. If this is not accorded it s proof presumptive that their professions of regard for "our colored brethren" are but "sound and fury, signifying nothing"-mean hollow pretences, put forth for the purpose of keeping their political patronage. But we much mistake the purpose of these Ethiopian gentlemen if they agree to sell their new. found birthright for a mess of shoddy pottage. The Republicans must keep their pledges to this peculiar people or give up their ghost of a party. DESERTERS.

There seems to be scarcely a handful of Federal troops to oppose the march of either of his columns. The charming concordance in the principles and practice of the dominant. ginia amazes the world. Europe looks of in wonder at the reports of battles. Since time hold the dangerous ground. To strengthen them, Warren was taken from the northern, flank and placed in Hancock's rear. Nothing was done on Sunday, because the flag of truce from Grant was passing between the armies.

On Monday the Confederates were observed massing large bodies of men in front of Hancock. There was certain feeling of satisfaction at hearing English authorities acknowledge that nothing is equal to the fighting of our army. Even the London Times, which loves to ridicule and disparage us, in noticing the early battles of the present campaign, is constrained to pay our troops the highest compliments. In its leading editorial of May 25th it says:

"Perhaps the Americans may be proud of the pre-eminence, but they have cer" men in front of Hancock. There was no engagement, however, beyond the sayle of trusses or where persons desired any attention. All the attacks, it now seems are to be made by the Confederates. The Federal army is dorder.
