that there are some officers still left who see things in their proper light. Gen. Washburne, at Memphis, and Col. Farrar, at Natchez, have ordered the entire stoppage of trade outside the lines. Gen. Slocum has greatly restricted it here, but by no means stopped it. The only way to finish the matter is to send the goods above Cairo, and refuse all trade below that point. If the government is studying the good of the nation, it will entirely shut off trade in this region, drive out the swarms of speculators of all kinds and degree, discharge and imprison the official thieves holding Treasury, military, or naval positions, and attempt at least a purifying process. Dishonesty is here at high premium, and morality entirely out of market. It mosphere to the injury of physical health, this region would speedily be desolate. ABOLITION BLUSTER. A Washington correspondent writing on the 23d inst. remarks: on the 23d inst. remarks:
Senator M. Douard introduced in the Senator M. Douard introduced in the Senator body the identical resolution adopted at he Baltimore Convention, realitiming the Moraco dectrine. A fairer hit was never made. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, under the rule of Mr. Saward, will not permit heir own party resolution; thus introduced, to ome up for consideration; it is transparent that the Moraco-doutrine plank in the Baltimore platform is merely for buncombe, for a sepublican Congress date not stand-by it.

Notwithstanding this shameful stultification, the Pittsburgh Gazette of Saturlay published a column of silly bluster about going to war with England, of which the following is a specimen: "If the English government is really in earn est in wanting to pick a quarrel with us, a causior one can easily be found. There must be some mistake in the figures of the Republican organs, in reference to the Army of the Potomac. else the present draft would not be necessary. The Pittsburgh Commercial among itstelegraphic items on Saturday morning says "Gen. GRANT, has lost in killed, since leaving the Rapidan, but 4000 men, and the permanent loss to the army will not be over 20,000. Senator WILSON SAVE in his place that GRANT has been reinforced to the extent of 48, 000 since leaving the Rapidan and that these would seem to be enough, is borne out by a special dispatch to the Gazette of Saturday morning, which speaks of the return of the President from the front, where he left GRANT in excellent spirits and that the did not ask the President for another man." We quote literally, but can we depend upon the statements. It would be so consoling to know that our losses have been tri than is FORNEY, lately denominated the lling; that GRANT is in good spirits and "President's Dog." GEN. SHERMAN'S ADVANCE.

A Grand Mayement in Progress—The Hebels Driven from Masked Positions on Film Montanin—Hooker's Succession and the Convention.

The National Democratic Committee have acted wisely in postponing the meeting of the Convention. This action was not only a just deference to the almost unanimous opinion of the Democratic States that some grand movement is in progress which will some result in the progress which will some result in the lefts of Johnson and his retreat beyond Atlanta. The arm that the operations of Atlanta. The arm that the operations of Atlanta. The arm that the operations of the convention of the Convention of such a such as the convention of such and the convention of such as the convention of such as the convention of such as the convention of the Convention. This action of the Convention. This action of the progress when we will see the past. Let those who know them speak right out in their favor. The past dependence of the result is the past. Let those who know them speak right out in their favor. The past dependence of the past let those will be convented to the almost unanimous opinion of the Democratic Committee have acted wisely in postponing the meeting of the Convention. This action of the past let those will be extractive much than twenty boxes of applies in the world locates; the first letter in the properties of their value is yet assumely appreciated. When the past let those will be convented to the almost unanimous opinion of the Democratic Committee have acted wisely in postponing the meeting of the Convention. This action of other purgatives, the first letter shows suddendeath and convention their representation of the past let those will be extractive much than twenty boxes of applies than twenty boxes of applies than their properties to the all the extractive much in their properties to the first properties of their properties of the first properties of the first properties of the first properties and properties. The first properties of the first properties proper and decorous to every man who teels that there is higher duty in party than appropriation of spoils. The Democratic party could not afford to tarnish its fame by an exhibition of such gross indecency as has just been perpetrated by the late conventions of the Abolitionists, in huckstering and wire pulling for places whilst thousands of their fellow citizens are lying maimed and dying on the fruitless battle fields of Virginia, and the question of our defeat or success is still an open one. No Democrat has time now to think of canvasses or electioneering. His heart is with his suffering brother on the James River; his eyes are turned with an anxiety which permits no release of watchfulness on the end of that mighty struggle in which the fate of a continent is being decided. The presout moment we all feel to be no time for making political nominations. Can a ward procession recall us from the deathly tramp of the armed contending hosts? Are we to be turned from the shrill revelle or the bugle blast of the thundering charge by a placarded om-nibuse full of dioning trombonists Scarcely do they lay down the musket Amid the mighty events now transpiere they are called upon to pick up the inc. perhaps decisive of our fate, and ing, perhaps decisive of our fate, and that of our posterity, such sounds would jur upon Democartic senies, as the blatant voice of John Hook crying "Beet! Beet!" did on the soul of Patrick Henry, in the full fervor of his patriotic zeal. The time is too large, too full of big events, for such small aims, such subordinate interests. A display of per sonal selfishness beside an individual coffin is revolting to our sense of decency; how much greater is our disgust and abhorrence in such exhibitions over the grave of our country and our liberties.

The postponement of the Convention is, besides, another evidence of the deep foundations on which the structure of the Democratic party is laid. It has no one man to exalt, no individual to glorithe nation's interests. It is a matter of name is inscribed on its banners, for its conorts rally under an unoying princi-ple. Its eader is sure to be faithful, for ollowers would fight under no other; they have chosen him, stamp his Allesson to its creed, as the most mark on the coin stamps its purity.
