LOCAL INTELLIGENCE. TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 28, 1864.

Criminal Court. New Year's night the parties named met at the Bull's Head Tavern, on Second street, kept then by a man named Spencer. Slatterly got into a uarrel with some Michigan soldiers who would isve demolished him had it not been for the landlord and his brother-in-law, Mr. Murphy. The soldiers left and Siatterly alleged that Renshaw had called him some very ugly names and wanted to fight. The landlord put all of them out and closed the door, as it was after midnight and late enough to shut up. All three were inexicated and got into a fight out side, Slatterly knocking Renshaw down and kicking him till he was insensible. A gold watch worth a hundreddollars was missed as soon as Renshaw Slatterly has not yet been sentenced. Glorious Intelligence.-We clip the folowing from the Erie Observer, which besides containing a great deal of good sense is quite complimentary towards our city:

containing a great deal of good sense is quite complimentary towards our city:

We have the pleasure of a amouncing to the public the completion of a direct railroad connection between this city and Plitsburgh. On We doesday of last week the last track was laid in the vizinity of New Castle necessary to complete the connection, and at 12 o'clook of the same day a train of care from Eric met one at that place from Pittsburgh. The event was halled with great rejoiging by the railroad workmen, and citizens, affit the papers of New Castle are in raptures over the opportunity alforded them of obtaining an outlet to the two leading cities of Western Pennsylvania. We would not disguise our own grafification and that of the people of Eric over this important fact—the first link in the chain of cirtuistances which we all believe is destined to revive the trade of our community, and start our city forward with an impetus that will soon make it one of the most promising on the lakes. The Eric & Pittsburgh railroad has always been a favorite enterprise of ours, and we have looked forward for its completion with all interest only equalled by those who are more immediately interested in its prosperity. It traverses one of the most fertile sections of the State—a section which abounds in mineral and agricultural wealth—and managed, as it certainly will be. In a spirit proportionate to its importance, we cannot be mistaken in our antioipstions of its benefits to this city and the people living along its line.

object of the Fair is tous stated by the wineerling Daily Register:

This Festival is intended to be a comprehensive series of all the most rational enjoyments that can be available.

The spacious Hall will be brilliantly illuminated and profusely ornamented with evergreens, flowers and drapery; and decorative gas and water and rock work. Refreshments, loquets and useful and fancy articles will be offered for sale. A capacious stage will be erected and recherche amusements and intertainments of various kinds will be introduced each evening. All will be made known in a day or two. There is avery large amount of lumber in these buildings and the damage done by the use it has been employed in, is not very great. It will be dry at least which is a good quality in lumber.

The Highest Bidder.—We understund that the different weigh-scales of the city will be rented out, on the 5th day of next month, to the highest bidder. They are said to be in a dilapidated condition and it would no doubt pay the city better to put them into the hands of individuals at a certain stated rent with the understanding that they be kept in good repair.

An Attack on Our Pickets.

Washington, June 27.—The steamer Highland Light arrived here from City Point, which place she left on yesterday morning, and brought up the Eighth Ohio volunteers, commanded by Major Winslow, whose term is out. The regiment numbers 151 officers and men. There has been no very heavy fighting within the past few days, but skirmishes are kept up all along the line and cannonading at times is heavy. Firing was heard about 5 miles, from Bermuda Hundred on Saturday, where made an attack on Butler's intrenchments, but did'nt succeed in effecting anything, and they were driven off. On Saturday the rebels attacked Sheridan's rear at Wilcox Landing and captured a few of his men.
