LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 1, 1864

The Murder Case.—A man named James Thomas was arrested on Wednesday for the Railroad Depot yesterday morning, at one o'clock. We could not learn who killed him. He was shot in the left eye by a pistol in unknown hands, and died in a few minutes. By a Coroner's Jury, a post mortem examination was ordered, but the body could not be identified. The following is the testimony taken before the jury:

Coroner's Jury, on examining, was held at the Morgue on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, on the remains of James Thomas (colored), who was killed at the Fort Wayne and Chicago Depot on Thursday morning.

Thomas Cavanaugh, sworn.—I live on Fifth street with my wife. Was at the theatre about eleven o'clock last night; went home to the office of the [illegible] Road; saw deceased there; knew him; he said [illegible] he would be back in a few minutes; he went out; I saw him [illegible] thirteen or fifteen minutes after; saw him when he was shot; he said he was shot; he said he did not know who shot him; he said he was shot by a man; he said he did not know the man; he said he was shot by a man who was standing on the platform; he said he was shot by a man who was standing on the platform; he said he was shot by a man who was standing on the platform
