LOCAL INTELLIGENCE. WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 6, 1864. The Fourth of July.

The anniversary of the Declaration of Indepe dence, was celebrated by our citizens with all demnity due to such an important occasion. With the usual quantity of fire crackers torpedoes and other sonorous accompaniments the day was solemnly inaugurated, and man among the oldest of our citizens were surprised at being roused out of their soft couches at the sound of fire crackers and pistols, as this favorite old custom of young America was by no means abandoned. The day itself was such that a finer or more pleasant one could not be desired by the most fastidious, and, although in the morning it was a little cloudy, the sky soon became clear and bright, the sun shone forth in all its brilliancy and a cool delightful breeze pervaded the entire day. Crowds of people flocked towards our principal thoroughfares at an early hour, while the bright countenances and hearty laugh full well announced how American hearts rejoice at the remembrance of that which alone places them in advance of the remaining world -Liberty. Particular reference must be made to the Pic-nics and excursions which really conatituted the principal feature of the day. These were as numerous this year as on any of the preceding enes, or at least, so it seemed to be.

Orowds of gay pleasure seekers flocked towards the depots, extra trains and extra boats were run, but still the immense multitudes could hardly be provided for or accommodated. Several open trains were provided especially for the occasion, in which the enterprising multitudes seemed ty enjoy all the beauties of the season at once. The verdant and quiet banks of the Monongahela were the principal scenes of amusement. Here the people indulged in dancing, singing, music, and other diversions, and a little after noon partook of a hearty meal, which was brought from the city in baskets. Hardly any disturbances happened to dampen the delight of those who went to the Pic-nics, and excepting a few instances, everything pro ceeded as peaceably as could be expected. Many in the midst of their amusements had to recall with sorrow the memory of those dear one whom they had the misfortune to loose in this "cruel war" with the oft repeated

"How had the brave who fell exulted now!" Nevertheless this sentinent of mourning for the glorious dead did not tend to mar in too great a degree the pleasures of the day. The following were among the principal Pic-nics: The Sunday School Pic-nic, Elizabeth. Glenwood, wnstown, House of Refuge, Iron City Park, McKee's Rocks, Woods Run, Port Perry, New Brighton Lafayette Hall, held by our Welch citizens, Laurenz Grove and numerous others. In the afternoon and evening those who had remained in the city, and those others who paid a visit to the city on that especial occasion, resorted to such places of recreation as were to be found within its limits, so that such places were soon filled to overflowing by a populace anxious to see what could be seen, an themselves as much as possible. It was late at night before all was over, and the crowds fatigued and tired, but still unwillingly, dwindled away by degrees, and ratired for the night.

After sunset the young folks amused themselves with a beautiful display of fire works, lasting over two hours, after which all retired to rest greatly pleased with the incidents of this gala-day. We understand that the children of this institution are well cared for and that under its present managemant it is a sweet home for many youths of wayward hearts.

A Row.—There was a considerable row in the Third Ward, at the Hotel kept by John Or-Neill, on the evening of the 4th about nine o'cloek. For a time the riot created great excitement and assumed large proportions till the Mayor and his police appeared. Several eyes were bunged up and as many noises dropped claret. Seven men named Driscoil, O'Leary, White, McGowan, Sullivan, English and Deussy were arrested and several were fined from ten to twenty dollars, while information was made against White and Sullivan for assault and battery and they were bound over. A Wife shot by her Husband, &c-The oting Accidental.—One of those shocking occurrences which occasionally startle the community took place about four o'clock on the evening of the sin day of July, at a pic-nic which was held at Iron City Park. A man named Michael J. Hueston, a Sergeant of the Regular Army and who has been in the service for about nine years, was attending the pic-nic with his wife to whom he had been married only about our months, and in the evening he was flourishing a pistof and said he could shoot a limb or a leaffrom an adjoining tree. His wife did not want him to shoot and threw her arms around the elevated instrument, intending to prevent the shooting, As she forced his arm and the pistof down till about opposite her breast, the entire contents were discharged, the bullet enering her breast and going out at her back. She fell and expired instantly. When her husband saw what was done he prostrated himself over the body, threw his arms around her and wept bitterly. The scene was fearfully exciting and is ismentations were sufficient to call forth the sympathy of the most indurate heart. The unrtunate lady has no friends living this side of Philadelphia. Her maiden name was Maria Parker and she has a brother keeping a Hotel in Philadelphia, at least she told her neighbors so some time ago.

The oldest inhabitant never witnessed the like in the Mayor's office before. This is chiefly attributable to the rise in whisky and lager. which induces the manufacture and consumption of genuine strychnine, at low rates.
